Sewer link cutoff plan is 'serious'

The Metro-East Sanitary District is "fully serious" about its intention to disconnect sanitary sewers at businesses and homes where sewer treatment fees are delinquent more than 90 days, district officials reported Wednesday.

District Board Chairman Russell Robinson of Granite City has called a special meeting of the board for 9 a.m. Friday at the district offices in Washington Park to plan the first steps in the sewer cutoff program.

Trustees will decide at that time the specific area in which the first disconnections will be made, based on the amount of delinquencies and the number of sewer connections involved. Cleophas Carr, district manager, has said work crews will make the cutoffs where substantial delinquencies are involved, and that the cost of plugging the sewer connections, as well as cost involved in subsequently reconnecting the lines, will be charged against the sewer use fee and pollution treatment fee of each site where a disconnection is made.

An Aug. 30 deadline for paying all delinquencies beyond the 90-day limit was set by the district board of trustees Aug. 6 as a means of enforcing payment of delinquent treatment bills now totaling $253,106. Carr said the total amount of bills now on the books is $351,104, but that includes current bills.

Pace of talks in GC district worries parents

Bargaining continues between the Teachers Federation and Granite City School District but the apparent lack of major progress is worrying parents and taxpayers.

The fourth session lasted for four hours Monday evening, and additional talks took place last night.

Another negotiating meeting will start at 5 p.m. today.

No agreement has been reached on the terms of pay and fringe benefits for the 1979-80 school year. Classes had been planned for this week but have been delayed until Sept. 5, with teachers to report for an opening institute Sept. 4.

The Board of Education met Tuesday night and is to meet again at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 4.

Teachers Local 743 met Tuesday evening and rejected a preliminary offer from the district.

With over 500 of the 630 teachers present at the Nameoki Recreation Center, there were unanimous votes to turn down the district's most recent firm offer, and to enthusiastically express faculty members' support of their negotiating team, President Shirley Stoll said.

The school board's description of the local's initial request indicates the board misconstrues or misunderstands what was being sought, she commented, adding that Local 743 is basing

Madison teachers and board ratify agreement

By MICK STRANGE of the Press-Record

Members of American Federation of Teachers Local 783 ratified a 1979-80 contract with the Madison school district on Monday evening. The Board of Education also approved it Monday night.

A spokesman said that an overall seven percent pay increase was granted to the teachers. The actual dollar amount will vary depending on what step the teachers are on within the respective classifications of the salary schedule.

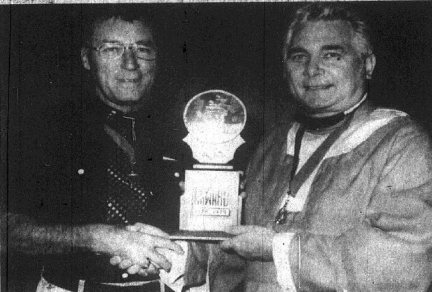

It is estimated that the new contract, which affects 120 teachers, will amount to about a $150,000 increase for the year in salaries and benefits, an average of $1,250 per teacher.

Beginning teachers with a bachelor degree starting salary have been increased from $10,500 to $11,000 per year; beginning teachers with a master degree from $11,200 to $11,850; and starting teachers with a master degree plus 30 hours toward a doctorate from $11,900 to $12,700.

Pay steps were also increased. Bachelor degree faculty members went from 12 to 13 annual pay levels. Master degree from 14 to 15, and master plus 30 graduate credit hours from 15 to 16 pay steps.

Maximum basic salary figures now will be $16,000 for a bachelor

Council acting to expedite overpass

By HARRY BARNES of the Press-Record

With most of its financing problems apparently resolved, the Granite City Council moved Tuesday night to clear the way for construction of the proposed downtown overpass on 19th Street.

In a series of major developments, the aldermen:

Approved a five-page agreement between the city and the state of Illinois covering engineering details, financing, contractual procedure and terms of participation by both the state and city in the project.

Enacted a series of three ordinances required by the state Department of Transportation involving parking, drainage and encroachment phases of the construction period.

Authorized Mayor Paul Schuler and City Clerk Robert Stevens to execute the state-city agreement.

Council members approved unanimously an ordinance that prohibits parking on 18th Street from Cleveland Boulevard to Denver Street which City Engineer Monroe Brewer said will be effective throughout the construction work.

A second ordinance required by the state also was approved, prohibiting drainage of sanitary sewage into stormwater lines that will serve the overpass area, while the third required ordinance prohibits encroachments such as signs, fences, walks or other obstructions on overpass right-of-way.

As a result of the action Tuesday night, city officials are hoping for a big call on the overpass project during October and the possibility of a contract award by Nov. 1. This will depend upon completing the state-city agreement and getting it to the DOT in time to get on the October bid list.

Progress toward construction was made possible by completion of financing requirements through an Madison County Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell, in an interview with the Press-Record Tuesday, responded to comments by Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City that Portell's office does not need yearly budget increases for operations, even though the fees and fines collected by the office are increasing yearly.

A controversy between the two elected officials began when Portell issued a statement to the Press-Record July 26 in which the circuit clerk said he feels some members of the County Board do not spend enough time to understand the operations of his office and that they refuse to give him enough money each year to operate the office properly.

Portell suggested the form of county government be changed from a 29-member part-time county board to a full-time salaried commissioner form of government, using three to five commissioners to administer the county government.

Hagnauer responded, saying, "It would be my suggestion that if the circuit clerk would spend more time worrying about his own administrative capabilities and less time worrying about the structure of the County Board, the people of Madison County would be much better off."

Hagnauer contended the circuit clerk's office has the highest turnover of any county office and he questioned the administrative ability of the clerk.

In his statement issued Tuesday, Portell said, "I gave a statement only to the Press-Record which was reprinted in many of the county newspapers and in St. Louis.

"In reading the press release issued by Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the County Board, it is not my intention to have a running feud in the newspapers."

"Although quite a few of the items are debatable, there are two that are completely erroneous. The first one is the turnover in the circuit clerk's employees."

"Attached is a list of regular em-

Visitor

New Illinois State AFL-CIO President Robert G. Gibson, profiled in depth in the Press-Record this summer will be master-of-ceremonies for the United Way fall 1979 campaign kickoff meeting on Sept. 14 featuring Congressman Melvin Price as guest speaker.

George J. Knecht, Tri-Cities Area United Way Inc. general campaign chairman, made the announcement. He is a staff representative of the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO.

Knecht noted that "over the years, I have seen a growing commitment from the local community and from our brothers and sisters in the trade labor movement."

"This commitment to support our community's private philanthropy is

Closings

Monday, Sept. 3, is Labor Day and nearly all but essential services will have a holiday.

There will be no mail delivery and all banks and financial institutions will be closed, along with most businesses.

Due to the holiday Monday, trash pickups in Granite City will be delayed one day on all routes, according to a spokesman for Milam-East Corp. Collections on Monday routes will take place Tuesday, with subsequent days also set back one day.

All city, county, state and federal offices will be closed.

The Press-Record will print on Tuesday next week instead of the traditional Monday.

Labor Day is a workers' holiday and

Traffic

Illinois State Police will again participate in the national Combined Accident Reduction Effort (Operation CARE) during the Labor Day weekend. The program, initiated in 1977 by Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio, has been expanded to include all 48 contiguous states. State Police Superintendent Lynne Lynskey has designated all Interstate highways in Illinois as CARE routes.

The program seeks to demonstrate harmonious interstate cooperation in traffic enforcement and accident reduction between states during high traffic volume national holiday periods.

Through the use of high visibility patrols on the Interstates, the state police will try to encourage voluntary

Contract

A new steel contract already is Topic A for mill owners and workers this Labor Day even though the present pact extends into next year.

The United Steelworkers of America will conduct bargaining talks early in 1980 with the ten biggest steel producers, including National Steel Corp., owner since 1971 of Granite City Steel.

President of the USWA is Lloyd McBride, formerly the union's Granite City area sub-director and St. Louis district director.

Despite the developing economic recession, the new contract is seen by McBride as containing major improvements for steelworkers here and across the nation.

The Madison County Sheriff's Department is making an investigation into reports that John Cooper, a former top aide to former Sheriff John Maeras and now under a 15-year federal prison sentence for racketeering, has been acting as a process server in the handling of documents in some circuit court cases, Sheriff Emil J. Toffant told the Press-Record this week.

Toffant said, "These reports have come to me from several sources and I am looking into every one of them," he said, noting that "Cooper is a convicted felon and under no circumstances should have anything to do with serving papers involved in either civil or criminal cases."

The sheriff said he already has given some information to the circuit judges of the Third Judicial Circuit and that he will seek a meeting this week with Chief Circuit Judge Moses W. Harrison.

Toffant said thus far he has no details except that Cooper reportedly has acted as process server in the service of papers in court actions.

"I even understand that in some instances he has served subpoenas," Toffant alleged.

He said that Cooper, who was con-

Seek warrants on would-be burglars

Four men were being held Tuesday in Granite City for investigation of attempted burglary at 4:10 a.m. that day at the Corner Liquor Store, 2526 Nameoki Road.

Warrants were being sought from the Madison County state's attorney's office in Edwardsville late Tuesday.

The four included two Granite City men, 23 and 25, a Pontoon Beach man, 21, and a Madison man, 21.

A second Madison man, 21, was taken into custody at the same time as the others, but was released after questioning without being charged.

Police said two officers first arrived at the liquor store in response to a call and saw "some people" in a fenced-in yard at the east side of the building.

One officer drew his service weapon and ordered the men to come out of the yard. The Pontoon Beach man and a Granite City man came out with their hands up.

A second officer, approaching the yard from the other side, heard rustling in the weeds behind the fenced enclosure.

He yelled at the person to stop, but a 21-year-old Madison man began running south into a yard in the 2500 block of Nameoki Road and halted only when he saw the officer had drawn his revolver.

Other police arrived and a search was made of the premises without finding anyone inside.

A further search of the liquor store's fenced area revealed a Granite City man hiding beneath some old store shelving in the corner of the lot.

Police discovered a small barrel with a concrete block on top had been situated beneath an exhaust fan at the rear of the liquor store.

Wood had been piled from the building near where the fan is located.

Officers John Apperson, Pete Murgic and Douglas Law participated in the arrests, assisted by Sergeants Roy Koberna and James Lengyel who searched the building.

School just around the corner

School starts soon! Oh joyful song to a mother's ear!

What mother is not looking forward to the pitter-patter of little feet going out of the door and off to school?

I for one will be so glad. My boys have forgotten what they learned last year. They really need to go back to the books. And I need a break.

I remember how I was as a youngster when school was about to start. I was excited about seeing all the friends that I hadn't seen all summer. I just couldn't wait.

Something is weird with today's kids. Ross and Dennis just aren't at all excited about the idea of going back. Dennis swears he will not be in the same class with Jimmy What's-his name. He has threatened to run away from home or, worse yet, never go back to school.

Ross says he will go back to school only if I buy him a dozen Qiana shirts. He's out of his cotton-pickin' mind, that one. I bought him nice shirts last year, and they lasted about a week.

My little one's first reaction to school was "Mom, do I have to?" to which I answered, "They will throw me in jail if you don't!" To which he answered, "So?" Little kids have their own logic.

The only thing my kids are looking forward to at this point is Halloween. School is a dirty word around my house, and the word homework causes Ross to break out in a cold sweat.

Ah, but what a sweet word school is to the moms. No more shopping with children yelling in your ear begging for candy. No more having to let the kids stay up until 10:00 on weeknights. There will be peace and six hours of relatively free time.

But it's not all good. Along with the return to classes will come the shopping for school clothes and lunch boxes. And the lost library books. Then there are PTA, cub scouts and making cookies for the bake sale to be taken care of.

There will be the getting up in the morning and prying sleeping children from their beds, begging them to get up and get dressed. And that's only half of it.

Then comes winter.

Venice school budget down, but funds short

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Venice School District's budget of $1,767,789 to operate the Venice public schools, a decrease of 11.5 percent from last year's figure, at its meeting Thursday night.

In addition, a $566,000 budget was approved for Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, the federally financed adult education school, which is administered by the Venice board.

Other action taken by the school board involved hiring four new staff members, hearing a report of receiving $225,000 in tax money and adopting a policy relating to student textbook fees.

The total budget for the public schools, down $180,363 from 1978-79, includes $985,728 in Title I and Title VII funds which are reimbursable from federal and state sources.

Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said last year's budget figures dropped one percent from 1977-78 and efforts are continuing to reduce expenditures wherever possible.

The new public schools budget shows anticipated revenues next year of $1,578,073 in all funds, a deficit of $187,716 compared with estimated expenditures.

In order to operate the schools in the past year, the Venice School District has extended $435,000 in anticipated warrants against current tax collections and has borrowed $133,860 from the special education building fund, all of which must be repaid from the new taxes and adds about $600,000 to the overall deficit of the financially depressed system.

The sum of $100,000 in new tax money was transferred from the Education Fund to the Special Building Fund as repayment in the regular business meeting Thursday, but then was retransferred to the Education Fund.

At the time of the budget adoption Thursday, Board President Jack Tolliver stated, "This is a very crucial year for the Venice District and we need the cooperation of everyone that is involved in this district and their support."

"This includes the taxpayers, school administrators, teachers, staff and parents, especially parents. We definitely need their cooperation and support."

Expected revenue in the public schools' educational fund is $1,194,393, while estimated expenditures are $1,350,695, a deficit of $156,302.

In the building, operations and maintenance fund, expenditures are budgeted at $277,498 against $278,840 in anticipated revenue, a deficit of $206,658.

Bonds and interest revenue is expected to be $36,460, while disbursements in this fund total $39,050, a difference of $2,590.

The transportation fund shows expenditures of $54,100 with anticipated revenue listed at $31,765, a deficit of $22,335.

Disbursements in the municipal retirement fund total $37,000 with expected revenue of $35,170 for a $1,830 difference.

Budgeted expenditures in the working cash fund amount to $9,445, while revenue in that fund is estimated at $209,445, a $200,000 plus mark.

The Venice-Lincoln Technical Center budget for the 1980 fiscal year, totaling $566,000, shows $424,659 expenditures in the educational fund; $80,365 in the building fund; $23,000 in transportation; $10,800 in the retirement fund; and $27,130 in an indirect contingency fund.

A public hearing on the regular board meeting.

Supl. Vickers commented that no one had asked to see the budget while it was posted at the board office and no changes were necessary from the tentative figures authorized by the board July 12.

Escapee from California caught in GC

Alerted by police in Napa, Calif., that a man wanted for escape and armed robbery may be in this area, Granite City police placed a residence in the 4100 block of Braden Avenue under surveillance starting at 6:30 p.m. Monday, and apprehended the man without incident shortly after 8 p.m.

The 28-year-old fugitive appeared before a judge Tuesday and it is believed he agreed to waive extradition proceedings.

A Napa (Calif.) detective informed local officers the man being sought could be armed and should be considered "extremely dangerous."

At 7:30 p.m. Monday, officers saw a man come up to the front porch of the dwelling being watched and he appeared to match the description received from California.

Three officers approached the man from the front yard and two other officers came from the rear of the house. An 18-year-old girl with the man was taken into custody for questioning and later released without being charged.

BOARD MEETS TONIGHT
The Area Council of PTAs will have a board meeting tonight at 7 at Maryville School, according to Wilma Bowen, publicity chairman. Julie Gates is president of the council.

Joint interests—not 'Special interests'

By RICHARD L. LESHNER

President

U.S. Chamber of Commerce
During his final sprint for the presidency, candidate Carter was a confident man with a passion for populist themes. For example, he was fond of telling Americans:

"It is time we had a president who will lead our nation and who will work with harmony with Congress for a change, so the working families of this country can be represented as well as the rich and powerful and the special interest groups."

Those, of course, were the good old days. Lately, the president has been having a difficult time and he's not quite so confident.

Inflation is going up; his public polls and support in Congress are going down, and his legislative proposals are going nowhere.

Yet for all his problems, the president has not changed a bit in one key respect: He still lashes out at all the so-called narrow, greedy, sinister, special interests.

Indeed, he now seems determined to blame them for almost all the problems of his Administration and our nation.

His attitude is disturbing. If the list on my desk were not so long, I might share with you all the names of unions and corporations (including oil companies) from whom Mr. Carter accepted so many thousands of dollars while running for president. So there is more than a tinge of hypocrisy in all his rhetoric.

But understand, I am not one of those people who believe a president must totally divorce himself from outside advice, influence and legitimate campaign contributions.

For one thing, all the talk about the excessive influence of the PACs (Political Action Committees) has been overdone.

During the 1978 Congressional campaign, two-thirds of all campaign contributions were donated by individual Americans, mostly in small contributions of less than $100. That kind of participation should be considered healthy.

By contrast, all business and labor PACs combined contributed about 16 percent. Corporation PACs alone gave only four percent.

In no way can that level of contributions be called excessive or corrupting. In fact, as a percentage of overall campaign spending, the PACs spent less in 1978 than they did in 1976.

But there is a more important point to be made here. When Mr. Carter speaks so disparagingly

Speed plans for Arlington siren

What ever happened to plans to erect a tornado warning siren to serve the Arlington Heights and Holiday Mobile Home Park areas?

That is what trustees of Nameoki Township would like to know, it was indicated at Monday night's town board meeting. "This has been dragging on too long," Trustee Lee Adams commented and requested Supervisor Harold Davis to contact county emergency services officials to determine when the work will begin.

It was noted the siren would protect an estimated 226 mobile homes, 200 houses, 120 apartments and an additional 100 homes in the Sand Road area.

THEFT FROM AUTO

A tape player, three tape recordings and a wallet were stolen from the auto of James Cathers, 1706 rear Cleveland Blvd., behind his home, it was discovered at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday. Entry was believed gained through a previously broken window. The wallet, containing $5 cash, belongs to Mike Cathers of the same address.

about narrow special interests, he is really talking about business and labor in other words, the overwhelming majority of Americans, be they blue and white-collar working people or managers.

Unions alone represent 20 million working Americans; and business investment and production not only create jobs, but generate the revenue to pay wages and salaries and provide taxes to run the government as well.

These are not special interests, but common interests. It is precisely this failure to distinguish between the two that explains the president's dismal legislative record. Let me cite three examples.

The president tells us his energy program is being stymied by the oil industry. Not so. The program is unpopular because it is not an energy bill but a tax bill.

Members of business and labor, and all of us as consumers, are being asked to swallow huge new tax increases—but for what?

We know the federal bureaucracy, hardly a source of expertise, will get the money. What happens then is anyone's guess.

A proposal like that is bound to attract more enemies than friends.

In return for campaign support, the president backed a measure called the Oil Cargo Preference Bill, which could have added $610 million to our national energy bill. The measure went down to humiliating defeat, since so many people—including Ralph Nader's representatives, who helped us fight it—recognized it would only subsidize one small interest at the expense of the common interest. The president scored one of his few successes when Congress passed the multilateral Trade Negotiations agreement. And that's why we worked so hard to help the White House jobs and billions of dollars in new foreign orders. It will be good for America. It obviously corresponds to many common interests. And that's why we worked so hard to help the White House by mobilizing support and neutralizing opposition. We were effective then. If the President wants to satisfy other common interests—cutting taxes, spending and regulations—we'll help again.

Council delays payment in 'sludge' agreement

Payment of a $10,000 claim by Milam-East Corp. for two months service handling sludge from the Granite City sewage treatment plant in the company's landfill was held up by the City Council Tuesday night in what was described by several aldermen as a "misunderstanding" in a recent agreement with the collection firm.

The bill, listed along with other obligations in the monthly claim list, was challenged by Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward who asked if the extra time period for hauling sludge from the treatment plant to the landfill had been eliminated. Whitmer noted it was his understanding that an additional $5,000 per month was agreed upon for the company when hauling periods extended beyond the regular 5 p.m. closing time at the landfill.

Alderman Glen Sprankle of the Fourth Ward and chairman of the pollution plant committee, said he had been informed that no late hours were being required in transporting sludge to the landfill.

The $5,000 monthly sludge handling cost was agreed upon in addition to the cost of the city's regular garbage collection contract handled by Milam-East, but the aldermen maintained the extra payment was to be made only if the city continued hauling sludge to the landfill from 5 p.m. until 11:15 p.m. as had been necessary on past occasions.

Whitmer said Kenneth Harbarger, district manager of SCA Services of which Milam-East is a division, now contends the additional payment was established for use of the

Miss Dorothy Hilt, 56, dies

Miss Dorothy Hilt, 56, of Carmichael, Calif., a former longtime resident of the Quad-Cities, died at 11:15 a.m. Tuesday at the Sacramento Medical Center, Sacramento, Calif.

The fun day picnic is being sponsored by senior citizens groups, Granite City Township staff and the park district.

DELAY POND REPAIRS

Planned improvements to holding ponds near Shirline Drive in Nameoki Township are being delayed due to the construction of new sanitary sewers in the area, Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehell noted at Monday night's meeting of the town board. He said the sewer contractors have taken the ponds down and have left a big hole in the ground. He pledged his department would improve and landscape the area after the sewer contractors have repaired damages they have done.

DRAM SHOP SUIT

Francis King Jr. has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court against Nola Manogian as operator of the Starlight Tavern, 1225 Madison Ave. The suit alleges that on Dec. 16, 1978, patrons in the tavern were served alcohol, became intoxicated and fought, spilling liquids on the floor. King alleges he slipped and fell and suffered numerous injuries, including a broken jaw. He seeks in excess of $15,000.

MEETING TONIGHT

A meeting of the Nameoki Township Citizens' Advisory Committee on Community Development has been called for 7 tonight in the town hall to discuss applying for discretionary funds from the county. A program to aid residents in the low economic and elderly categories meet the cost of connecting their home sewer systems into new sanitary sewers in the township is among those to be considered, sources indicated.

Law amended; KC drive on Nov. 2-3

The amended Illinois Vehicle Code permitting solicitation of funds on state highways by responsible organizations means that the Knights of Columbus 1979 two-day fund-raising effort for the mentally retarded should exceed its optimistic goal of $800,000, the leading officer of the Catholic fraternal society said Tuesday.

State Deputy Herbert L. Gegenhuber of Palatine noted that with the signing of HB 360 by Gov. James Thompson, under certain conditions sanctioned groups are now permitted to solicit funds on state highways within a municipality granting such permission. Prior to HB 360, no solicitation of funds was permitted on state highways, even within a municipality. Under the amended bill, solicitation may be done at intersections on state highways where traffic comes to a full stop.

Also, certain restrictions are placed on the soliciting organization. The soliciting agency must be:

1. Registered with the attorney general as a charitable organization as provided by "an act to regulate solicitation and collection of funds for charitable purposes."

2. Engaged in a statewide fund-raising activity.

3. Liable for any claim or claims arising from damages to any persons or property during the solicitation.

4. Sixteen years of age or more and wearing a high-visibility vest.

The 1979 K of C statewide Mentally Retarded Program, chaired again this year by Robert J. Deffenbaugh of Watskesa and Gus Sundermeier of Oak Lawn, will be held in Illinois Nov. 2-3.

Last year, the program grossed $751,253.

Since its inception in 1970, the MR Program has taken in more than $4,750,000.

About 97 percent or 265 councils in the state participate in the two-day drive. Nearly all the funds are returned to the community where they were collected, and are presented in the form of checks to sheltered workshops, mentally retarded schools, and organizations caring for the mentally handicapped.

The only expenses taken out of the funds are for the cost of candy used in connection with the drive, and minimal operating expenses. In many cases, donors pick up the cost of the candy.

The 10 percent of the proceeds allocated to the K of C MR State Fund are used to support the Illinois Special Olympics, and for the cost of underwriting a "lead-mobile" manned by the Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens. The mobile laboratory travels around the state detecting youngsters who have ingested dangerous amounts of lead into their systems.

Township lacks authority to deal with rats—Davis

Rats have been abundant this summer in several areas of Nameoki Township and township officials indicated Monday night they are powerless to do anything about it.

Township Supervisor Harold Davis told one woman complaining about rats, "Whenever you find out what can be done about it, please let me know so I can kill mine."

"It is an individual health problem and there are no county or state laws we can get help from. We were told by our attorney not to put out rat poison because of the danger of lawsuits in case children, dogs or wildlife were killed by it."

"Rats almost ate up my garage this summer," Davis said.

He suggested township residents take every effort to keep garbage and food off the ground. "If there is a garbage situation, yes, we can make them clean that up. However, if you have rats, there is nothing the township can do to help you," Davis said.

GIANT TOMATO PLANT, approximately 12 feet in height, is producing large tomatoes for Mrs. Rosina Mangiaracino, 2132 Amos Ave. The plant was started in May. But unlike the rest of the tomato plants in her yard, it grew far larger and is producing monster tomatoes. "The ground must be good here," she said.

Marriage celebration '79

Marriage Celebration '79 will be held Sept. 15 at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, 9500 W. Illinois Route 15, Belleville. Highlighting the celebration will be Jubilee Night, with a special 7 p.m. liturgy for couples celebrating their 25th, 40th, 50th or 60th anniversaries.

The day-long celebration begins with liturgies at 8:30, 10 and 11:30 a.m. Guest speakers Jo and Tom Fogle will speak at the 10 and 11:30 liturgies. They have been actively involved with marriage preparation in the pre-Cana program in the O'Fallon, Ill., area.

The Shrine restaurant will be open for breakfast buffet from 8 to 11 a.m. and a smorgasbord from 11 to 2 and from 4 to 8 p.m. A live musical program will be presented during these times.

The celebration culminates in a 7 p.m. liturgy at the Shrine Outdoor

POLICE EXAMS

Harmony class elects officers

The Harmony Class of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church held a polluck dinner in Wesley Hall of the church. Harold Lynn gave the invocation.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hacke Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber were hosts to the class for the August meeting.

The business meeting was conducted by President Homer Huber. The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Charles Young; vice president, James Hamrick; recording secretary, Edna Stutch; corresponding secretary, Alice Cruse; treasurer, Cleveland Cox; Sunday attendance secretary, Waldo Prohardt; pianist, Maxene Hacke; teacher, Fred Stutch; teacher, James Hamrick; honorary chairman, Charles Reimers.

During the social hour the group saw slides of this area and of Florida, shown by Clara and Homer Huber.

Those present included: the Rev. and Mrs. Louis Peck and sons Jonathan and Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Cox, Mr. and Mrs. James Hamrick, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Potillo, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stutch, Paul Martin and mesdames, Alice Cruse, Bessie Milton, Bertha Veissman, Golda Boyle and Dora Youngs.

COUNTRY-WESTERN MUSIC will be featured at the 20th annual Mitchell Fall Festival, set Friday, Sept. 7 through Sunday, Sept. 9, at the St. Elizabeth grounds in Mitchell. Among the groups will be Art Hines and the Western Gentlemen from 8 p.m. to midnight. Saturday, Sept. 8. Recording artist Nick Nixon and the Joey James Orchestra also will entertain, in addition to local performers. The festival is sponsored by Mitchell Athletic Association.

SUPPER STOLEN

Between 9:30 p.m. and 10:25 p.m. Tuesday, Herman O'Dell, 1416 Fourth St., Madison, had his residence burglarized. Items taken included a police scanner, a clock and his evening dinner that was in the refrigerator.

By VALERIE EVENDEN

of the Press-Record

Headlined by country-western stars, midway rides and other entertainment, the 20th annual Mitchell Fall Festival will take place Friday, Sept. 7, through Sunday, Sept. 9, it was announced today.

Harry Breckner, president of the Mitchell Athletic Association (MAA), which sponsors the traditional event, said this year's festival promises to be the most lavish one staged to date.

Site of the festival will be at the St. Elizabeth grounds, located on Greenwood Street, between East Chain of Rocks Road and Interstate 270.

Activities will get under way at 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 7, with the opening of carnival rides, furnished by Sutton Co. of St. Louis.

Breckner said tickets for the rides may be purchased in advance at considerable savings and may be used at anytime during the three days.

If obtained before Sept. 7, tickets will cost $3 for 10, while $6 will be charged for the same number of tickets after the festival starts.

In addition to the midway, booths sponsored by various organizations will offer fish, pork steaks and chicken dinners, among other fare.

A beer garden and games' booths also will be in operation.

Friday night's entertainment will feature the Joey James Orchestra with music for dancing and listening, starting at 7:30 and continuing until 11 p.m.

On Saturday, Sept. 8, the grounds will open at 1 p.m. and remain open until 12 midnight.

Country-western music, spotlighting Art Hines and the Western Gentlemen, may be heard from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Hines is noted radio performer who frequently appears at state fairs.

Additionally, a performance by the widely acclaimed Checkerboard Squares dancing troupe is scheduled at 6 p.m. Saturday.

A children's matinee period with carnival rides reduced to half price is planned from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Breckner said.

Operating hours Sunday, Sept. 9, also will be from 1 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Highlighting the evening hours will be the appearance of Nick Nixon and the Country Sound Band, presenting a four-hour show from 7 to 11 o'clock at the festival site.

An recording artist for several years, Nixon signed with MCA in late 1978 and has his first MCA album ready for release, "Would You Let This Pool In?"

He has opened state fairs and other major shows for such performers as Dolly Parton, Barbara Mandrell, Jerry Lee Lewis, Charley Pride and the Statler Brothers.

Nixon has proved a popular attraction at previous Mitchell Fall Festivals.

Sunday's schedule of eight-hour home and Mr. and Mrs. Roger and Thelma Mason will return to their home at 113 Slough Road, valued at $9,000.

The July police report showed 34 adult arrests, nine juvenile arrests and $85 collected in fines.

The council approved $75 to help pay for the Venice Independent Baseball league banquet scheduled 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16 in the Venice Recreation Center.

A request from the Venice street department workers to change their paydays from the 15th and 22nd of the month to every other Friday was tabled until the Aldermanic Street and Alley to see can review the request.

Block job transfer

A move by the Granite City Council Tuesday night to change the job title and status of James Stack, who now is employed in the Sanitation Department, almost ended in abolishing his job entirely.

The incident developed after council members rejected an ordinance that would have moved Stack from his title of assistant street superintendent to a newly-created post of sanitation superintendent at a salary of $18,631 per year.

The ordinance was presented at the urging of some aldermen who believed Stack's title of assistant street superintendent should be removed and that job abolished because Lionel Portell, superintendent of streets, has refused all along to recognize Stack in that job. Portell, who is an elected official, insists he does not need an assistant. Paul Fisk, alderman of the Third Ward and chairman of the council's ordinance committee, presented the ordinance which provided that Stack be transferred to the post of sanitation superintendent and that the salary be fixed at $18,631 per year. That is the same salary Stack now receives.

Several aldermen challenged the bill, however, as Alderman Roy Poulos of the Third Ward called attention to the ordinance wording of sanitation "superintendent."

Stack has been working in the sanitation department handling manpower employee assignments and other duties.

Poulos asked: "Is Stack a superintendent now?"

Informing that he was not, Poulos asked, "Why would we move him from a job in the sanitation department to a superintendent of the department? Who is superintendent of the sanitation department?"

Poulos was told that the city inspector, Emerald Davies, is superintendent of the sanitation department.

Poulos asked if the designated salary for Stack is more than Davies' salary. He was told that it was not.

"There's no way we can go for that," Poulos responded. "Because of the discussion, Fisk, instead of moving for a suspension of the rules to place the ordinance on final passage, moved only to place the ordinance on final reading, but that motion lost, killing the bill."

After the council had disposed of several other ordinances, Fisk presented a bill that would abolish the office of assistant street superintendent. Fisk remarked that the bill was a companion bill to that which had been defeated concerning Stack's transfer.

After reading the ordinance, Fisk said: "Before I move to suspend the rules I have a question. If this ordinance were passed, would Stack have a job?"

City Attorney Lance Callis told Fisk that Stack would not have a job.

The ordinance eliminates the job in which he now is hired, Callis said. "If that were abolished, he would be out of work."

"In that case, I move to place the ordinance on first reading," Fisk said.

That motion carried, which means the ordinance can be called again for consideration in the council's next meeting.

$8.9 million budgeted for area college

The tentative budget for Belleville Area College for fiscal year 1979-80 will be available for public inspection in Room 1241 (the board secretary's office) on the main campus at 2500 Carlyle Road during the next month. A public hearing on the budget has been set for Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 8 p.m.

The budget totals almost $9 million. It shows probable revenues of $8,914,256 against anticipated expenditures of $8,912,339.

Salaries comprise the largest portion of the budget, making up 76 percent of the total expected expenditures. Another three percent is budgeted for employee benefits.

Contractual services and general materials and supplies make up ten percent. Utilities, alone, receive four percent of the college's budget.

Slightly more than 27 percent of the budgeted revenue is expected to come from local taxes, almost 44 percent from state contributions, and 25 percent from tuition and fees.

The other four percent will come primarily from the federal government and from interest on investments.

Vice-President for Administrative Services James J. Hines said the equalization grant from the state will be $600,000 from the state will be the financial salvation of the BAC during this fiscal year.

"We have cut budgets at just about every conceivable place without cutting the quality of instruction," Hines said. "I don't know what we would have done had the equalization funding not increased."

Equalization money is based on a formula which established a standard sum for each student enrolled at an Illinois community college.

Belleville Area College, as a result of its low tax rate and the fact that assessed valuation has not been increasing as rapidly as most of the state, ranks fourth lowest in the state in dollars of support per student from local sources.

There are 39 community college districts in Illinois. Belleville Area College ranks sixth in size of the student body.

Steve Ortiz named to planning commission

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Steve Ortiz, 1744 Maple St., has been appointed a member of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission (SIMPRC).

The commission is the official planning agency that provides services to the Illinois counties of Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Randolph, Bond, Washington and Clinton and their 650,000 residents.

Ortiz, 47, a resident of Granite City since the age of nine, has been actively involved in many community programs.

For the last 25 years, he has been employed as a fire truck operator at A. O. Smith Corp.

He and his wife, the former Elva Guardado of Fairmont City, are the parents of Steve Jr., 25, a Granite City Steel employee, and Juan Jose, 20, a student at SIUE.

The commission was officially created by the 72nd Illinois General Assembly July 15, 1963, to meet the needs for advanced planning and for the coordination of development in Madison and St. Clair counties.

Subsequent acts by the state legislature in 1965, 1973 and 1975 added the remaining counties to commission's area of jurisdiction and responsibility.

By legislation, SIMPRC consists of 109 members with two-thirds of its membership being elected officials, including seven County Board chairmen and 11 other County Board members, 30 township supervisors, six superintendents of Educational Services Regions, nine other elected officials and 36 appointed officials and citizens-at-large.

The commission's current president is Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler.

Ortiz's appointment was based upon the recommendation of the Mexican-American Cultural Commission of Metropolitan St. Louis, according to Anthony Ramirez of Webster Groves, Mo., president.

The association was among several area-wide organizations asked by Cahokia Mayor Mike King, immediate past president of SIMPRC, to submit nominations to the commission for its consideration.

Amendments to the commission's creating legislation, passed during the 1975-76 session of the Illinois General Assembly, provided for the appointment of five new commission members by the commission president, with the appointees to be representative of the minority group population within the Southwestern Illinois region.

It was noted while 12 of the current 109 commission members were minority group individuals, there were no Mexican-American or Spanish-American members, despite the fact the area includes a sizable population (6.64 or 1 percent of total) of Spanish-surnamed individuals.

Ortiz is the current vice president of the Mexican-American Cultural Commission of Metropolitan St. Louis.

He was actively involved with the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City for many years and served as commission president for about a 20-year period.

Ortiz also directed the commission's Artistic Group of young people, which performed traditional music and dances from Mexico, wearing authentic costumes, for numerous organizations throughout the bi-state metropolitan area.

STEVE ORTIZ
New Commission Member

He is a four-year member of the Hispanic Concerns Committee of the Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development for Illinois.

He attends frequent meetings of the committee in Springfield and Chicago to keep abreast of current legislation of interest to

Mrs. Anna Salga dies

Mrs. Anna Salga, 79, of 1713 Walnut St., was pronounced dead at her home at 12:15 p.m. Monday by Deputy Coroner William Sternberg.

Mrs. Salga had been under a doctor's care and ill for nearly 25 years. Death was due to natural causes, according to Sternberg.

She was born in Hungary. She was retired from the former NESCO company where she worked as a dipper.

Mexican-American citizens and provide information to others.

Ortiz is a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church, Tri-Cities Council 1098, Knights of Columbus, and Granite City Elks Lodge 1063.

He also is an associate member of the Granite City Jaycees.

For 15 years, he served as Democratic precinct committeeman for Granite City Precinct 10.

In June, Mrs. Ortiz received a bachelor's degree from the School of Humanities at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, with a double major in Spanish and Human Services.

The seven-county jurisdictional area of the Southwestern Illinois Planning Commission covers approximately 3,800 square miles and contains a population of 650,000.

Within this region, there are 454 local units of government, 113 of which are incorporated municipalities.

She was a member of St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church.

Her husband, Steven G. Salga, died June 3, 1962. She is survived by one son, Thomas Salga of LaMar, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Steve (Rose) Saz, and a niece, Miss Lillian Saz, both of Granite City; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are listed in today's obituary column.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER. Miss Vickie Spurlock with Junior Vice-Commander Earl H. Lungwitz of the DAV Quad-City Chapter 53. She is one of six award recipients of a total scholarship fund of $2,812.

Award 6 scholarships

The Disabled American Veterans Chapter 53 has presented $2,812 in scholarship checks to six Quad-City students.

Awards were given to Vickie Spurlock, Mary Ellen Gnojewski, Patricia Perdue, Douglas M. Rains, Dawn Stoyanoff and Rhonda Schillinger.

Miss Spurlock, a graduate of Granite City High School South, is a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Miss Gnojewski is a graduate of Madison High School, and Miss Perdue is a graduate of Assumption High School and St. Teresa Academy. Both are enrolled at St. Louis University. Rains, Miss Stoyanoff and Miss Schillinger are graduates of Granite City High School North, and are attending Jefferson College, Des Moines School of Nursing and St. Louis College of Pharmacy, respectively.

TRUCK STOLEN

Robert York, 1701 Delmar Ave., reported at 7:10 a.m. Tuesday that his 1970 green Ford pickup truck had been stolen from a parking place in the alley at the rear of 1706 Cleveland Blvd. York's Hauling Service was written on the side of the vehicle, the owner said.

Endorse trailer storage proposal

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has issued recommendations that the county board approve a request for a permit to store, park and transfer truck trailers from a lot at 2001 West Chain of Rocks Road, in a B-3 highway business district of Chouteau Township.

Joyce and Lawrence Yust, Horizons Development and Alvin and Mary Reeves are requesting a special use permit, at that location for the business.

The zoning board also is recommending that special use permits be granted for the placements of two mobile homes in this area.

Endorsed is a permit for Alma Walk and Don Gergen to place a mobile home at 4920 Carl St., Hills Terrace Annex of Chouteau Township for up to five years for the sole occupancy and use of the Gergen family. The property is in an R-3 single-family residential district. Also receiving the board's endorsement is a request from Frank Keller and Robert and Cheryl Wright for a permit to place a mobile home along Breckenridge Lane near Lake Drive for up to five years for the sole occupancy of the Wright family. The property is in an R-3 district of Nameoki Township.

Special course on Community Services, part of the UAW Leadership Training Institute. Circled: left William Schaab, Finance Secretary-Treasurer and Willard Herzog, President, both of Local 1715 United Auto Workers Union, Granite City, Illinois.

Willard Herzog and William Schaab participated in a special course on Community Services, not only to help the members of this union but to help people in all walks of life in our community. This course consisted of studies on: Inflation, Energy, Taxes and Tax Reform, Fight for Jobs, National Health Insurance for all Americans, Human Rights in our community and the entire country.

In addition to the Community Services Program, studies were made of the Illinois Workman's Compensation Act and the Unemployment Compensation Act, with special emphasis on the recent changes in these laws. Also refresher courses in time study and contract negotiations.

Upon completing the required number of hours in the approved courses of training they were awarded a Leadership Training Certificate from UAW Leadership Training Institute.

WHY UNIONS?

"LONG AGO WE STATED THE REASON FOR LABOR ORGANIZATIONS. WE SAID THAT THEY WERE ORGANIZED OUT OF THE NECESSITIES OF THE SITUATION; THAT A SINGLE EMPLOYEE WAS HELPLESS IN DEALING WITH AN EMPLOYER; THAT HE WAS . . . UNABLE TO . . . RESIST ARBITRARY AND UNFAIR TREATMENT; THAT UNION WAS ESSENTIAL TO GIVE LABORERS OPPORTUNITY TO DEAL ON AN EQUALITY WITH THEIR EMPLOYERS."

CHIEF JUSTICE CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, 1937

Bargaining at the Main Table Moving into the 1980's

As we enter major contract negotiations, we have a number of indications relative to the future status of our industries and employment levels. There is much work that lies ahead.

The government's price-wage guidelines have had the impact of giving employers another excuse to hold back on wages and benefits which workers need and deserve.

We face uncertainties, but we are convinced more than ever, that unity will enable us to achieve equitable settlements. Historically, UAW members have recognized that all goals are not achieved in a single round of bargaining. Different approaches are needed, which involve innovative breakthroughs and firm bases for new programs, as well as improvements in established ones. Both of these activities are vital in meeting our members' needs.

Negotiating teams should not go to the bargaining table with frozen mandates. These teams must be able to identify the problems and design corrections to those problems, as well as pursue the new goals to be achieved. This is what collective bargaining is all about.

We seek a solution without a strike, and the companies with whom we bargain know this is not a sign of weakness. If necessary, we will fight to reach an equitable settlement.

We desire no gains at the expense of other workers or those less fortunate than us. We are prepared to cooperate to achieve common goals, such as controlling inflation; but, all restraints and sacrifices must be shared by all sectors of society in an equitable manner. Labor will not lead in this battle. Business interests have already reaped the great economic benefits. They have profited at the public's expense.

The UAW has a proud heritage. Our gains at the bargaining table have always been coupled with productivity gains at the workplace. Legislative gains have been made in behalf of the people of our great country . . . not at the expense of the citizenry.

These achievements were not easily won, but with a solid commitment throughout our Union, we have won and will continue to do so.

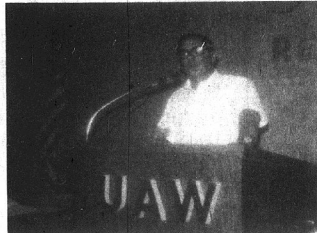

Good Luck.

Textbook loan plan expanded

More than one million public and nonpublic school students will participate in the Illinois State Board of Education's textbook loan program this fall.

The program provides for the loan of textbooks at no cost to students or parents.

"The 1979-80 school year is significant," said State Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin, "because it marks the date when students in all grade levels, from kindergarten through 12th grade, will have had a chance to participate in textbook loans."

"In all, 2.6 million students have taken part in the program since it began in 1976."

It is estimated that it would cost the state about $19 million to provide for the loan of one textbook per year for each student in the state and at least $30 million to provide for all the textbooks for each student for a year.

Since 1976, the General Assembly has appropriated a total of $17.5 million for textbook loans.

As a result, the program has been phased-in gradually, with books provided to elementary students first on a one-book-per-student basis, and then extended to students in the higher grades.

This year, students in the 7th through 12th grades will benefit from the program for the first time.

Requests for textbooks this year were received from 938 or 90 percent of the public school districts and 909 or 70 percent of the nonpublic school districts in Illinois.

Of the total of $9 million appropriated for the program in fiscal 1979, about $1.5 million went to Cook County schools.

Although the average cost per textbook increases in proportion to the grade level funded, the overall average cost per textbook was $7.74.

Administrative cost amounted to less than nine cents per book.

When fully implemented, the Illinois program will provide each public and nonpublic student with access to all necessary textbooks, excluding supplementary materials.

According to Illinois law, the state may use public funds for private school textbooks, but not for supplementary materials, such as workbooks, atlases, dictionaries and other supplies.

In order to participate in the program, each local school district selects the books to be ordered.

Their requests are forwarded to the regional superintendents, who compile them and send them to the State Board of Education for processing.

Textbooks are delivered to the appropriate schools in June so that everything is in readiness when school doors open in the fall.

A textbook remains in a school for the life of the book or until the school no longer has need of the text.

The State Board maintains an inventory of all books so that if one school no longer chooses to use a particular text, it can be transferred to another school.

Joggers' clinic

Because many people who are joining the ranks of the joggers do so without knowing their individual physical limitations, a special joggers' clinic is being arranged at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for jogging enthusiasts, be they beginners, advanced runners or just considering an exercise program.

The clinic will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 11 in the Kettler Center gymnasium.

The program will feature a panel of local runners who will talk on the advantages of jogging for fitness, the program is geared to all stages of the running method of exercise, whether you are a beginner or advanced runner.

The panel includes Judy Ponser, Ed Mercer and John Fernandez. Judy Ponser is a dietician and exercise technician for the cardiac rehabilitation program at Washington University. She is also a local runner who holds one of the best win records in competitive running, and recently qualified for the Boston Marathon.

Mercer is an officer for the newly-formed local runners' club, The Tri-City Striders, and is the program director for the Granite City YMCA.

Fernandez is a medical legal advisor, currently involved in research on the different fluid levels in male and female runners.

Included in the program is a film, "Coping with Life On The Run," by Dr. George Steehan, a nationally known physician and runner. Refreshments will be served after the program.

Registration for the program is being held now. To make reservations, Quad-Cityans may contact the Public Relations Department at SEMC by phoning 796-3167.

Union Label Week to begin Monday

Plan trip to Amish country

Reservations will be accepted, starting Friday at 9 a.m., for a one day visit to the Rockmore Gardens, Arcola, Ill., and a tour through the Amish countryside.

The trip will take place Saturday, Oct. 6, under sponsorship of the Granite City Park District, with the bus leaving Wilson Park at 7:30 a.m. on that date.

Cost of the outing is $22 per person which includes bus transportation, entrance to the gardens, a family style meal and an Amish Land tour.

The full fee must be paid at the time reservations are made.

The park district chose Oct. 6 for the outing as the weekend is the season's finale for Horse Farming Days.

A steam engine is activated for wood cutting and steam threshing and visitors may participate in walking plow and corn churning contests.

Demonstrations include cider pressing, cornmeal making, apple butter and apple fritter cooking, silage cutting and corn grinding, as well as area craftsmen showing wood carving, chair caning and rug hooking skills.

The 20-acre Rockmore Gardens features a rock shop, gristmill, broom shack and "old Bagdad Town," with additional antique shops and other attractions in Arcola.

A guide will board the bus at the gardens and provide a 45-minute tour of the Amish countryside.

A noon meal will be served at the family style restaurant in the garden, featuring homemade noodles or dressing, breads, apple butter and noted Shoo-Flay pie.

CONRAIL SUE

Wade Campbell has filed a $25,000 lawsuit in Madison County Circuit Court against Conrail passenger rail system alleging he was injured May 15 when driving his car across the railroad's crossing at West Pontoon Road. Campbell alleges a car tire hit a deep hole between the rails, causing the auto's steering wheel to spin, striking his hand and permanently injuring him. Negligence in maintaining the crossing is alleged.

Lions donate playground items to Pontoon Beach

The Pontoon Beach Village Board Tuesday night accepted an offer from the Lions Club of Pontoon Beach, donating the playground equipment in the Lion's Park on the east side of Route 111 to the village for the playground the village plans to develop on the east side of the highway. The village will be responsible for the costs of moving the equipment.

A resolution adding $53,000 in motor fuel taxes to the fund for permanent road improvements in Quiet Valley and Lakeview Estates was approved by the board to complete the project.

A letter from Southwestern Cable TV Co. was read which informed the board the firm is preparing to begin work in the village installing cable television facilities.

Approval was received from the county's Manpower office earmarking four employees for the village, including two dispatcher-receptionists and two custodian-maintenance employees. The placements are dependent upon funding being available and the Manpower office reviews its funding quarterly, the letter explained.

An ordinance to place signs for a four-way stop at Lily Avenue and Pulp Court also was approved.

Joseph P. Egan, 82, dies

Joseph P. Egan, 82, of 3900 Stearns Ave., died at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He had been ill 2½ years and had been residing for that length of time at Colonial Haven Nursing Home.

Mr. Egan was hospitalized only one day.

He was an Army veteran of World War I and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and Veterans of World War I. Barracks 34. He was born in Illinois and, prior to retiring, worked at American Steel Foundries for 16 years.

Mr. Egan had no known living relatives.

Mrs. Hester Hall, 62, dies

Mrs. Hester C. Hall, 62, of 41 Garasche Homes, Madison, was pronounced dead in her home at 3:44 p.m. Monday by William Sternberg, deputy coroner of Madison County.

Mrs. Hall had been under medical care for a terminal illness.

She is survived by one brother, John Griggs of East St. Louis; three sisters Mrs. Estelle Lee of Chicago, Mrs. Mattie Kennedy of Polka, Ill., and Mrs. Annie Calhoun of St. Louis.

Funeral services are scheduled at 8 p.m. today in the Friendship Baptist Church, 301 Merceda Ave., Venice.

Burial will be at 10 a.m. Friday in the Sunset Garden of Memory, Millstadt, Ill.

2 TAVERNS SUED

Beverly Holmes has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court against the Anna Cafe and the Dr. Between Tavern. The suit alleges that on Oct. 6, 1978, the taverns served liquor to Lenny Giles, causing him to become intoxicated. He then drove Curtis Holmes in his truck and went off Old Alton Road west of Maryville Road, resulting in injuries to Curtis Holmes. Beverly Holmes seeks $20,000 under the Dram Shop Act, alleging the injuries to Curtis Holmes have deprived her of her means of support.

Effective lobbying by Ill. senior citizens

(Office of Lieutenant Governor Dave Nease)
Q. I've heard about the Lieutenant Governor's Senior Legislative Forum, but what good does it do?

A. During this last session of the General Assembly, the Forum—made up, and run completely by, members of over 450 senior citizen organizations throughout the state—had major impact on legislation.
For instance, it was the Forum members, who, during their annual meeting in October 1978, first brought up the need for nursing home legislation, including a "bill of rights" and the need for mandatory training of nurse aides.
Along with publicity of the situation in some nursing homes by the news media, and the understanding in some nursing homes by the news media, and the understanding of the situation by the legislature, Governor James R. Thompson has recently signed such measures into law.

Q. What was that specific legislation?
A. Senate Bill 316, sponsored by Senators Richard M. Daley, Chicago, and Lynn Martin, Rockford, and Representative Thaddeus Lechowicz, Chicago, and Senate Bill 309, sponsored by Daley and Lechowicz were the specific measures.

They include a bill of rights for the 100,000 individuals living in nursing homes, a training program for nurses' aides who administer most of the care, and stern penalties for homes which fail to meet proper standards.
Also, revocation, suspension or refusal of the state to renew the license of any nursing home if its operator has been employed or had a financial interest in another home which has had its license suspended or revoked.

All of this legislation is known as The Nursing Home Care Reform Act of 1979.
Q. What are some specific provisions?
A. Some of them include requiring yearly surprise inspections of all nursing homes by the Department of Public Health; permitting the Department to assess fines against deficient facilities; allowing the courts to place deficient homes in receivership.

Providing suits against facilities by residents whose care is paid for by the government; requiring a contract between each resident and provider to spell out exactly what services are to be delivered; banning the involuntary transfer or discharge of patients, except in defined emergencies, without a minimum of 21 days' notice.

Also, establishing the rights of residents to communicate and visit with persons outside the home; and outlining rights for storage space for personal belongings.

Again, it is important to note that this legislation would not have come about without strong lobbying efforts by senior citizens and the attention of the news media.

Six to get Vigil honor

Six members of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, a national honor camping society within the Boy Scouts of America, are to be elevated to Vigil Honor membership.

The Vigil Honor is a national recognition of the Arrow awarded to those members who have contributed their time and talent not only to the camping program of the BSA, but also to their school, church and community in general.

Those to receive the honor are Ron Christ, 4075 Breckenridge Lane, a member of Troop 146 sponsored by Hope Lutheran Church.

Bill Kefalas, 2448 Waterman Ave., a member of Troop 5 sponsored by the Namecki United Methodist Church and Explorer Post 102 sponsored by Suburban Baptist Church.

Nick Tsigiolaroff, 3432 Lydia Lane, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 5 and a member of Explorer Post 102.

Scoutmaster Marvin Wiedemer, 32 Oaklawn Drive, Troop 13 sponsored by the St. Elizabeth Holy Name Society.

Gregg Grimaud of Troy, a member of Troop 28 sponsored by the Troy Lions club and Scoutmaster Jim Johns of Highland, Troop 43 sponsored by the Evangelical United Church of Highland.

The presentation of the Vigil will take place at Camp Sunnen, located near Potosi, Mo. during the annual fall conclave Friday, Saturday and Sunday Sept. 8, 9 and 10.
A special dedication of a plaque will be made to the camp with all Vigil members names engraved on it. The plaque is being donated by Vigil members Thomas Hooks and Jack Vance.

Mike Yenko is the 1979 Vigil chairman and Larry Todoroff is serving as the Vigil activities chairman for the conclave.

A special Vigil breakfast will be held.
Other activities during the weekend will include the election of lodge and chapter officers.

Members of the Arrow must make their reservations by 5 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 5, at the Boy Scout Service Center, 2016 Delmar Ave.

Teen hurt in crash with tree

Bryan Coyle, 18, of 4 Shirwin Drive, was injured when his northbound auto struck a utility pole and a tree at 18th Street and Madison Avenue at 1:20 a.m. Monday.

He was issued a ticket alleging failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted with a cut to his left cheek and abrasions to his nose and back.

Witnesses said the car left the roadway, hit the pole, breaking it, and then continued into a tree.

Ladies Sodality plans upcoming church events

St. Elizabeth's Ladies Sodality met Tuesday for the annual baby shower for Church Women United. Many gifts were presented. Mrs. Pat Loftus presided over the meeting. Mrs. Ginger Hayes and Nellie Horn were introduced as guests.

It was reported that the DCCW Convention will be Sept. 29-30. There will be a day of recollection at Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville on Oct. 12.

Other upcoming events include a street dance for parishioners Sept. 16, the annual fall dance Oct. 13, the Christmas bazaar Nov. 3, the ladies' Christmas party Dec. 4 and the parish Christmas dance Dec. 8.

Bertha Becherer and Gussie Munsterman won prizes. Denise Blankenship won the quilt of the month. The fourth-grade mothers served refreshments. The program for the evening was presented by Sister Ann Boessen on natural family planning.

The September meeting will be the annual pantry shower for the nuns.

Shower honors Mrs. Brodzinski

A baby shower was given in honor of Mrs. Ken (Andrea) Brodzinski last week at the home of Faith Holsinger at 3236 Newell Drive.

Mrs. Holsinger was assisted by Barbara Coleman, Ella Reynolds and Rhonda Frey.

After games were played and the honoree opened her gifts, guests were served from a table covered with an ocre lace tablecloth over pink. A bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath, interspersed with yellow and blue ribbons, were arranged around a stork.

Finger sandwiches, nut bread, miniature cheese balls, baby bottle minis, fruit crush, coffee and a cake decorated with baby block designs were served. Favors were given to guests were bibs with accents of pink and blue and baby bottle nut cups of white felt decorated with pink and blue flowers.

Miss Johannigmeier weds Mark Campbell

Miss Donna M. Johannigmeier became the bride of Mark A. Campbell in a double ring ceremony Aug. 25 at Trinity Lutheran Church in Macomb, Ill.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johannigmeier of Granite City. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Campbell, reside in Rockford, Ill.

The Rev. John Carlson officiated at the evening ceremony.

The former Miss Johannigmeier was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Art Johannigmeier of Granite City.

She wore a gown of sheer woven polyester lined in taffeta with lace appliques on the sweetheart neckline and on the bodice. The dress featured long sheer sleeves cuffed at the wrist in lace.

The skirt was accented with lace appliques throughout and ended in a Chapel train. The bride wore a mantilla veil with a headpiece of lace appliques and seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, white daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Toni Simmers attended the bride as maid of honor.

honor. She wore a yellow chiffon gown with a pleated skirt and butterfly sleeves and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, miniature carnations and baby's breath. A wreath of baby's breath was worn in her hair.

The groom chose Richard Carlton as best man. Larry Johannigmeier, a brother of the bride, served as usher.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony. Miss Gretchen Martin attended the guest book. Also assisting were Mrs. Joseph White and Miss Pat Johannigmeier, sisters of the bride.

The bride graduated from Granite City High School North in 1974 and from Lutheran Medical Center School of Nursing in 1977. She is employed as a registered nurse at McDonough District Hospital in Macomb.

The groom is a graduate of Rockford West High School and he attended Western Illinois University. He is employed as a paramedic at McDonough District Hospital.

The couple will reside in Macomb after a wedding trip to Florida.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Barkley Bailey, who were married Aug. 12 at Refuge Temple Church in East St. Louis. The bride is the former Miss Alfreda Foster of East St. Louis. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bailey, reside in Madison.

Miss Foster becomes Mrs. Barkley Bailey

The Refuge Temple Church in E. St. Louis was the setting for the nuptials on Aug. 12 of Miss Alfreda Foster and Barkley E. Bailey.

The former Miss Foster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Foster of E. St. Louis. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bailey of Madison.

The Rev. Robert Lee Bailey officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with candles and flowers.

The bride wore a white silk dress with a long flowing jacket trimmed in lace. Her bouquet was of carnations, daisies, baby's breath and greenery.

Maid of honor Brenda K. Bailey wore a Nile green silk and chiffon gown. Bridesmaids Shirley Harris, Debra Bailey and Connie Mosby wore identical gowns of kelly green. Each carried bouquets of multi-colored flowers.

Flower girls were Africa Foster and Quiana Mosby. They wore Nile green and white chiffon dresses and carried white carnations in white baskets with green ribbons.

The best man was Richard H. Bailey Jr. Groomsman were Montez Foster, Alfonso Harris and Russell Nolen. Barbara Foster, Yolanda Mosby, Jasper Garmon and Emmanuel Nolen were ushers.

Shelton Harris and Anthony Lee were ring bearers.

A reception was held at the Venice Recreation Hall following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, with a degree in business education. He is employed by the University City School District.

The groom graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a degree in business. He is employed by the Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis.

After a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe, Nev., the couple will reside in Ferguson, Mo.

NOVEMBER BRIDE-ELECT. Miss Mary Earney will become the bride of Mark Earney of Granite City and the late Howard Earney.

Mary Earney to marry

A Nov. 10 wedding is being planned by Miss Mary V. Earney and Mark A. Whitehead.

Miss Earney is the daughter of Mrs. Annie Earney, 2874 Ralph St., and the late Howard Earney. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. C. Earney.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Whitehead, 2900 Whitehead.

The bride-elect graduated from Granite City High School in 1974, where she was president of the Student Council. She is employed as a clerk at Mercantile Bank in St. Louis.

Her fiancé also graduated from South High. He is employed as a draftsman at Alpha Tank in St. Louis.

Garden club picnics in park

The Garden Study Club met at Wilson Park last week for a picnic. A discussion of the flower show to be held Sept. 29 in Collinsville was held.

After the meeting, the members strolled through the park. Those attending were Mrs. Bob Stinson, Mrs. C.E. Eads, Mrs. Carl Housaman, Mrs. Wilma Winter, Mrs. John McCombs and Mrs. Norma Crenshaw.

For the September meeting, the group will join the Gardenaires at Nameoki Recreation Center. Mrs. Housaman will give a demonstration on flower arranging.

National convention will begin here Friday

The Ahmadiyya Movement in Islam, an international religious organization based in Rabwah, Pakistan, will hold its national convention Aug. 31-Sept. 2 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Guest speakers from both eastern and western cultures will discuss the existence of God, life of the holy prophet of Islam, Islam and human rights, laws and regulations of Islam, and other subjects related to the theme, "A Message of Peace."

Munir Ahmad, president of the local chapter which meets at the Sadiq Mosque in St. Louis, said the convention is free and open to the public. Sessions will begin Friday at 2 p.m. in the University Center with the Juma prayer, and continue until 10 p.m.

Meetings will continue Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Sunday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. A news conference to meet international leaders of the Muslim organization attending the conference will be held Friday in the International Room of the University Center.

Books and other literature on Islam and Ahmadiyyat, including prayer caps, will be on display and will be sold while supplies last.

Additional information is available by contacting Ahmad at 314-381-4880. No reservations are required, but overnight accommodations may be desirable, he said.

Music today at Gospel Mission

A special musical program will be presented at 7 p.m. today at the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St., with the public invited to attend.

Featured will be the choir of First Baptist Church in Glen Carbon, under the leadership of Mrs. Everett Hopkins.

Soloists, guitarists and choral numbers will be heard during the musical presentation and meditation period. Mrs. Bethel J. Davis, superintendent of the mission, said.

On Sunday, Dr. George Rosenthal of Belleville, will be the guest minister at 7 p.m.

He has spoken at the Gospel Mission twice each month for the last 37 years, Mrs. Davis noted.

Church school classes are held Sunday morning, starting at 9 o'clock.

Ample parking may be found at the rear of the mission building.

Hessler to leave Nameoki town board

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Norman Hessler, a trustee of Nameoki Township since 1973, resigned that position at Monday night's town board meeting and said he will leave the board as soon as a successor is named.

Hessler said he moved Monday from his home at 2224 Dawn Place and will be residing in Chouteau Township where he is building a new home. In his resignation letter, he said he has enjoyed working on the board under two different supervisors and regrets having to leave.

Hessler received accolades for his service from the trustees, Supervisor Harold Davis, Town Clerk Douglas Teeter, former Supervisor Louis Whitsell and several residents in the audience. He also was honored with several rounds of applause during the comments about his service on the board.

Davis commented, "We regretfully accept your resignation tonight. You have been here a good while. I just don't understand why you have to do this to us."

Hessler said he and his family have resided on Dawn Avenue 13 1/2 years, about half of which he has been a public official. Due to difficulties his wife is experiencing in climbing stairs at their present home, he said it was necessary to move and he found a lot on Morrison Road "across the road from Nameoki Township."

"I have enjoyed working with you people as well as the previous administration and appreciated the opportunity and support from the residents. We had problems at times, but nothing is worthwhile without problems," Hessler said.

Davis commented, "We have a job to do now—fill some big shoes. It will take some deep concentration. We will be glad to listen to anyone who has a recommendation to offer, but it is our decision to make as individuals."

Among those in the audience was Mrs. Helen Hawkins who carried a stack of petitions bearing more than 600 signatures from township residents who support her appointment to the board. The petitions were not presented to the board Monday night, because not all had been notarized, she explained.

Mrs. Hawkins said she feels she deserves consideration, since in the last township election she received more votes than some of the trustees now on the board, but lost in a court challenge of the election results.

Hessler said he will continue to serve on the board under legal advice from Nameoki Township Attorney Irvin C. Slater Jr. that he may stay on the board until a successor is named.

Some residents later expressed concern that Hessler's votes on the board while he is a non-resident of the township may be subject to court challenge if there is a divided vote on an important issue.

Old Scouters reunion

The third annual "Old Scouters Reunion" has been scheduled for Saturday Sept. 29 in area four of Wilson Park from 9 a.m. until everyone gets tired of visiting, according to Ted Scrum and G. Rollin Henn, co-chairmen of the event. To qualify to attend a person must have a minimum of 25 years in the Boy Scouts of America. Persons are to bring their own food and a chair for "sitdown" according to Henn. "Woodbadge" coffee will be provided by the committee, but Scouters are to bring their own cups.

Scouters serving on the committee with Scrum and Henn are: Zane Miller, Ray Gaudette Sr., Floyd Jordan and Mick Strange.

Scouters wishing more information may contact any of the committee members.

New members for Friendly Agers

Fifty-three members of the Friendly Agers assembled at Second Baptist Church for their monthly meeting.

Marie McGovern and Dottie Shuppert were introduced as new members. Harold Garin opened the meeting with prayer and the group sang its theme song.

Special guest Ellis Herring sang "God of Miracles is He," "So Great is His Love" and "His Name is Wonderful." Alice Hoffman sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Fanny Epstein and Naomi Ronney presented readings. The devotional was given by the Rev. Carl Watkins.

Cards and dinners were sent out to the sick. Rev. Watkins offered the closing prayer. Bob's Florist donated the centerpieces for the tables.

Consolation of services to aged sought by U.S.

The Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging (SWIAAOA) has received proposed regulations to implement Title III of the Comprehensive Older Americans Act amendments of 1978 which include major changes in programs funded for the elderly.

Title III is a state-administered grant program with designated area agencies on aging to administer the program at the local level.

Nancy A. Silvers, executive director of SWIAAOA, said this week rules are highlighted by consolidation of social services, nutrition services and multi-purpose senior centers into a single program. Formerly, these services were authorized under separate titles of the act and had separate regulations.

The regulations provide for a new home-delivered meals service which would be available to persons unable to participate in traditional congregate meals services.

There is a provision for the construction of multi-purpose senior centers. Formerly, the law allowed only for acquisition, alteration or renovation of facilities for multi-purpose senior centers.

Under the proposed regulations, the state agency role as an advocate for the elderly has been expanded and includes establishment of a nursing home ombudsman program.

Under the consolidated program, area agencies on aging are responsible for local administration of all Title III services. To promote coordination of services to the elderly, area agencies are to become a focal point for comprehensive service delivery in each community whenever possible.

Regional hearings are being held throughout the U.S. to obtain comments and reactions on the new regulations.

MD skate-a-thon is this weekend

The Stardust Roller Rink, Pontoon Beach, will be among nine area rinks participating in this year's Jerry Lewis Skate-A-Thon for Muscular Dystrophy.

The event, scheduled for Sept. 2 and 3, will involve teams of sponsored skaters, led by a KSLQ disc jockey.

A pre-party will be held at the Stardust on Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m.

This is the fourth consecutive year that the RSRQA has held skate-a-thons for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). Last year, more than $2.3 million was pledged by RSRQA.

This is also the fourth year that KSLQ has been involved with MDA. The station will broadcast from the middle of the skating rink to be set up at Northwest Plaza during the skate-a-thon.

Shelle Hartzel is show's triple winner

Shelle Hartzel riding Van's Ahbi Socks captured triple honors in the point show held at Trailriders Saddle Club last week. The last point show of the year will be held Sunday, Sept. 9, at 1 p.m.

Miss Hartzel won in open bareback pleasure, ladies western pleasure and open western pleasure.

Four riders took double honors. They were: Janetta Bowman riding Charlie, pony poles and pony barrels; Pete Fuller showing Calhoun Royal, halter stallions and men's western pleasure; Larry Weldon on Wide Eyes, senior poles and senior barrels; and Lori Davis on Sugar Babe, junior barrels and junior plug.

Single blue ribbon winners were: Angela Fuller on Cindy, pony pleasure; Tammy Maers on Foxy Flash, halter geldings;

Patricia Bryarly on Ina Tuff Wampy, halter mares; Bill Schneidewind on Tennessee Buck, gaited country pleasure; Mike Bowman on Little Buddy, junior poles.

Dorothy Heiney on Zane's Diamond Head, fox trotting; Carolyn Smith on Wamp's Fine Pine, junior western pleasure; Don James Jr. on Jessie, open flag race; Ginger Bowman on Rex, ladies gaited country pleasure; and Lorraine Leroy on Bambi, senior plug race.

Refrigeration energy meeting at area college

Upwards of a thousand people are expected to attend a statewide seminar on energy conservation sponsored by the Refrigeration Service Engineering Society at Belleville Area College on Oct. 5 and 6.

BAC instructor Al Becker is president of the society this year and is responsible for arranging the events and speakers for the two-day seminar.

Of particular interest to seminar participants will be a solar-assisted heat pump and the teaching of a new method to calculate heat loads.

Emphasis also will be given to energy conservation for defrost systems. "This area is of growing importance with the expanding number of restaurants, as more and more Americans eat out more often," Becker said.

The seminar is open to student members for $2 and to other interested persons—especially contractors, maintenance men and installers—for $5. That fee covers the main program on Saturday, Oct. 6, which starts with triple programming at 9 a.m. and concludes at 4 p.m.

Most members are expected to pay a $2.50 fee, however, and bring their spouses.

A special "art boutique" on Friday afternoon, Oct. 5, at Fischer's Restaurant has been planned for the wives of male members. Floral design, jewelry design, and tiffany glass making will be taught at that time.

On the first evening, certificate and specialty exams will be given to RSES members at Belleville Area College.

Anyone who is not a member of the Society may receive further information concerning the seminar by contacting instructor Al Becker at BAC, 235-2700, Extension 315.

Gardening in September

Area Garden Adviser
September can be a profitable and enjoyable month for the home gardener.

It's the time for harvesting many fruits and vegetables, for making a few last plantings, and for preparing for next year's garden. A few highlights for the month are:

Harvest fruits and vegetables. Early September finds grapes, pears, plums, tomatoes, melons, and many other vegetable crops maturing. This is the time of the year that good culture shows in the harvest.

If you're not satisfied with the quality this year, resolve to do better next year.

Plant some late season vegetables. With good fall growing conditions, there is time to plant and harvest snap beans (50-54 days), beets (52-58 days), leaf lettuce (45 days), radishes (22-25 days), spinach (37-45 days), and turnips (42-45 days).

Unfavorable growing conditions may delay maturity and harvest and mean that a little seed and labor have been lost.

Keep the tomato plants growing. Water, nutrients, and pesticides, especially those for disease control, are needed to keep healthy, fruitful tomato plants until frost. One or two sprays at 10-day intervals should be all that is needed if the water and soil fertility are maintained.

Harvest herbs. Cool, dry September days are ideal for drying leafy plants. Pick the leaves or stems when the dew is off the plant. Wash if the leaves are mud splattered. Otherwise, just tie 10-12 stems or plants in bundles and hang in any airy, warm, dry place.

Cut or kill weeds in the garden. Do this before they make seeds and you will have fewer weeds to fight next year.

Don't rush the pumpkin harvest. Some early-planted pumpkins have turned orange and appear ready for picking. However, barring adverse weather conditions, the live vines in your garden are a better storage place than the porch or basement.

Once the vines die, cut the stem, and store in a cool, dry place.

Tip-layer black raspberries and thornless blackberries for plant increases. The growing tip of shoots can be covered with an inch or two of soil so that new plants will be available for planting next spring.

Build up the compost pile with garden debris. All the spent plant material in the garden can be tossed into the compost pile for decomposition.

Pick apples when mature. This is usually when the ground or undercolor turns yellow or creamy. It is also about the time that stems of healthy fruits separate easily from the spur.

For Southwest Illinois, this period is early September for Jonathan, mid-September for Red Delicious, and late September for Golden Delicious.

1979 is a little later than normal.

Sow a green-manure crop. Ryegrass, annual ryegrass, or oats are good crops to sow on vacant ground to give soil protection, smother weeds, and increase organic matter. Don't prune fruit trees. This is the time of the year that leaves are feeding the roots, so the only pruning that should be done is the removal of broken branches and limbs.

Watch for San Jose scale on fruit trees. If your fruits have small red spots on the skin or if you can see a gray scale on the twigs, mark the trees or area for extra-thorough coverage with the dormant spray next February.

Verify peach borer control. Check peach trees for gum containing sawdust in the crotch area. The sawdust would indicate that borers are present and must be dug out with a knife or wire. Gumming without borer residue probably is cold injury, and nothing can be done now.

Check pumpkins and squash for squash bugs. The grayish black bugs and nymphs feed on both fruits and vines and can destroy the crop. Feed to the vine during the day, so lift up the vines to check for their presence. Carbaryl sprays should do some good.

Trash-to-energy grants

Bi-State Board Chairman Gerald Rimmel announced this week the award of over half a million dollars in grants to Bi-State's trash-to-energy project by the Department of Energy (DOE) and Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The grants allow Bi-State to move into the next phases of implementing what may be the region's growth trash disposal problems. An EPA grant of $86,124 will be applied to Phase I, which is to ultimately result in energy-producing plants fueled by solid waste. This initial stage will require six months to develop a regional long-term strategy and identify the first project or projects.

Also applied to Phase I will be $69,910 of a $459,400 DOE grant.

The balance of the DOE grant, $390,490, will be applied to the second phase which entails procurement of one or more conversion plants.

This second stage will require approximately 24 months to complete, and is to accomplish all the steps leading up to actual construction.

Work on Phase I could begin as early as Sept. 1, in which case Phase II would begin about March 1980.

Construction could then be expected to begin about March 1982, with operation starting in 1984, Rimmel said.

Phelps tour New Brunswick

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phelps, 4909 Warnock St., have returned home from a three-week tour of northeastern states and the Canadian provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

They spent some time visiting their daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. Allen (Phyllis) Holt and sons Greg and Brett of Washington, D.C., and were accompanied by the Holts on the tour.

Some points of interest were a 100 mile trip by ferry from Bar Harbor, Maine, to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia; Lunenburg, Peggy's Cove, Halifax-Dartmouth, Fort Louisbourg, and the Cabot Trail in Nova Scotia.

They also visited New Providence, R.I., Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine, and Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston, Mass.

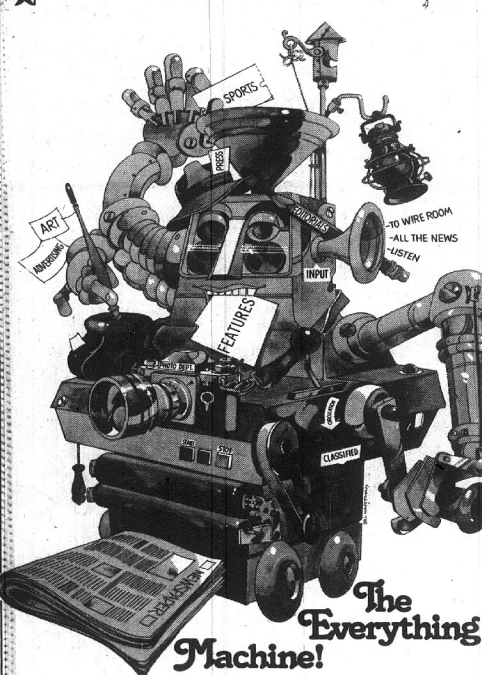

That's right, don't tell anybody about your sale and you're sure to make no sale. In business and in life.

But... you must everybody to know about your big sale and realize your sales. In business and in life.

MR. AND MRS. JEFFREY SMIDDY. They were married July 7 at First Presbyterian Church. The bride is the former Miss Shelley Siebert, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Siebert of Granite City.

Miss Siebert bride of Jeffrey Smiddy

First Presbyterian Church was the scene of the July 7 nuptials of Shelley Marie Siebert and Jeffrey Keith Smiddy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Siebert, 2415 Lincoln Ave. The groom is the son of Mrs. Marilyn Smiddy of Granite City and Philbert Smiddy of Danville, Ill.

The Rev. David Maxton performed the double ring candlelight ceremony before an altar decorated with white bells and blue and white streamers.

Song selections included the Bridal March and "Time is a Healer."

The bride wore a self-designed and made dress of white satin and lace in a hoop style. It featured long lace sleeves and a scoop neckline accented by sequins.

"She wore a veil of three tiers of white netting trimmed in lace and carried red silk roses and white silk carnations with baby breath and red and white ribbon streamers.

Honor attendant Miss Marilyn F. Hall and bridesmaids Shelly Smiddy, the groom's sister, Miss Sherry Siebert, the bride's sister, and Miss Beth Ann Harp, a cousin of the bride, were attired in identically styled gowns made by the bride.

The dresses, made of powder blue silk, were designed with thin shoulder straps and a chiffon cape accented with blue and white flowers.

"Pale blue lace edged the hemlines. They wore picture hats adorned with blue ribbons and white flowers and carried bouquets of blue and white silk carnations with baby breath and blue and white streamers.

Flower girls were Martha L. Kutz, a cousin of the bride, and Janette Hall, a cousin of the groom. They wore powder blue eyelet gowns with puffed sleeves and ruffles at the neckline.

The skirts were full with ruffles at the hemline. They wore veils of blue netting with blue flower headbands. The girls carried white baskets with red rose petals.

Ring bearers were Richard W. Kutz, a cousin of the bride, and Ronald F. Barnes.

The groom chose Kenneth Knott to serve as best man. Groomsmen were Gregory and Mark Smiddy, brothers of the groom, and Mark Siebert, a brother of the bride. Michael Shipley seated the guests.

A rehearsal dinner was held by the bride's parents in their home. A reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Granite City.

The bride graduated from Granite City High School South in 1978.

The groom is a 1977 graduate of Granite City High School South and is employed as a production worker at Olin Corp. in E. Alton.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple is residing in Granite City.

Celebrate 40th year

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reinhardt of 1700 Lindell Boulevard celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at their home in late August.

Guests attending were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Achenbach, and the Achenbachs' two children, Amy and Eric; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stifel and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stifel, of Alton; and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Reinhardt of Granite City.

Ballentines mark 38th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ballentine Sr., 1401 Third St., Madison, celebrated their 38th wedding anniversary, as well as Mr. Ballentine's birthday.

An evening at Crystal Palace Showroom in St. Louis was hosted by the couple's daughter, Maryann Ballentine, also of Madison.

JULY WEDDING. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Stroder exchanged wedding vows at St. John Evangelical United Church of Christ in Collinsville. The bride is the former Miss Susan Wheeler of Collinsville. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stroder, reside in Granite City.

(Hornet Photography)

Stroder-Wheeler vows in Collinsville

Miss Susan Wheeler and Randy Stroder were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony July 28 at St. John's Evangelical United Church of Christ in Collinsville.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Scogin of Collinsville. Mr. and Mrs. William Stroder of Granite City are the parents of the groom.

The church was decorated with large bouquets of flowers and a white seven-branched candelabra.

Traditional wedding music was presented on the organ with Denny Persons singing "Color My World," "If" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore an organza gown trimmed with Chantilly and clooney lace. The dress had a high wedding band collar and shepherdess sleeves with a ruffled cuff.

The flared skirt ended with an attached train with a ruffled hemline. Wide lace trimmed the two-tier fingertip veil, which was secured by a lace headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations surrounded by apricot miniature roses secured with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Linda Seitz, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a sheer apricot gown fashioned with a flowing skirt and a cape. There was a stand-up collar and she wore a matching picture hat. She carried one long-stemmed white rose. Bridesmaids were Connie and Bonnie Stroder, sisters of the groom, Lori Buller and Debra Thorn.

Their dresses were floor length in apricot matching the maid of honor's dress. Each carried a long-stemmed white rose.

Best man was Terry Bax. Groomsmen were Larry Bax, Steve Pinkel, Ronnie Briggs and Larry Wheeler, a brother of the bride.

Carla Birdsong, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. Mike Bradford, a nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

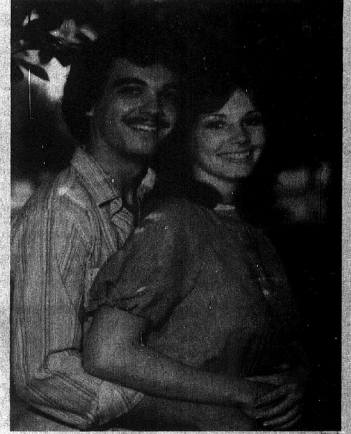

John and Bob Wheeler, brothers of the bride, served as ushers and candlelighters.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Scogin wore a long apricot gown with a white jacket. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Guests attended from Arkansas and Missouri.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Collinsville High School and is employed at Fashion Gal in Granite City. The groom graduated from Granite City High School North in 1976 and is employed at National Lead.

TO MARRY. Miss Dana Elizabeth Marino and Thomas James Gray, who will be married Oct. 10, 1980. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gray of Granite City. The bride elect resides in St. Louis.

(Lazarey Photography)

Gray-Marino betrothal

Miss Dana Elizabeth Marino of St. Louis and Thomas James Gray of Granite City are planning an Oct. 10, 1980 wedding.

The engagement was announced at a dinner at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Marino of St. Louis.

Miss Marino attended

Southwest High School and is employed as a secretary for Sverdrup and Parcel Associates, Inc. in St. Louis.

The groom attended Granite City High School North, and is employed in the scheduling department at Sverdrup and Parcel Associates, Inc.

The wedding will take place at St. Ambrose Catholic Church in St. Louis.

New yearbooks prepared by unit

The Theta Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Jane Yates Sunday.

The group discussed workday, when the budget was approved and yearbooks for the coming year were prepared. This year's theme is "Around the World with Beta Sigma Phi."

Secret sisters were revealed and the social calendar and service projects were approved. The group reviewed summer events, including a barbecue held at the home of Roger and Joyce Tracy and a trip to the Muny Opera.

A luncheon was served by the hostess and Jane Jackstadt, the co-hostess. Those attending were Martha Gianakos, Phyllis Talley, Sandy DeMoulin, Pam Dozier, Linda Givens, Donna Johnson, Debbie Parmley, Judy Reidelberger, Joyce Sullivan, Linda Yates and Joyce Tracy. Mrs. Talley will host the next meeting.

OCTOBER BRIDE-ELECT. Miss Terri Curtis, who is planning an Oct. 6 wedding to William H. Davis of Granite City. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Curtis, 2333 Delta Ave.

Terri Curtis is betrothed

The engagement of Miss Terri A. Curtis and William H. Davis Jr. is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Curtis, 2333 Delta Ave.

The groom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Davis Sr., 2022 Edwardsville Road.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hancock of Granite City have observed their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married Aug. 23, 1929.

Ira Hancocks mark golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hancock, 2830 Iowa St., observed their 50th wedding anniversary last week.

They were married Aug. 23, 1929 in Granite City. Mrs. Hancock is the former Miss Gladys Hewlett.

Mr. Hancock retired in 1974 from Krey Packing Company in St. Louis, where he had been employed 43 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hancock said they attribute their marriage success to trusting in God first and having much love and faith in each other. They are members of Third Baptist Church.

Vision care, other GC Steel benefits

Benefit improvements have been made effective Aug. 1 for hourly employees at Granite City Steel. Most of the improvements were in the pension and group insurance provisions.

A vision care program went into effect for hourly people this month. Details were distributed with paychecks at the first payday in August.

In general, the program provides for at least partial payment for eye examinations and eyeglasses for employees and their dependents.

Vision care claim forms are available at the Employee Benefits office in Works Office No. 1. Instructions on the forms tell how they should be used by the eye examiner and by the eyewear provider. The forms don't go back to G.C. Steel, but are sent by the employee or by an approved "provider" to Prudential Insurance Co.

Those who retired under the minimum pension formula on or after July 31, 1977, will receive another $1 per month for each year of service, effective this month. Someone whose pension is calculated under that formula with 30 years of service will receive $30 more per month.

Life insurance for active employees is increased, effective Aug. 1, by $2,000 over previous amounts. That for retired employees who retire on or after Aug. 1 is increased by $700.

Minor improvements in the hospital plans have been made in various aspects, including physician coverage and major medical.

Accidents and sickness benefits for employees disabled off the job have also been raised.

The old range of weekly payments was from $142 to $198. The payments now will be from $153 to $211 a week.

DELMAR BURGLARY

Items valued at about $15 were stolen from the home of Madie Penrod, 2263 Delmar Ave., while she went out to get a newspaper between 3:30 and 4 p.m. Monday. She said she left a door unlocked while she was gone and later discovered her watch and purse were missing. The purse contained about $20 in cash and change, a checkbook, her eyeglasses and other items.

Arrested in 1977 stabbing

George P. Ford, East St. Louis, who was charged with disobeying a police officer last week found himself this week facing a charge of aggravated battery that dated back to 1977.

Ford allegedly refused to leave the scene of a fight when ordered by Madison police to do so.

Madison Detective Paul Bargiel, while reviewing the reports on the Friday fight in the parking lot of the Greiner apartments, remembered the name George P. Ford and checked the file.

In doing so Bargiel discovered that Ford had never been apprehended in the alleged stabbing of Michael Cobbs at the El Capaloro Lounge in 1977. Ford is now in the Madison County Jail pending posting of $15,000 bond, charged with aggravated battery in the 1977 case and $1,000 bond on the charge of disobeying a police officer in last week's case.

Larson Willis, 21, of 73 Greiner Homes, Madison, is still in St. Elizabeth Medical Center recuperating from stab wounds he received in a fight Friday.

Donnie A. Sherrell, 22, of 124 Carver St., Madison, has been released on $300 cash bond, charged with disorderly conduct, battery and obstructing police. James Wendell Willis, 27, Garesche Homes, Madison, was released on his own recognizance charged with battery. The charges were filed after the incident in which Ford was arrested.

BATTERY ALLEGED

Jimmy D. Castile, 33, of 2117 Dewey Ave., was arrested at his home at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on a battery complaint signed by his wife, April. She alleged he became angry, slapped her face and kicked her legs. Castile was released at 1:25 p.m. Tuesday after posting $35 cash bond.

President of M. C. Slater, Inc., he will be the fall 1979 United Way campaign chairman for the Transportation Division, according to Industry and Construction Group Vice-Chairman Milan J. Chestovich and UAW General Campaign Chairman George J. Knecht. Slater, a member of the Tri-Cities Area United Way board of directors, is in his third year as a drive division chairman.

Late season insect pests

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Garden Adviser Insect infestations of gardens can occur any time of the year, but frequently occur in the fall. This is due in part to the life cycle of the insects and in part to lack of diligence of gardeners.

Insect pests such as cabbage worms, bean leaf beetles and other chewing insects can be controlled once feeding is noticed. This requires continual observing for their presence. Then they are seen, spraying or dusting can begin.

For borer infestations in late corn, tomatoes, peppers and green beans, a preventive program is required. Thus, pesticides such as carbaryl or diazinon must be applied prior to worm penetration into the plant.

If you have had borer problems in previous fall gardens, maintain a 7-10-day interval between pesticide applications for the next couple of weeks.

Vine weeds have become a serious problem in many gardens in recent years. Field bindweed, hedge bindweed, and climbing milkweed are the most prevalent and troublesome.

All three are perennials and propagate both from roots and seeds. Annual morning glory is a pest if it becomes established.

For control, prevent seed formation which follows any flowering that is seen. Any seed that forms should be collected and destroyed. It's best to kill or remove the vines before blooming.

Try to kill or starve the perennial root system. To do this, keep all topgrowth cut off which will tend to hold the weed in check. Any let-up will permit an expansion of the root system and further problems. It may require two years or more to starve out a plant.

Chemical control is possible in some instances, but is usually impractical since the weeds grow among desirable crops.

The most common herbicide for the homeowner would be amines 2,4-D. Use on the vines only in areas where garden crops have been harvested, and prevent drift onto desirable plants.

Nizinskis name first daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nizinski, 19 Snowbird Lane, have chosen the name Amanda Marie for their first daughter, born Aug. 22 at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis. The new arrival weighed six pounds, three and one half ounces at birth. She joins a brother, John, 2 and a half.

Mrs. Ann Nizinski of Madison is the paternal grandmother.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sabol, also of Madison.

CB safety break set for Labor Day weekend travel

The Illinois Free Spirits React Team, including area citizens band radio operators, will operate a "safety break" center during the Labor Day weekend.

The center will be located adjacent to the interstate 270 and highway 111 exit, near Don's Shell service station. It will be in operation from 4 p.m. Friday, Aug. 31, until 4 p.m. Monday, Sept. 3.

The group's aim is to get travelers off the highway long enough to wake them up with a coffee break, according to a group member.

React teams in all parts of the country are using break methods to help prevent accidents.

The project has been approved by Illinois state police and local law enforcement agencies.

The Free Spirits React team will also maintain a monitoring vigil for emergencies on Channel 9 of CB radios at the break site.

Area residents not traveling the highway Labor Day weekend are invited to visit the break center and observe the team, said a group member.

Charles Sparks, 54, dies

Charles H. "Sparkie" Sparks, 54, of Collinsville, the father of a Granite City resident, died Monday in Independence, Mo.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Betty J. (Gola) Sparks; two sons, Charles E. Sparks of Granite City and Michael A. Sparks of Collinsville; one daughter, Mrs. Michael (Barbara J.) Gillespie of Edwardsville; and his mother, Mrs. Naomi Sparks of Collinsville.

Mr. Sparks, who was a veteran of World War II, was employed as service manager at Anthony Chevrolet, St. Louis. He was a member of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Collinsville, Caseyville VFW Post 1117, and the Chevrolet Service Managers Council and Aerospace and Machinists Local 777, District 9, both of St. Louis. Mr. Sparks also belonged to the Greater St. Louis Square Dancing Federation. He was a native of St. Louis. Services were held at 10:30 a.m. today at a Collinsville funeral home with the Rev. Gilbert Busarow officiating. Burial was in Friedens Cemetery, Troy.

Most local schools open

All public and parochial schools in the Quad-City area opened this week, with the exception of Granite City public schools, which will begin classes Wednesday, Sept. 5, with a half-day session scheduled.

Full day classes for public schools in Madison and Venice, as well as for St. Mary's in Madison and St. Mark's in Venice, began yesterday.

St. Margaret Mary, St. Joseph, Sacred Heart and St. Elizabeth Schools will continue on a half-day basis until Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Barbecue for Suburban groups

Suburban Baptist Church classes to which George and Helen Cook and Arley McFall's long combined forces last week for a barbecue.

The event was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cook on Colgate Place.

Mrs. Cook's Easter Class furnished the main dish, with each family providing a covered dish food item.

Prayer was offered and a fellowship hour followed the barbecue.

Among those present were Tom and Sue Teitloff, Frank and Sylvia Owens, Roy and Jean Fisher, Susie Horton, Judson Clement, Evelyn

ZONING HEARING

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold an on-site public hearing at 4256 Division St. near Pointon Beach, where William Smith and Richard and Tammy Smiley are seeking a special use permit to place a mobile home. The property is in an R-3 single-family residential district of Nameeki Township.

GERALD F. HALL of Granite City. He has joined the Account Service Department of D'Arcy-MacManus & Masius, St. Louis, as an account supervisor in the agency's Grocery Products Group. A 15-year advertising veteran, Hall joins DM&M from the Seven-Up Co., where he was the 7-Up market development manager. Prior to that, Hall spent six years with DM&M-St. Louis as an account supervisor on a variety of package goods accounts including Chicken of the Sea tuna and several Ralston Purina products. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, where he earned a master's degree in marketing and a bachelor's degree in radio-TV journalism.

Motor fuel tax share

Illinois municipalities have been allotted $10,144,925 as their share of motor fuel tax paid into the state treasury during July, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation. Motor fuel tax funds are allocated monthly to the various municipalities in Illinois for their streets and highways. The monies allocated are computed on the basis of population. Allotments to local communities included $42,758 to Granite City, $7,212 to Madison and $4,792 to Venice.

July motor fuel tax payments to counties in Illinois totaled $3,775,814, of which Madison County received $145,874. Townships and road districts throughout the state received a total of $3,284,419. Of the amount, $24,274 went to townships and road districts in Madison County.

Truck incident leads to arrest

Receiving a report that a pickup truck was cruising around the 1700 block of Ferguson Avenue and had stopped beside a white station wagon to let a passenger alight, brought police to the scene who arrested the operator of the vehicle, Robert L. Wallace, 28, of 3701 Johnson Road. A second man, who had got out of the truck allegedly carrying two cans, fled from the area when the police vehicle arrived. Wallace was charged with disorderly conduct and improper display of license plates.

Small pet deer stolen from yard

A 3-month-old deer, 24 inches high, was stolen from a fenced yard at the home of Wade Whitford, 2404 Dewey Ave., he reported Monday. The gates to the yard were open and a collar that was worn by the deer was found. A man, questioned in connection with the deer's disappearance, reported seeing someone walking in the small pet along the alley in the early hours. An investigation is continuing.

After the river trip, Washington debate on energy

Comment by Washington Report—"If you've made plans for Thanksgiving or Christmas, better cancel them now," is the advice House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill gave staff members before the start of Congress' August recess.

When Congress returns to Washington on Sept. 5, representatives and senators will find their in-boxes piled high with legislation. Members will be busy trying to sort out the complex and conflicting energy and economic problems.

They also will find newspapers stacked high and loaded with reports of President Carter's Mississippi riverboat trip during which he frequently chided the lawmakers for their inaction on energy legislation.

Add up all of this and you can expect legislative fireworks before the year's end.

But do not look for Congress to pass anything in sight. The 96th Congress was elected at the height of the nation's tax revolt fever.

This Congress is living up to its advance billing as conservative. Thus far, it has passed fewer major bills—in fact, it has voted on fewer bills—than almost any Congress in memory.

The 1980 elections are not far away, and the House and Senate are under almost all 435 representatives will have to withstand the scrutiny of a disgruntled public. In the Senate, 29 incumbents will try to hold their seats; 22 of them are Democrats.

O'Neill and Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd will try to schedule as few controversial votes as possible to protect their party's majority in both houses of Congress.

When Congress does get down to work, energy will be one of the issues dominating its attention. Pres. Carter outlined a dozen legislative proposals last month aimed at cutting by half U.S. dependence on foreign oil by the end of the next decade.

In the wake of the president's plan, congressional committees began working on scores of related, but often strikingly different, bills. However, by the time Congress went on recess, it had enacted none of these measures.

The key element in the White House package, one Congress cannot duck, is the excise tax on domestic oil.

The money that would be raised through this levy would finance the administration's synthetic fuels development program.

The 60 percent excise tax voted by the House is the smallest tax the chief executive considers acceptable. But the Joint Committee on Taxation, which is talking about seeking up more than $40 billion in revenues from oil producers, money that otherwise could be used for exploration and development.

The windfall profits tax will be the first order of business next month for the Senate Finance Committee. Chairman Russell Long promised to have that legislation, in some form, on the president's desk by Oct. 1.

Many committee members appear to be looking skeptically at the tax. The panel already is talking about exceptions for new oil, and for secondary recovery, tertiary recovery, and stripper wells. Some members also want exemption for small independent producers, and an earlier termination of the tax. Look for a major, and an early, battle.

Congress may take up the administration's plan to create an Energy Security Corp.—an $88 billion project to oversee production by 1990 of the equivalent of 2.5 million barrels a day of synthetic fuels. A big price tag and uncertain feasibility have given this proposal a lukewarm reception in Capitol Hill.

Any study measure that makes it to the Senate floor probably will call for a two-stage program. First would be construction of a full-scale pilot plant for each major synthetic production process. Next would come further congressional study, followed by more funding for the best prospects.

Congress may act quickly on the proposal to set up an Energy Mobilization Board geared to cutting through federal, state and local government red tape slowing construction of energy producing facilities. Differences here between Capitol Hill and the White House center on how much power the agency should have.

Congress also will consider other energy ideas, including creation of an Energy Security Trust Fund, revisions to foreign tax credits for oil producers, standby gasoline rationing, emergency energy conservation authority, conservation tax credits and other measures.

The same issue also included a bill that would be prepared prior to the deadline. Deadlines come mighty quickly due to the heavy production schedule that has developed for the large oil and coal companies. But all news staff members pitched in to write the many death notices and obituaries, and the press was rolling well before lunchtime.

There is no joy in reporting sad news, but it is a vitally-needed service to tell readers of the deaths that have occurred, and to let them know the latest possible news. It isn't enough to tell just part of what has happened, or to relay only the news that is convenient to the audience.

Thoroughness is important if the public is to be fully informed—and if individuals and families are to have the knowledge necessary to cope with life's challenges in a rapidly changing and numerous national and regional problems.

There's a lot of good news to report, too, and we highly value the fun and the creative feeling that we find in our work.

Our job is far from easy, if it's done right, but we happily pledge ourselves to the task. We are inseparably attached to this, our home community, and we're mighty glad that the community feels the same way about us.

New corporate roles for friends of the Quad-Cities

Quad-Cityans congratulate Howard M. "Pete" Love on his election this month by the board of directors as chief executive officer of National Steel Corporation.

Currently president of National Steel, he will add the chief executive title effective March 1, 1980. He will continue to serve as chief operating officer until that date.

George A. Stinson, now chairman and chief executive officer, will be 65-years-old next Feb. 11. He will continue as chairman of the board after March 1, 1980.

Both men have wide acquaintance in the local area and have proven to be warm friends of the Quad-Cities and its metropolitan area.

Mr. Love, in addition, knows this region due to his service as president of Granite City Steel from early 1972 until December, when he was named to his current corporate presidency. National Steel acquired Granite City Steel in the fall of 1971.

Chairman Stinson and President Love have worked closely together and have ably shouldered the considerable responsibilities placed on their shoulders.

The Quad-City community is proud that the corporation they have led to unparalleled growth and diversification will continue to be one of the most alert and progressive of the world's steelmaking giants.

TAVERN SUE

David E. Fitch has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court against Lewis Phillips as owner of Stieb's Tavern. The suit alleges that on Oct. 13, 1978, patrons were served liquor, became intoxicated and began fighting using knives, broken glass and other sharp items.

During the scuffle, Fitch was beaten, stabbed and cut, the suit alleges. It seeks in excess of $15,000 in each of two counts.

Doubts motive for contribution

concerned with anyone's friendship.

All that he and National Steel have in mind is to make money, at any cost.

So, when a recent news article stated that National Steel would pay for the principal and interest on the 19th Street overpass at a cost of $1.3 to $1.7 million, it was no surprise because, after all, they are doing it only to maintain the long-lasting friendship with our community.

What a farce, and in the name of friendship and community interest, no less.

Elizabeth Street repairs needed

opinion, this job could be accomplished by sending one or even two men to study the problem.

We personally are all for cable TV and a better alarm system for the residents of the city of Madison, but we are also concerned with this flooding problem that has plagued the residents on Elizabeth Street for several years.

We would like to see this condition taken care of. THOMAS R. GEORGE, DEBBIE GEORGE, VALERIE JO GRZYWACZ, RON GRZYWACZ, RICHARD ESSINGTON, NEECEY ESSINGTON, TIM KARIUS, FRANK MADRUSIS, JUDY MORRIS, FORREST FRIEND, GERY FRIEND, EMIL MEJASKI, ANN MEJASKI.

It is quite ironic that the mayor can find extra money to finance this trip to Florida, but cannot find the money to repair the alley and storm sewers in the 1700 block of Elizabeth St. that floods the residents' yards every time there is a heavy rain.

As residents and taxpayers of the city of Madison, we find it very unreasonable that he has to send himself and three other men to Florida where, in our

Mrs. Geraldine Walker dies

Mrs. Geraldine F. (Merz) Walker, 75, of Port Walton Beach, Fla., formerly of Granite City, died following a brief illness at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday at the U.S. Air Force Hospital at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

She had been hospitalized two weeks.

Mrs. Walker was a Granite City resident about 65 years. She left here in 1965, moving to Wood River, where she lived for two years before going to Florida.

She resided in Port Walton Beach for eight years and was visiting her son, USAF Major Harry W. Walker, at Edwards Air Force Base when she became ill.

Mrs. Walker was a beautician and owned and operated a beauty salon on Niedringhaus Avenue for a number of years.

She was born in Irving, Ill., and was a member of St. John United Church of Christ and the Order of Eastern Star.

Her husband, U.S. Army Major Harry W. Walker (ret'd), died in 1966.

Her parents, Lester and Dorothy (Beck) Merz, and a brother, Frederick Merz, also preceded her in death. Beside her son, Mrs. Walker is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mable (Evelyn) Winterbauer of West Palm Beach, Fla.; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are listed in the obituary column elsewhere in this issue.

Schools' predictions inaccurate?

To the Editor: As a resident and teacher in this community, I would like to comment on the remarks made by the board of education's chief negotiator, Attorney Harold Baker, in the Thursday, Aug. 23, issue of the Press-Record.

Mr. Baker states that "if the board conceded to these demands, it would cost the taxpayer who owns a home approximately $160 per year."

Before homeownere became too concerned, I would like to point out that the board has a dismal record in the field of predicting the future.

Earlier this year, the board "predicted" a deficit of $2,000,000. In fact, the actual deficit for 1978-79 was less than $1,000,000.

They missed that one by over $1,000,000.

Two years ago, the board predicted that Stallings School would need to remain open because of the growth anticipated in that area.

Later, they changed their minds on this issue and closed three schools.

Every year, the school administration is unable to predict the staffing needs for the following school year.

The result is that large numbers of teachers are dismissed every year and must go through the agony of waiting for the school district to make up its mind about whether to rehire them.

While Mr. Baker's $160 figure is assured of commanding the attention of the community's homeowners, this prediction is just as misleading and inaccurate as the administration's past attempts at prophecy.

Mr. Baker's statement includes, "The board's prior offer had been an average salary increase of $735."

This amounts to an increase of about three to four percent at a time when inflation is about twelve percent.

Teachers can't afford to accept an eight percent cut in their purchasing power again this year, after losing 25 percent in the last five years alone.

To be blunt, I feel we teachers are performing a valuable service in this community and are worth more.

For example, the standardized test scores earned by students in this district are consistently higher than state and national averages.

This is an excellent school system, but to remain so, it must be retrained and retain excellent teachers.

I hope the community agrees.

It is impossible for satellite photos or ground-based sensors to tell us which missiles are MIRVed (multi-warheads), how many warheads there are per missile, what are the ranges of the missiles, and how many SS20s have SS16 third-stage in storage.

The SS20 can deliver three warheads at an intermediate range. It is excluded from Salt II.

The SS20 can be converted to an intercontinental range SS16 in a matter of hours by strapping on a third stage.

Salt II fails, rather than succeeds, in negotiating important technical details.

What is a "heavy bomber"? The treaty does not define this term although it is used frequently. Evidently the B-1 and B-52 bombers are "heavy bombers" and yet the Backfire—functionally a "light bomber"—than either of ours is not.

What is a "new" ICBM? By simply claiming that a new weapon is a "modification," Salt II can be circumvented because a new ICBM, although used in the treaty, is not defined.

What is the "radius of action" of the Backfire bomber (range now 5,500 miles) that is refused in flight) that Brezhnev promises us will not be increased?

It is also dangerous folly to rely on the "overkill" myth. It is correct to say that we have enough nuclear weapons to destroy the Soviets 30 times over. The problem is that they have to get them to us.

At present "détente" levels of nuclear arms, the Soviets could launch a first-strike attack, knock out 95 percent of our nuclear arms, and still have more strategic weapons left than we started with.

Because of the Salt I ABM Protocol, our cities and industrial centers are unprotected.

In the tragic scenario just recited, a retaliatory U.S. second strike would take out approximately 10 percent of the Soviet Union population (less than Soviet losses in World War II) because of their $10 billion civil defense system.

Then, a Soviet second strike would kill 100 to 150 million Americans.

This theory of deterrence is aptly labeled MAD, which inappropriately stands for Mutual Assured Destruction. The destruction is assured.

I urge all Americans to carefully guard our freedom by urging rejection of the ill-advised and fatally flawed Salt II Treaty.

Carter for 'phased surrender'

but it would surely not be mutual.

The alternative to MAD is "Launch on Warning." MAD is a policy of pre-emptive disarmament by unilaterally disarming ourselves.

We cut the ABM and the B-1 bomber, postponed the neutron bomb, and delayed the M-X missile.

In the face of our $60 billion cut in defense spending during the years 1980-1985, the Soviets have increased their spending by $45 billion.

Carter's promise of the M-X missile system is "a day late and a dollar short."

The M-X is not deployable until 1986—but experts estimate that the Soviet would reach total superiority over our current arms between 1982 and 1985.

This, of course, assumes Carter will keep his M-X promise better than his cruise missile promise.

Carter promised to build a long-range "cruise" in 1980. If Congress cut the B-1, Carter refused to go ahead with a long-range cruise missile.

No reasonable person is anxious to see the threat of war increased. However, war is only the second worst activity of mankind.

The worst is the giving away of one's freedom.

I urge all Americans to carefully guard our freedom by urging rejection of the ill-advised and fatally flawed Salt II Treaty.

$125,000 judgment affirmed

The Fifth District Appellate Court has rejected an appeal by Granite City and affirmed a Circuit Court judgment of $125,000 in favor of Mary Baker of Granite City who was injured in a fall from a street.

The plaintiff in the case alleged she suffered severe back injuries from a fall which was caused by a crack in the sidewalk.

Irvin State Jr., assistant city attorney, represented the city in the case.

not believe a further appeal would be advisable.

The court, however, voted to instruct State to file a motion for leave to file an appeal with the Illinois Supreme Court.

The plaintiff in the case alleged she suffered severe back injuries from a fall which was caused by a crack in the sidewalk.

Cougars open exhibition season tonight

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — The soccer team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will play three exhibition games this week, starting with Thursday's match with the Blackpool, England, contest at Cougar Field. Opening kickoff is scheduled at 5 p.m. (NOTE: This is a change from the earlier announced starting time of 6 p.m.).

The following day, the Wheaton (Illinois) College Crusaders are calling for a game starting at 4 p.m. Wheaton is usually a powerhouse in the National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics. Saturday, Coach (Assistant) Rick Benben's varsity will entertain the University's Alumni Club beginning at 1:30 p.m. The SIUE kickers, in exhaustive drills the past two weeks, have fared well in a pair of tough exhibition games, tying Meramec Community College of St. Louis, 1-1, and defeating a very strong Florissant Valley eleven this past Saturday, 3-0, on goals by Jeff Cacciatore, Don Ebert and reserve striker, sophomore Morris Mwongo of Kenya, Africa. Another foreign player, young (17) Stuart Stevenson of Scotland, was scheduled to join the Cougars, Tuesday (Aug. 28). A forward, he is expected to add even more power to the already potent SIUE offensive strength.

The Cougars will be drawn top billing along with St. Louis University and Brown U. for appearances on nationwide television this season. Each of the trio will be featured in three games to be broadcast by the ESPN (Entertainment and Sports Programming) Network. In all, ESPN will televise 18 collegiate soccer games nationally this campaign. The games, all to be televised locally (the St. Louis area), will be carried over ALTON's Cablevision System. The system has more than 900 subscribers. The schedule of collegiate soccer games to be televised was announced in the current National Collegiate Athletic Association news magazine.

The Cougars will be spotlighted first on their upcoming western trip when they play Seattle Pacific College of Seattle, Wash., Tuesday, Sept. 11, in a game slated to start at 8:30 p.m. Pacific Coast time (10:30 p.m. Central time).

Alton system will carry that contest on a delayed basis, Saturday, Sept. 15 at 4 p.m. Central Daylight Savings time. The game will be played at the San Francisco Friday night at 7:30 Coast time. The Cougars' third TV appearance will be against St. Louis U. in the two powerhouses' traditional battle for the Bronze Boot, Friday night, Nov. 2, at St. Louis' Busch Memorial Stadium, starting at 7:30 p.m. The series is now even at 3-3.

Cougar soccer fans got some additional good news over the past weekend. Their veteran coach, Bob Guelker, who underwent triple bypass coronary heart surgery two weeks ago, returned home Saturday.

THE RETURN of the magnificent seven minus two? No, it's five members of the Granite City North cross country team as they worked out yesterday in preparation for the fall season. North and South highs will be only two of many schools in the area that will open their cross county seasons shortly. The scheduled opener for North is Sept. 8 when it hosts its own invitational meet. From left, Alan Huff, Bruce DeKuntz, Paul Hoosier, Greg Jackson and Caery Schaefer.

GC harriers plodding along

Houston returns to lead South

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Although one of the Granite City South Warrior's two cross-country runners who finished first and second in last year's regional meet has graduated, coach Dick Harmon thinks he has the talent to adequately fill-in.

The two were Dave Houston and Dave Taylor. Taylor has graduated, but Houston, a senior this year, remains. And Harmon thinks he can find help from among the 18 runners who showed up for practice on Aug. 15.

The Warriors lost three other seniors to graduation besides Taylor. But Harmon said the younger runners and seniors out for the first time lay-off would effect Giesler's progress. Joining that nucleus, South's Jeff Taylor, a junior, should be another strong runner. "He's had some problems in practice," Harmon said, "but he should come around and help us."

Returning seniors Mike Peper and Joe DeRuntz should also help the Warriors. Harmon said both looked improved from last year. Mike Gardner and Wally Fenton weren't out last year, but Harmon is hoping both seniors can develop rapidly for the Warriors. Harmon is impressed by both in practice.

Among the younger Warriors, Harmon looks for sophomores Dave McClain and Jim McQuaine and freshmen Tom Paul and Joe DeShon to continue to perform well as they have in practices so far.

A new facet of South cross-country is a girls team. Last year the girls ran with the boys team but didn't compete in the meets.

This year there will be a girls conference, with a state tournament in post-season. Harmon is currently coaching both teams, but expects to have an assistant to handle the girls' squad soon.

Interest among female runners has been somewhat limited so far, according to Harmon, but he expects it pick up once school begins.

Robinson optimistic about North

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Pete Robinson feels his Granite City North cross country team has come a long way since last season, despite losing his top runner from last season and having only one senior on his team.

Robinson, the head cross country coach at North, will have a young group of harriers to work with this season. But nonetheless, he has been impressed by their pre-season workouts thus far. "We've looked very strong," he said. "There are a few guys on the team who have been putting in a lot of miles of work this summer getting ready. It shows."

The back bone of the Steelers this season will most likely be Bruce DeRuntz. "He's heads and shoulders above anybody else on the team right now," said Robinson. "But not so much that he's not going to be pushed pretty hard by a couple of guys later in the season."

Two of the athletes Robinson expects to challenge DeRuntz later in the season are Alan Huff and Caery Schaefer.

"Alan has made a great improvement over the summer," said Robinson. "I'd have to say to most improvement of anyone on the team."

Rounding out Robinson's top five runners will probably be sophomore Greg Jackson and junior Mike Robinson (the coach's son).

Coach Robinson said he's also been blessed with a "good crop of incoming freshmen." The future appears bright down the road to Robinson.

In addition, Jeff Joyce, a senior who played soccer the past three years and began this season with the soccer team, has decided to switch to cross country.

Robinson has six girls out for the team this season. "We are supposed to have a girls team this season," he said. "Right now, we don't have a separate schedule for them, but they run with the guys and hold their own."

The top girl on the squad is Bonnie Williams, who also competes on the girls track team as one of the top female distance runners in the area.

North is now involved in two-a-days workouts, at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. "We're trying to establish a base from which to work," said Robinson. "We have to get a lot of miles in, know who can do what and go from there. We try to get in at least 10 miles a day."

Mary Mornings, Robinson takes his team to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to run on the hills of that campus. "It takes a lot out of them," he said. "But they need to work out on hills, and we don't have any at North."

North will host its annual invitational meet Sept. 8, hosting some 22 teams from all over Illinois. "This is, I feel, one of the best meets around," said Robinson. "Some of the best teams from the north will be here and some of the best from the south."

Robinson mentioned teams like Peoria Central and Springfield Lanphier from the north and Mount Vernon and Centralia from the south.

Hayes wins T-C Midget race

By JOE SENTER
for the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Gary Hayes won the 25-lap midget race car feature at the Tri-City Speedway last night with a large turnout of 84 midgets running a double header program with the A.M.A. motorcycles. The mighty midgets, running under the I.M.C.A. banner, found the quarter-mile dirt track to the liking of Hayes from Beckley, Mo.

Driving the No. 94 car powered by the George Egan Kwik-Way Machine Co. Hayes' car was chief-mechanized by Roy Wilson doing the chassis work and owner George Egan taking care of the horsepower end.

Hayes has been driving night midgets race cars for four years and has showed a great talent for the cars. Starting on the front row pole with Jerry Russell on the outside grabbed the lead in the 1st turn and led until lap 5, when a yellow flag came out for Dean Shirley of Springfield, Ill. When he lost a lug into turn No. 3 and got out into the grassy infield. At the same time John Ritchie of Granite City lost his No. 56 mount. Going out into the grass in the No. 3 turn, Shirley got restarted to finish the race but Ritchie was unable to restart.

Neither driver was hurt. On the restart, Hayes again took the lead until lap No. 9, when Randy Durbin spun his No. zero-seven car in the No. two turn and Nick Gomerick of Belleville, Ill. clipped Durbin's car, causing Gomerick to take a series of very bad end over end flips, getting very high in the air and losing his tail section of the car as well as the fuel tank. But Nick walked away unhurt from his S.O.S. garage-sponsored car.

Again on the restart it was Hayes for the balance of the 25-lap race for the checkered flag.

Jon Backlund from St. Charles, Mo., driving the Art Range Senco Chevy, finished second and Perry Wentz came in third. Kenny Schrader was fourth.

Labor Day night there will be a special late model stock car race at the Speedway. Friday and Saturday, Sept. 7th and 8th will be the first annual sprint car nationals.

over 700 pounds, warms up for a workout with weights around 135 to 150 pounds.

Powerlifting — 'You have to be eclectic'

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — When Curt Mathes, a 275-lb. gent with a thick reddish-brown beard and overstuffed shirt sleeves, says things like, "You have to be pretty eclectic in powerlifting," the conversation, indeed the whole room, tends to momentarily stand still.

It's not Mathes' appearance, or the fact that he is the coach of the Granite City YMCA powerlifting team, or even words like eclectic (meaning "diverse") that cause these pauses — at least none of these alone.

It is a combination of the curious contradictions, of the elements of Mathes' personality and life-style that can make acquaintances stop and notice.

Fully clothed, Mathes' appearance might not be all that impressive.

But as the eye travels upward it comes to rest on a well-developed upper torso extending to arms rounded and bulging.

To appreciate Mathes' body, it must be seen in weight-lifting garb. Straining under a sagging, weight-loaded bar in snapshots, the powerful force and strength in Mathes' muscular frame — especially his trunk-like legs — is easily apparent.

But more than the obvious features common to any man who has been laboring under huge amounts of iron for 10 years, as has Mathes, there are other notable qualities to Mathes besides his body.

Most notably his face. It is framed by the beard and wavy hair of the same color. This accents the intensity in his eyes.

It may be that 10 years ago, as a freshman at SIUE, this intensity wasn't present. It may be that at that point when Mathes began developing his then 145-lb. body, he was also beginning to build up the desire and single-mindedness his eyes reflect.

"Mentally, weight lifting is rough," Mathes said. "Each year you've got to lift more than you did the year before. There's a cycle. Each year you have to work up to your peak, and then after you reach it you have to start building for the next year. The pressure gets pretty great."

Mathes, along with the other members of the YMCA team, are at in the basement of the Granite City YMCA three nights a week, in a room that looks as if the interior was decorated by the Marquis De Sade.

It's there they pursue that peak of conditioning that seems to obsess the lifters.

"Beginning lifters get obsessed," Mathes said. "Because they're so eager to improve. As you're in it for a while you begin to realize that the only way to reach goals is to constantly work. The goals are more satisfying that way unless you're in it for vanity."

Approached from any perspective, powerlifting is perhaps the most individualistic of sports. Competition, even in meets, is a matter of testing oneself against the inanimate metal. The greatest satisfaction for the athlete is conquering the yet greater weight. A most individualistic kind of satisfaction.

It's a measure of machismo and test of ego. "I'd say that a lifter certainly has a bigger ego than a regular athlete," Mathes said. "But there's so much ego you can have. A good lifter has a more controlled ego though than most athletes, because he has only one chance to prove himself."

Mathes should know what qualifies a good lifter has. The record shows that he is a very good lifter.

In two meets recently held a week apart, Mathes' combined totals was 3,625 lbs. In the first of these two meets, at Little Rock, Ark., he missed an unofficial world record in the squat lift event by just pounds after he blacked out on his third and final attempt.

A week later in Overland, Mo. he surpassed the world record with a squat of 745 lbs., but again it was an unofficial record.

At 27, Mathes figures to reach his competitive peak in about 10 more years. At age 37, the age when most men's athletic ability have long since started to slide, Mathes hopes to have reached the top of his

"The age of lifters seem to be pushing back," he said. "The world champion right now is 44-years-old. I've read some things about it and one of the factors seems to be that as you get older, your body needs more nutrients so that while you can eat less you can work more."

Mathes' approach to his sport is filled with such theories. He can explain the physical properties of weight lifting complete with the principals of bar trajectory and other equally technical analysis.

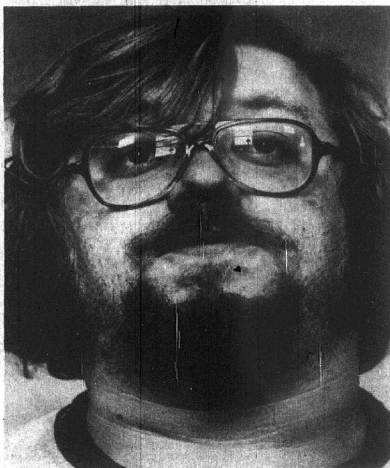

This may be a carry-over from his academic pursuit — primatology. He is a few hours away from completing a master's degree at SIUE. For the moment though, Mathes is uncertain about his future employment. He has given thought to teaching, and some more to coaching.

His brother Greg is also a member of the YMCA team. Currently he works as a member of a construction crew. It allows him, he said, to work his schedule around his weight lifting.

That would probably be a requirement of any future job, regardless which of the many areas of his interest he decides to concentrate on.

Mathes is, after all, a very eclectic man.

Commentary

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
Just prior to the opening of Spartacade, the Russian's answer to the Pan-American Games, a CBS radio report filled from Moscow illustrated some of the hypocrisy of the American view of international sport. The commentator told of a Russian sprinter, who, nearing his 30th birthday, was pushing the limits of his waning talents in order to take part in the 1980 Olympic Games.

The point the commentator drew from this bit of information was that the athlete was only interested in retaining his elevated economic and social status his athletic talents had brought him.

He was, the commentator said, loathe to giving up a better-than-most apartment, a new car, and high rank in the Soviet Army.

The report was based on an interview from Pravda, the Soviet News Agency, and political propaganda organ, which quoted the athlete as saying he wanted to have another chance to prove himself in Olympic competition.

The commentator, recognizing pure propaganda when he read it, looked beyond the surface and saw the truth — the athlete was being downright greedy, almost capitolistic. The sentiment in this report struck me as ironic, but it seems this is typical of the American view of international sports — especially where communist countries are concerned. To believe that the iron curtain countries don't violate almost every covenant of Olympic anti-professionalism, to say nothing of the spirit of the Olympics, would be a naive view of the thinly-veiled attempts those nations use to hide it. But if you smell hypocrisy, its source may be closer to home than the CBS radio reporters of the world would have you think. That same quote in Pravda could have been attributed to one of our good old American professional athletes. The ones who pull down those multi-figured salaries, and hope to stick around just one more year because, after all, the legs still haven't gone yet. The difference, of course, is money — the professionalism it brings, and the amateurism it kills. At least in this country the issue of pay for play is above board, out in the open. But how much chance is there of an American almost from the cradle, dream of the day when they will be members of the local pro team. Much the same way, one suspects Russian youths of aspiring to the Olympics. Many say the problem would be done with if only the archaic International Olympic Committee would lift its ban of professional athletes from the games. But how much chance is there of an American professional athlete of competing in the Olympics, say on a leave of absence from his regular employment? The appeal of patriotism seems little inducement to modern athletes such as a Pete Rose, who sold more than a decade of loyalty to the Cincinnati Reds for $800,000. The issue is not one of morality. It is a cultural difference, and historically that leads to political differences. The aim of Russian athletics is the Olympics. American athletes want to be Pete Rose. So in order to save international athletic face and keep pace with the Russians, East Germans, and Rumanians, America has launched its own youth training system. In fact, four Granite City youths participated in the second annual National Sports Festival recently in Colorado. In the reports from the Festival there was no mention of the better athletes receiving better treatment than the rest, but given time maybe the young Pete Roses will have an alternative to professional athletics. The Olympic games.

SIU tickets on sale

CARBONDALE — Tickets for the upcoming 1979 Southern Illinois University-Carbondale football season are now on sale.

The SIU Sahkiks will have six home games this season, including a long-awaited contest Sept. 29 with defending National Division II champion Eastern Illinois University. Also on the home schedule are Southwest Louisiana (Sept. 8), Illinois State (Oct. 6), Wichita State (Oct. 13), Indiana State (Nov. 3) and defending All Valley Conference champion New Mexico State (Nov. 17). Last season, SIU handed New Mexico State its only conference loss of the season, 43-39 at SIU's McAndrew Stadium.

Season tickets for all home games at Mandrewe Stadium are available for $30 for the general public, $26 for SIU-C alumni and $21 for members of the SIU-C faculty and staff. All checks should be made payable to SIU Men's Athletics and sent to: Ticket Office, Men's Athletics, SIU Arena, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, Ill. 62901.

Those wanting further information about tickets may contact Neoma Kinney at 1-652-5319.

Special promotional days will also be featured this year at all Saluki home games. Sept. 8 against Southwest Louisiana will be "T-Shirt Day." Sept. 29 against Eastern will be "Parents Day." Oct. 13 against Wichita State will be "SIU Homecoming."

Nov. 3 against Indiana State will be "Fan Appreciation Day," and Nov. 17 against New Mexico State will be "High School Recognition Day."

Mays at track

COLLINSVILLE — "Say Hey" Willie Mays, baseball's newest member of the Hall of Fame, will be the honored guest for the East St. Louis Metro-Area Homecoming festivities, Thursday evening, Aug. 30, at the Fairmount Park race track, Collinsville. ## YCA powerlifters show strength

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
OVERLAND, MO. — The Granite City YCA powerlifting team's completion of its second meet in two weeks is in itself noteworthy. The fact that individuals on the team set over 50 personal records in the meets is attests to the team's ability.

In the world of powerlifting organized competition is an almost hallowed experience. The hours of preparation for a meet are probably unmatched in any other sport.

That's why the YCA team's two-meet-week is unusual. "We usually only go to about four meets during the year," the team's 275-lb. entrant and coach Curt Mathes said. "But we had never entered two meets so close together, and we just wanted to find out if we could do it."

The most recent competition the powerlifters were involved with was Aug. 19 at the Northwest County YMCA in Overland, Mo. The meet was the Ozark Powerlifting Championships, and the YCA team was one of six squads involved.

At Overland, the lifters recorded three first place finishes, one second, and two third place victories.

In addition, individually, 30 personal best performances were turned in by members of the YCA team.

Among these were Curt Mathes' squat lift of 745 lbs. The lift was an unofficial world's record, but because the weight lifted was in pounds instead of kilograms it won't be regarded as an official record. It was, however, a national best.

Mathes' total weight lifted for the day in the bench press, deadlift, and squat was 1825 lbs., which qualifies Mathes for a Master's Classification in the YCA.

Rick Wickham, qualified for an Elite Classification Patch for his 1710 lbs. total in the meet.

Overall, the Granite City YMCA team finished second in the Ozark Championship behind Bodybuilders Inc., a squad consisting of combined St. Louis area teams.

It's ironic that they had a combined team," Mathes said. "The Spartan Health Club team from Granite City was also at the meet, and if the two Granite teams had combined it may have helped."

The previous weekend the Granite City YMCA team traveled to Little Rock, Ark., where it competed in the Mid-Central Open. With a squad reduced in numbers because of preparation for the Ozark Championships, YMCA team members again established several personal records. In all, 27 personal bests were recorded.

In this meet Curt Mathes gave a preview of things to come with a 735-lb. squat lift. His attempt to go on a squat of 760 lbs., an unofficial world record, resulted in a near-miss.

Mathes' total weight lifted in the meet was 1800 lbs.

game will face the loser of Granite's Confectionery's first round game Friday at 8 p.m.

The championship game of the women's Tournament is scheduled for Sept. 1 at 8 p.m. If the team coming out of the loser's bracket wins that game, a second one will be played immediately after.

In the Men's Tournament, the championship game is scheduled for Sept. 1 at 8 p.m. at the West Granite Park field. If the team from the loser's bracket wins, the second game will follow immediately after.

Both the Men's and The Women's tournaments are double-elimination. In the loser's bracket of the Women's Tournament, the loser of the Misfits-Mitchell Athletic Club game will play the loser of the Dupo Florist-G&G Car Wash game Friday at 7 p.m. The winner of that

Tonight in the Men's Tournament, P and S Tire will play Quad City Businessmen at Worthen Park beginning at 7 p.m. at West Granite. Homefoamers will face Zantigo's at 7 p.m. At 8 p.m., Mexican Honorary Committee will face Third Baptist Church at Worthen Park and Midtown Pharmacy will play Hope Lutheran church at West Granite. At 9 p.m., the winners of the P and S Tire-Quad City Businessmen game will play against Reb-Cam Auto Parts at Worthen Park. The Raiders will face the winner of the Homefoamers-Zantigo's game at west Granite Park.

Both the Men's and The Women's tournaments are double-elimination. In the loser's bracket of the Women's Tournament, the loser of the Misfits-Mitchell Athletic Club game will play the loser of the Dupo Florist-G&G Car Wash game Friday at 7 p.m. The winner of that

Modeling and talent contest in Granite City

Kids and moms came out in droves

PEOPLE

TROPHIES, like the one above, were the whole point for the contestants. Kristin Goebel, a baton twirler (lower right) has her makeup applied by her mother.

Photos and story by Cathey Jamison

They were everywhere. There were costume changes and makeup to be taken care of. Batons had to be located and tap shoes tied.

Mom was there to help and it was an exciting place to be, especially if you were one of the winners.

Last Saturday the Tri City Area YMCA became a gigantic stage as hundreds of youngsters participated in a modeling and talent contest, sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

There was something going on in every section of the "Y."

The gym was set up for gymnastics and baton events. Modeling events were held there as well. Other events took place in rooms set up all over the place.

Many of the youngsters entered several events. The modeling was the most colorful, with the children (and-or their mothers) coming up with some charming costumes for the little ones to show off. Then it was off to the dressing rooms to change into dancing togs or baton twirling outfits.

There were those who sang and those who played an instrument. But the vast majority of the youngsters were dancers and twirlers. There were tap and jazz dancers, ballet and even some disco routines. There were as many ideas as there were kids, and all did their own thing.

There was lots to see and do during the competition. The ladies of the BPW provided the food and the youngsters themselves provided the spectacle of colors and sound and obvious talent.

Watching the kids perform was great fun for the spectators. There was so much going on, so much to see. One could walk from room to room and see the different categories of competition. A tap dancer, a small ballerina, a baton twirling four-year-old, a singer—all could be seen by just strolling around.

It was a great day for the kids, many of whom took trophies home. It was a great day also for the BPW, through whose efforts the contest came to be.

Brochures help phone customers

Illinois Bell's customers obtained about 200,000 consumer-oriented folders in the first two months of a new "Customer Information Service" program, the company has announced.

The five folders—first of 15 planned for 1979—are

Girl Scout Troop 275 of Niedringhaus School began the year with a cookout last week at Wilson Park.

Plans for the coming year were discussed, new members were introduced and instructions for the annual calendar sale were given.

available in the company's 73 PhoneCenter Stores around the state. The folders also are available in Spanish in PhoneCenter Stores and Illinois Bell public offices serving Latino customers.

The new folders, introduced in June and addressed primarily to residence customers, are:

"Ordering Your Phone Service"—How the phone company advises new customers. What charges apply. How to save on installation charges.

"PhoneCenter Stores"—How a visit to one of the 73 PhoneCenter Stores in Illinois may save time, money.

"Paying Your Phone Bill"—How and why to avoid late payments. When deposits or advance payments are required.

"If Your Phone Isn't Working"—Repair, replacement, out-of-service credit. The quickest way to get a non-working phone back in service.

"Directory Assistance"—Tips on how to avoid most high-usage charges for directory assistance.

"This approach to telephone-related consumer issues was developed by the Illinois Bell Consumer Affairs Council, which was founded in 1977," said Randall L. Tobias, vice president-residence who is co-chairman of the council.

"We launched the 'Customer Information Service' program after analysis of public and employee surveys and interviews with consumer leaders showed a need for individualized, topic-oriented materials on service, rates and policy," Tobias said.

Each folder contains the following "Our Pledge to Customers" from the Illinois Bell Consumer Affairs Council:

"We pledge you good service. We will strive continually for improvement. We will treat you the way you want to be treated—as an individual. We will give you your money's worth. We will listen."

Tobias said future folders will include such subjects as long distance calling, dealing with annoyance calls, customer-owned phones and avenues for customer appeal.

Cars, stars, doors ajar for Labor Day

What do you get when you take antique and custom cars, country-western stars, ghosts and monsters hiding behind doors ajar, and bring them into one spot and mix them all together?

You get an unusual Labor Day weekend of entertainment. The place that does such things is the Six Flags Over Mid-America theme park.

Grand Ole Opry star Del Reeves and comedians Lenny and Oscar kick things off for the Labor Day weekend with two shows at 4 and 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 1, in the park's Old Glory Amphitheater.

They are followed by comedians Minnie Pearl and George "Goobler" Lindsey, as well as singer Kenny Price, also with two shows at 4 and 8 p.m., on Sunday, Sept. 2, in the amphitheater. Country singer Faron Young rounds out the weekend with two shows at 4 and 8 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 3, in the amphitheater.

The park is the site for the fourth annual antique, custom and stock auto show to be held on Sunday.

Guests can top off their weekend with a visit to the park's newest attraction for the fall, a haunted house complete with tombstones, winding chambers of horror, and such famous fiends as Count Dracula, the Wolfman and the Phantom of the Opera.

A spokesman says, "Fall is the time to think of cool nights with big yellow moons, bats, witches, ghosts and goblins. Six Flags will definitely put you in the mood with its haunted house."

"House tours" are provided by a group of witches and ghouls and the general decor is dark, with illuminating looks at chilling scenes right out of Edgar Allan Poe.

The haunted house is open during regular fall park operating hours, which are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, Sept. 8-30, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, Oct. 6-28.

Eastern Star has friends' night

Granite Chapter 650, Order of the Eastern Star, met last week for friends' night.
Worthy Matron Donna Kagy and Worthy Patron Joseph Bilbrey presided.
Guest officers were introduced and Lois Ann Bilbrey, soloist of Granite Chapter, sang a song on friendship.
Officers from Granite Chapter were: Dorothy Brokaw, secretary; Mary Ann DeHart, chaplain;
David John, marshal; Isabelle Diekmann, Adah;
Mary Ellen Lewis, Ruth;
Karyna Edmonds, Esther;
Bess Henley, Martha; Abbie
Barling, Electa; Lloyd
Lewis, Warder; and Wendell
Gritz, sentinel.

Guest of honor Lois Ann Bilbrey was escorted to the east. The chapter then sang
"Oh You Beautiful Doll" to her. The worthy matron read a poem to her.

Guest in the east Richard Kagy was then escorted.
Worthy matron read a poem to him entitled "What Is a Friend."
Granite Chapter
sweethearts Bonnie and Jerry Fisher were honored.
A memorial ceremony was held for two deceased members, Marie Rutland and Frank Johnson. The chapter also extended sympathy to Frances

Williams, whose husband is deceased.
Congratulations were extended to Clifford and Maude Graham who celebrated their 50th anniversary.

Ed Lane was installed as Most Illustrious Grand Master of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the state of Illinois.
Clarence Hoffman will serve as illustrious Grand Chaplain.

It was announced that the next meeting will be past matrons and past patrons night on Sept. 14 at 8 p.m.

Betty McClintock, instructress of Granite Chapter, welcomed all members and visitors. The theme for the evening was
"Our Arms Reach Out in Friendship."

The committee for the evening consisted of: Bonnie and Jerry Fisher, Donna and Richard Kagy, John Boyer,
Betty McClintock, Peggy
Gibbons, Mary Ellen Lewis, Betty Gritz, Ruth Cox and Lloyd Lewis.

Youth groups tour park

The youth groups of City
Temple Assembly of God
Chapter spent two days at Pinewoods Park, located near Wentzville, Mo.

The seventh and eighth grade Sunday school class started the first day.
The trip was given as a contest prize which the youth groups won for their display during a missions convention this year.

They were accompanied by their teacher, Linda Petterson, Royal Ranger Commander Rich Bywater and his wife Jo Marie, and the associate pastor, the Rev. Charles Adams and Mrs. Adams.

The second day was spent there by the major youth organization of the church, the Christ Ambassadors.
They were accompanied by activity coordinator Ken Coleman, Royal Ranger
Senior Commander Don
Kurtz and his wife Eva and
Rev. Adams.

Both groups participated in swimming, fishing, volleyball and shuffleboard.
Another trip is planned for October and will include a hayride.

Pastor is A.E. Cope.

Cancer substances in some water tanks

The coal-tar linings of water storage tanks leach low but significant levels of suspected cancer-causing compounds into water destined for human consumption, it was reported at the 1974 Chemical Congress jointly sponsored by the American Chemical Society and The Chemical Society of Japan.

Concentrations of polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (PAH), leached from the coal-tar coating of a tank in use five years, approached levels deemed unsafe by the World Health Organization, in the tenths of parts-per-billion (ppb) range.

Much higher levels (hundreds of ppb) can be leached from a freshly coated tank and possibly from used tanks that give spraggy taste and odor problems, said Dr. Katherine Alben of the New York State Department of Health, Albany. The results corroborate an EPA study in Mississippi.

"Some of the coal-tar compounds are recognized carcinogens by inhalation and skin exposure; coal-tar extracts are typically mutagenic."

"However, only limited data for a few compounds is available to assess the hazards associated with chronic ingestion," she says in a summary of her paper.

"In New York state, storage tanks in approximately 5,000 public water supplies serve residents intermittently, during periods of peak demand."

More numerous, however, are the storage tanks which hold water for use in high-rise buildings, large industrial and commercial complexes, schools, recreation areas, and emergency shelters.

In these situations rather than being used only occasionally, the tanks are the sole supply of water, and as such constitute a greater potential health hazard," she reports.

"These tanks are ubiquitous. The number of tanks must be unbelievably high," and coal-tar coatings certainly are used outside of New York state, she asserted in a telephone interview.

Levels of PAH are five to 30 times as high at the outlet of the tank as at the inlet, thus indicating the coal tars as the source of hazardous compounds. Yet, reports on this problem are virtually nonexistent, she notes.

Nor is coal tar the only potentially hazardous substance in use.

"Asphalt, vinyl, epoxy, and chlorinated rubber are commonly applied as liners of tanks to prevent corrosion," Dr. Alben says, continuing.

"These coating systems have the complexity of different resin materials combined with a variety of solvents and additives. "Vinyl monomer is a known carcinogen. Epichlorohydrin and epoxy monomer are suspect carcinogens."

"Recent tests in Denmark have shown epoxy resins are mutagenic. Ultimately concern has to be extended to all coating materials in use, for which experimental measurements of the extent of leaching have not been made."

The resins are usually applied with solvents. One study showed that, even after drying, the resin according to manufacturer's specifications, ten percent of the solvent remained entrained in a vinyl coating, Dr. Alben noted.

"Because of the potential risk to human health," a detailed study is proposed by Dr. Alben.

The coal tar coatings are a complex mixture of polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons, which are among the toxic substances listed as priority pollutants by the EPA and yet in common use in water supply systems.

Compounds present in the water tank which have been shown to produce animal cancer include anthracene, benzanthracene and chrysene. Suspected carcinogens found are naphthalene, flouranthene and phenanthrene.

Drinking on street charged

Four persons were arrested at 1:39 a.m. Saturday at 14th and Iowa streets, Madison, and charged with disorderly conduct.

The two men and two women were allegedly instructed by police to either pour the liquor out or go back inside the tavern.

Richard L. Rinehart, 28, of 4136 Kaseberg Lane, allegedly replied "You'll just have to take it from us."

Rinehart was released on $50 cash bond and is to appear in court on Sept. 28 at 9 a.m.

Others arrested and to appear in court on the same date are: Jess Rinehart, 24, of 4487 Highway 162, also released on $50 cash bond.

The two females Robin Rinehart, 24, of 4487 Highway 162 and Debra Kidd, 21, of No. 2 Kaseberg Park were released on notice to appear.

TAKE CAR STEREO

A car stereo valued at $80 was stolen from the auto of Teri Bassen, Rural Route Two, Box 1153, Granite City, parked in the 2500 block of Grand Avenue early this week. It is not known if the vehicle was locked.

Varied services to handicapped children

Illinois has received $46 million in federal funds to be administered by the Illinois State Board of Education to provide services to handicapped children required by the Education for All Handicapped Children Act (Public Law 94-142).

The act, passed by Congress in 1975, requires that school districts provide a "free, appropriate, public education for all handicapped children between the ages of three and 21."

Handicapped students, as defined in the law, include mentally retarded, hard of hearing, deaf, visually handicapped, and other health impaired and speech impaired children.

Also included are those who are seriously emotionally disturbed, and children with specific learning disabilities who require special education and related services.

According to the law, 75 percent of the grant award is to "flow through" from the state Board by way of joint agreements which cover all local school districts.

The remaining 25 percent is used by the state for room and board for eligible students in private residential settings, and to fund low-incidence services (for the deaf, blind, orthopedically handicapped) on a regional basis throughout the state.

A child count conducted by the State Board of Education last year revealed there are 215,679 students receiving special-education services in Illinois.

Once this count is finally verified, the federal funds are expected to provide $213.95 for each eligible handicapped child in the state. This compares with $156.10 per child last year.

An additional grant of $145,673 has also been provided through Law 94-142 for pre-school incentive programs for identified handicapped children three to five years of age.

In order to qualify for the pre-school grant money, special education joint agreement administrators submit proposals for review and approval of the State Board of Education.

"This year, more than $15 million, or $667 per child, has been awarded to the State Board to provide for children requiring these services."

They are designated for students eligible for state reimbursement who attend private facilities, who require extraordinary services, or who are orphans.

"The student is guaranteed the right to an individual education program that is evaluated and revised yearly."

Parents must be given the opportunity to examine all records regarding the child's evaluation and placement.

In addition to 94-142, handicapped students also receive funds as a result of the mandate of Public Law 89-313, which is funded through Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The Title I funds are supplemental to funds provided to eligible handicapped children through the state.

They are designated for students eligible for state reimbursement who attend private facilities, who require extraordinary services, or who are orphans.

New disco dance classes at 'Y'

The Tri-City Area YMCA has announced that a new series of disco classes will be offered this fall for youths and adults at the "Y," 2001 Edison Ave.

Professional instructors from Beverly Carter's New Image Dance Studio in Alton will teach the four week classes. Carter said that along with the traditional dances, a lot of new material will also be offered this fall.

Youth disco will meet on Saturdays from 10-11 a.m. beginning Sept. 8. The class is for youths ages 7-12 and will be taught by Dale Gregory.

On Sunday evenings, beginning Sept. 9, there will be both a beginners and advanced class for adults. Beginners will meet from 6:30-8 p.m. and advanced will follow from 8-9:30 p.m. Jill Towse will teach both classes.

The fee for the youth class is $8 for "Y" members and $14 for non-members. Fees for the adult classes are $12 for "Y" members and $16 for non-members. For more information, or to register, Quad-Cityans call the "Y," 876-7200.

Crackdown on immunizations

Ring school bells are starting to beckon students back to class and State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin continues to urge parents and guardians to have their children fully immunized against certain diseases and to obtain health examinations.

"It's not only a responsibility to one's own child, but to other children in the school," Cronin explains. "All children entering school are required by state law to be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), measles and rubella."

Also, children are required by law to have health examinations before entering school and at the fifth and ninth grade levels. "In order to prevent epidemics in each of the disease categories outlined by state law, the Illinois Department of Public Health estimates that 90 percent of the children in Illinois need to be immunized in each disease category. Children who fail to comply with the requirements for immunizations and health examinations can be excluded from attending school."

A new state law, signed by Gov. James Thompson Aug. 13, places added responsibility on schools in making sure health examinations and immunization requirements are met.

Beginning in October of next year, school districts reporting less than 80 percent of their student population having the required immunizations and health examinations will lose 10 percent of each monthly state aid payment.

The compliance level for 1981 and thereafter will be 90 percent. School district officials will have to report their compliance level figures to the Illinois State Board of Education on Oct. 15 of each year.

Support, opposition for I-270 extension

By ED GURNEY

"We don't need this highway in any way. What we need is farm land," Mike Campbell of Route 6, Edwardsville, said at a hearing on the proposed extension of new I-270 from Collinsville to Glen Carbon.

Several other people gave similar testimony at the 1½-hour public hearing, held at SIUE.

Based on the applause they received, it appeared a majority of the approximately 100 people in attendance would rather not see the 5.5 mile, $65 million project built.

However, the 22 people who testified were about evenly divided on whether or not new I-270 should be extended from I-55-70 to existing I-270.

The Illinois Department of Transportation also accepted written statements on the merits of the project.

There are two proposed routes. Both are the same from the interchange with I-55-70 to a point northeast of Arlington Golf Course.

One alternative then extends north in generally the same direction to an interchange with existing I-270 about seven-tenths of a mile west of I-57. The other alternative would meet existing I-270 to the west, 1.25 miles east of Illinois 111.

Those who spoke against construction of the extension said the highway is not needed, and that it will take valuable farm land out of production.

Several said they believe there is no doubt the project will be built, even though IDOT officials said there is a "no-build" alternative.

Prior to the public testimony, representatives of IDOT and its consulting firm spent a half-hour describing the proposed project and discussing its effect on the area.

Edward Schippmann of Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis described the tentative environmental impact statement, required by the federal government for such projects.

He said the "no-build" alternative "would prevent most of the adverse environmental concerns about Interstate 270."

"However, this alternative would result in its own negative environmental impacts. In short, the no-build alternative would not support the transportation goals of the region and would endanger attainment of projected economic and social goals."

Campbell said that he has farmed in the American Bottoms, but that he has also worked in urban planning and helped prepare environmental impact statements.

"When I go to meet St. Peter, I wouldn't want to be holding onto an EIS statement," he said. "It would affect my credibility."

Campbell said he wouldn't be affected directly by the project.

IDOT officials had asked that statements be limited to five minutes, and that questions be asked on an individual basis after the hearing. IDOT officials had been available in the afternoon and early evening to answer questions, too.

John Haynes of Glen Carbon spoke the longest, going well over the five-minute limit.

He described the environmental impact statement as "simply, totally inadequate. You present statistics you've drawn from who knows where."

He described that "on numerous occasions" there have been ozone alerts in the Wood River-Edwardsville area. "You can't make rational people believe you're not going to substantially increase air pollution," he said.

The money would be better spent on mass transit, he said. "You are just falling in line with the oil companies, General Motors and perpetuating a problem the country has had for 20 years," he said.

Haynes also criticized destruction of farm lands. "You simply cannot keep taking far resources away because it will provide jobs," he said. He described the 270 extensions as "a make-work project."

Richard Rodrian of Caseyville, who said he belonged to the Audubon Society, said, "Enough is enough. Too many acres have been covered with concrete."

A brochure handed out before the hearing said Interstate highway projects are 90 percent federally funded, with the remaining 10 percent coming from the states. "Who pays that 90 percent?" Rodrian asked. "You and I out of our pockets."

He said the extension leads nowhere, to a "wilderness." "It's $65 million down the drain," Rodrian concluded.

John Kendall of Route 6, Edwardsville, said he questioned assumptions upon which the project is being proposed.

He said there really may not be a great need for the highway. He said future traffic projections, made before this year's gasoline crisis, may not be valid.

Kendall said enrollment at SIUE is down, and that students will probably be doing more carpooling because of the high cost of gasoline.

He said after the road is built, there would be increased industrial and commercial development; in effect, the highway will create its own need, he said.

Margaret Sparks and Jim Sparks, both of Route 3, Collinsville, wondered why the proposed route avoids the nearby golf course.

Margaret Sparks asked if the owners of the golf course had anything to do with the highway route bending to the east to miss the course. Jim Sparks said, "Obviously, this thing has skirted the golf course for a reason."

He said the only reason interchanges are proposed at State Aid 35 and Illinois 162 is for future industries' convenience, since there is "no populace in the area."

Schippmann had stated that the extension would take away 350 or 389 acres of farm land, depending upon which alternative route is chosen. Several farmers spoke, mainly to discuss drainage problems.

Bill Keller of Route 3, Collinsville, recommended that Judy's Branch not be relocated because it could worsen drainage problems.

William Schwartz of rural Edwardsville, another farmer, cautioned against the proposed consolidation of a portion of Burdick Branch and Judy's Branch.

Burdick Branch now doesn't flood often. "We don't know what'll happen with the merger of the two," he said.

He asked that highway planners come to the area in person and talk to some of the residents who have seen drainage problems firsthand.

Those who spoke in favor of the extension generally stressed the supposed benefits of improved north-south traffic flow, construction jobs, and future economic benefits through commercial and industrial development near the highway.

They generally did not endorse either of the two proposed routes, but hoped that IDOT could pick the alternative that created the least disruption for affected property owners.

Among those speaking in favor of the extension were State Rep. Everett Steele of Glen Carbon; Clyde Wiseman Jr. of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association; Norma Johnsen, chairman of the Edwardsville planning commission.

Wayne Barber, of the Southern Illinois Builders Association; William Magurany, mayor of Wood River; Charles Massa, Edwardsville alderman.

Byron Farrell of Wood River, co-chairman of IMAGE, an area labor-management group; William Horstman, secretary-treasurer of the Southwest Illinois Building Trades Council; and Victor Cauty, chairman of the St. Louis County Board.

Steele asked that "the highest consideration be given to the route that displaces the fewest."

Barber said continued economic growth depends on the extension. He agreed with highway officials' statements that the highways would actually save gasoline by eliminating a lot of low speed, stop-and-go traffic on nearby arterial highways.

Horstman said his group represents 10,000 construction employees. "We need the work," he said. Written comments on the project are being accepted through Sept. 4 at the IDOT district office, 8800 St. Clair Ave., Fairview Heights.

IDOT is expected to recommend one of the two routes in about six weeks. Final approval by the Federal Highway Administration is expected in no less than six months.

Management Plan

"Public notice is hereby given to all interested persons in the Illinois Counties of Madison, St. Clair, and Monroe that a public hearing will be held to amend the 1978 Water Quality Management Plan" for the three-county 208 designated area of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe Counties, 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, October 17, 1979, in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) Hall, Local 909, Route 157 (6 blocks south of Interstate 70 — Collinsville exit), Collinsville, Illinois.

The purpose of said public hearing (pursuant to federal regulation 40 CFR, Part 25.5 (b) is to review a proposed amendment to the Water Quality Management plan for the designated, Illinois Counties of Madison, St. Clair, and Monroe. The purpose of the Amendment is to include delineated and prioritized agricultural areas with high erosion and runoff potential within the Water Quality Management Plan, in order that these areas might be eligible for federal funding under the Rural Clean Water Program, PL 95-217.

A fact sheet outlining the proposed Amendment will be available, upon request, after October 1, 1979, at the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission offices (1203 West Main, Collinsville, Illinois 62234) or at the Soil Conservation Service or Cooperative Extension Service office in your county.

All interested parties are invited to attend said public hearing and to state their opinions regarding the proposed Amendment to the Water Quality Management Plan which has been prepared by the Southwest Planning Commission and the Soil and Water Conservation Districts in the three counties. Those wishing to state their opinions, but unable to attend the hearing, may submit comments in writing prior to 5:00 p.m. on October 24, 1979, to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and

"Public notice is hereby given to all interested persons in the Illinois Counties of Madison, St. Clair, and Monroe that a public hearing will be held to amend the 1978 Water Quality Management Plan" for the three-county 208 designated area of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe Counties, 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, October 17, 1979, in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) Hall, Local 909, Route 157 (6 blocks south of Interstate 70 — Collinsville exit), Collinsville, Illinois.

The purpose of said public hearing (pursuant to federal regulation 40 CFR, Part 25.5 (b) is to review a proposed amendment to the Water Quality Management plan for the designated, Illinois Counties of Madison, St. Clair, and Monroe. The purpose of the Amendment is to include delineated and prioritized agricultural areas with high erosion and runoff potential within the Water Quality Management Plan, in order that these areas might be eligible for federal funding under the Rural Clean Water Program, PL 95-217.

A fact sheet outlining the proposed Amendment will be available, upon request, after October 1, 1979, at the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission offices (1203 West Main, Collinsville, Illinois 62234) or at the Soil Conservation Service or Cooperative Extension Service office in your county.

All interested parties are invited to attend said public hearing and to state their opinions regarding the proposed Amendment to the Water Quality Management Plan which has been prepared by the Southwest Planning Commission and the Soil and Water Conservation Districts in the three counties. Those wishing to state their opinions, but unable to attend the hearing, may submit comments in writing prior to 5:00 p.m. on October 24, 1979, to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and

FOOTBALL The area's newest conference: The Gateway East

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

The start of a new football season has an almost therapeutic effect on coaches, players, and fans. Both the physical and emotional injuries that any disappointments from the season past can inflict are erased. The future is all that is important.

For the five members of the Gateway East conference, all of whom are charter members in the newly organized league, the very fact that the conference was organized makes the future that much brighter.

Of the five teams, three are former independents. The two Granite City schools, North and South, and Belleville Althoff, were at-large competitors last year. The two remaining schools, Edwardsville and Cahokia, were members of the Southwestern conference in 1978.

The advantage of the conference are obvious. For the independent schools, the road to the state championship was indeed one filled with considerable obstacles. An almost immaculate record was required.

Now as members of the Gateway, North, South, and Althoff can qualify for postseason play if they can finish on top of the conference.

For Cahokia and Edwardsville the Southwestern conference seemed almost as formidable as the fate of the independents.

So now the question at hand is the Gateway and each of the five member schools are gearing up for the 1979 season.

GRANITE CITY NORTH

For the Steelers, who finished 0-10 in 1978, Gateway East conference membership should ease the path toward improvement.

Back this year is Tim Dudley, North's slated starting quarterback last year until an injury ended his season before it began.

This year Dudley will lead a team of 24 returning lettermen, 18 of whom are juniors or seniors.

Although 12 seniors are gone from last year's squad because of graduation, North's head coach Tom Wyrostek will have among 45 juniors and seniors, who reported to pre-season practices, to replace them.

GRANITE CITY SOUTH

The Warriors produced a 5-4 record in 1978, the first winning record recorded at South in recent years.

That, along with the return of many of last year's key starters, make South a real contender for the top spot in the Gateway East.

The realization of that goal rests largely on the success of South's backfield, but that's all right with head coach Stan Wojcik because that's where he feels his strength lies.

Leading the offense will be Hondo Ambuehl at quarterback. Ambuehl was South's starter at the position at times last year, and in 1979 will be back for good.

Steelers hope to rebound from dismal 0-10 mark

By KEVIN ALLEN
GRANITE CITY — If any football team in the new Gateway East conference is looking forward to the 1979 season, it is the Granite City North Steelers.

That's because 1978 was so forgettable. North finished last season with a 0-10 record, the worst in all the years North has been in existence.

NORTH

But that's the nice thing about sports, last year only a matter of importance for the record keepers. What matters lies always ahead.

What lies ahead, for the Steelers is membership in the brand-new conference and hopefully vast improvement over that dismal performance last year.

"If the Gateway conference should definitely help," North's head coach Tom Wyrostek said. "It will give the kids something more to shoot for."

North, last year, operated as an independent, as did fellow Gateway members Granite South and Althoff. Cahokia and Edwardsville, the two other member schools were in the Southwestern conference last year.

Of all the Gateway schools, North had the worst records, but the feeling in the conference is that North, by no means, should be considered the doormat in pre-season.

"I think the whole conference will be tough," Wyrostek said. "All of the schools have people coming back, and everyone looks like they've improved."

Still, Wyrostek feels that his Steelers can compete with the level of play in the conference.

Talk of rebuilding, of starting over, doesn't particularly hold much meaning for Wyrostek. "In high school," he said, "Every year is a rebuilding year. Every year you lose seniors and you have to find replacements. What you have to do is go out and coach the players you've got. If they're capable of winning then they will."

Wyrostek said the Steelers were beginning to break up into squads for scrimmages and that the task of evaluating the talent has begun in earnest.

"Coaching is tough," Wyrostek said. "It's hard to evaluate players before you see them in game situations. It's also hard to be able to evaluate your strengths and weaknesses.

But for the Steelers the job of determining positions might be easier this year than last. Wyrostek has the good fortune of seeing 18 of his starters from 1978 return for the 1979 season.

This is one of the reasons the pre-season forecasts say North can't help but improve.

Wyrostek can reel off a list of veteran players with the ease and speed of school child reciting multiplication tables. And the results are basically the same. The belief is that the Steelers will be fundamentally more sound this season.

"We didn't win any ball games last year," Wyrostek said. "But it wasn't because the kids weren't trying. And again this year, I have no objection at all to the kid's effort."

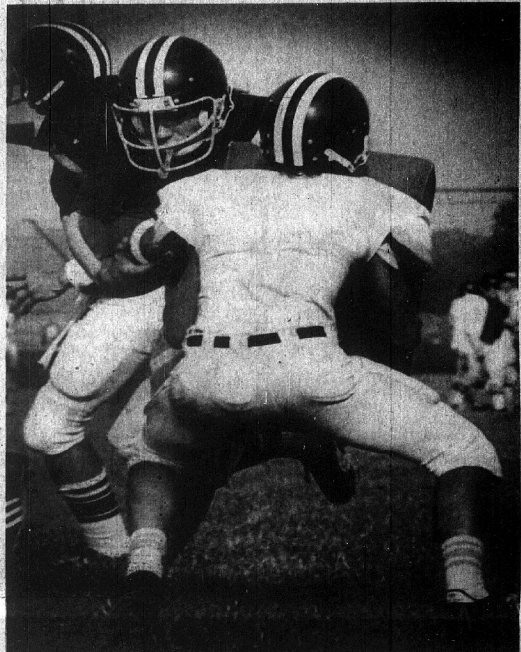

The attitude, Wyrostek feels, is there. And so too are the players.

Last year, North's starting quarterback, Tim Dudley, was set to start the season when an injury prevented him from beginning the campaign. This year Dudley is back and healthy.

Joining Dudley in the backfield, Kevin Buchanan, Danny Patterson and Rick Bauer present a definite reason for North's optimism.

An offensive line featuring tackle Keith Burton and Tim Wyrostek (the coach's son), and guard Tom Lucas will support the backs.

On defense, the Steelers' strength will be in the secondary with a pair of defensive backs, Brian Garnett and Mike Stein leading the way.

Other names to look for on North, among others, include Scott Humphries, Ron Pinkston, and Rob Chap-

Wyrostek, even with the bench-full of talent he has available, is hesitant to make any firm predictions.

But with the amount of experience on North's squad those judgements have to be more optimistic than 0-10 would indicate.

"Serving You Is Our Business"

Richard Mark makes mark

By DARRELL DAY

Richard Mark, an assistant coach with the Collinsville High football team, is certainly not your run-of-the-mill Kahok coach. For one thing, Mark is one of the best football players to have ever worn a Kahok uniform. For another thing, he's not even a teacher in the Collinsville system, but is taking advantage of a recent Illinois High School Association ruling to teach at the Children's Center in Edgemont.

And Mark is also the first black coach Collinsville has ever had.

A situation like that has sometimes caused tensions in some school districts. But in the predominantly white Collinsville system, the selection of Mark has not caused even a ripple of interest.

The reason for that? Perhaps the prejudices of the 1960's have finally subsided. But the main reason is that Mark is just an excellent coach.

Period.

In just a year of coaching in Collinsville, the 24-year-old coach has established a strong rapport with the players and has impressed his peers with his knowledge of the game. And he has an enthusiasm that's infectious... something the defensive secondary he now coaches could have used last year.

"Yea, I have a good rapport with the players," Mark says in his calm, resonant voice. "I've played with a lot of their brothers, so I knew some of them to begin with."

"I'M THE first black coach in Collinsville that I know of. Everybody I've met and talked to has treated me tremendously. Everybody's been really nice."

His arrival on the Collinsville coaching scene last year was quite an interesting one. It happened midway through the season when assistant coach El Eschman (now the Collinsville head coach) saw him at a practice session and asked him to coach.

"I thought he was kidding," Mark says. "I had wanted to do some coaching, but I had stopped by practice just to watch. I figured that since it was halfway through the season that they would have had plenty of coaches already."

But that wasn't the case, so Mark was recruited. Eschman says he "convinced him into it" to coach the Kahok sophomores. Mark did a good enough job to be asked to join Eschman's new staff this year.

MARK SAYS his main interest in coaching is to work with kids. He gets a lot of experience working with youngsters at his job at the Children's Center, a "therapeutic-type school" for youngsters for ages 7-18 where he teaches, counsels and deals with behavior management.

Mark also likes to coach because it keeps him around the sport he loves.

He became interested in football while growing up in Collinsville, although his parents were apathetic toward sports. "My father doesn't really care for football," Mark says. "My parents were more concerned with me going to school and going to college. They didn't stress sports at all. They felt that if I didn't play sports that was fine, and if I played, that was OK too."

Mark's football later helped him through college when he earned a scholarship to Iowa State.

AT COLLINSVILLE High, he had impressed the college scouts with speed in the defensive backfield and his hard hitting. In 1973 he was named to the All-Metro team.

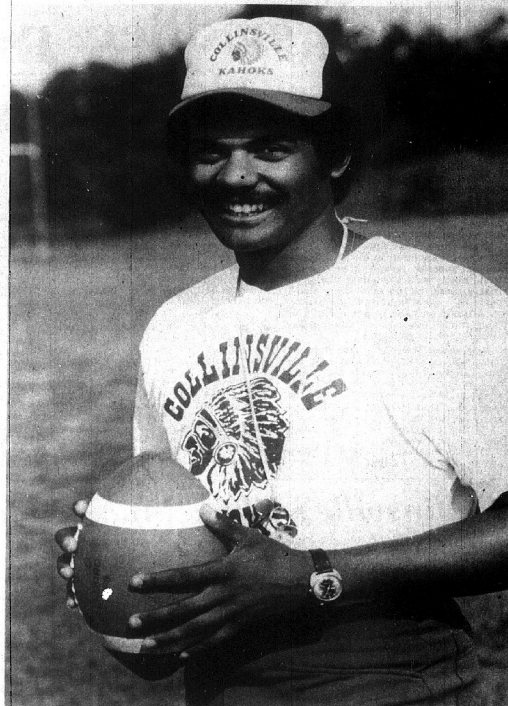

"He was GOOD," Eschman said forcefully.

"He was GOOD."

From Collinsville, Mark began a promising collegiate career at Iowa State, where he played JV ball his freshman year. He then became a starter his sophomore year... for exactly one game. After starting Iowa's first game of the season, he tore ligaments and cartilage in his knee.

Mark still has a keesake from the injury — an ugly, 9-inch scar down the inside of his right knee. But he recovered enough to start during his junior year, and then started "off and on" during his senior year, despite suffering from a separated shoulder. After graduating, he played some semi-pro ball with the Newton (Iowa) Night Hawks before "coming home to Collinsville to settle."

A few months after returning to this area, he got his job at the Children's Center. And last year, he wandered over to a Kahok practice. The rest, shall we say, is history... which is what Mark has made at Collinsville High.

MAKES HIS MARK—Richard Mark has established a strong rapport with the football players at Collinsville High School, where he's an assistant coach under El Eschman. Mark is a former Collinsville High star, where he played in the defensive secondary.

Ted Cange shows dedication to Triad

By JIM HEIDENREICH

Anyone who coaches Triad football is a glutton for punishment.

Take for instance the Knights' current varsity coach, Ted Cange. Cange has a three-year coaching record of 3-23. That's right, only three wins in as many seasons.

But lack of coaching talent at Triad surely isn't the cause of the minimal success. The coach before Cange also had problems, putting together a meager 1-17 record in two years.

In fact, Triad has never had a winning season in its football history. Would you believe 4-40 over the past five seasons?

And will a "weaker" schedule this year help save Cange's football coaching career? Well, last year the "weak" schedule was supposed to make coaching more enjoyable, and also save the football program at Triad.

REMEMBER, Triad officials defected from the tough Mississippi Valley Conference to play smaller schools after the 1977-78 school year. And what was Triad's fortunes with the "more equal" football opponents?

The Knights were 2-6 and suffered some severe beatings in the six losses.

But will Cange get a vote of confidence from his overseers and time enough to lead Triad out of the doldrums and onto the victory trail? Will Cange give himself enough time?

The frustrations of coaching and the prospects of better employment outside the educational system... have driven many qualified teachers and coaches to other occupations. Even if the qualified ones hang on, the upset school board or parent group often takes its frustrations out on losing coaches.

So quality doesn't always mean success, because Cange has some pretty good credentials.

THE 28-YEAR-OLD SUE graduate prepped at East St. Louis Senior High and Bellevue East where he played football, mostly on the offensive line. And now, football enthusiasts know the good products that East Side and Bellevue mold each year.

Cange also went to college to play his favorite sport at the University of Dubuque in Iowa. He took a Triad teaching job soon after graduation from SIUE.

Teaching — that's what Cange loves.

Even if his Knights fall flat again this year, he'll probably stay on to teach and work with youth.

And when a football team has only won four games in five seasons, Cange's dedication has stood out.

Too small? Not Illini's George

By DARRELL DAY

It's sure a good thing that Rick George listens to his father.

After his sophomore year at Collinsville High School, George had decided to give up football, so he could devote more time to basketball and baseball. But his father, Richard George, had a better idea.

"I was going to quit, but my dad told me it was my best sport," says George. "He just sat me down and told me I had the most potential in football because of the way I hit. He's been my coach all my life, so I listened to him."

It's a good thing. Barring injury, George will be the starting cornerback for the University of Illinois when the Fighting Illini begin their football season this fall. The Collinsville High graduate will be a sophomore at U of I, and is a year stronger, and a year quicker than he was last season when he backed up starting cornerback Derwin Tucker.

But Tucker has graduated — he was taken in the fourth round of the NFL draft by the Los Angeles Rams — so George stands numero uno this year. George won his starting job during the Illini's spring drills... when he had an interesting advantage.

GEORGE WAS playing with two broken thumbs — one that he'd broken playing basketball and the other when a barbell dropped on it. "With those two casts on my hands, I could bat people around a lot better," says George. I had a really good spring. I was a little more physical than I was last year. You have to be to survive up here.

"It's better to hit than be hit, so this year I'll do some pushing around, instead of ME getting pushed around."

It's a little strange hearing that kind of talk coming from the smiling George. He looks more like a choir boy than a cornerback who likes to rip people's heads off. He's very pleasant and cheerful when you talk to him, but when he gets on the football field

"Off the field, I'm a pretty mild-mannered guy," says George. "But on the field I'm a different person."

The reason for George's on-field aggression is no personal grudge against the world, but is just a matter of survival. At a smallish 6-1, his playing weight was a mere 160 last year.

BUT HIS lack of size wasn't as much of an obstacle as he expected last year. Surprisingly, he found himself playing quite a bit and even started one game when Tucker was injured. "They didn't expect me to play, and I didn't expect me to play," George says. "They thought I was too small. The only reason I was recruited was because of my kick-blocking."

"When I first went to U. of I., the defense coordinator was sitting in there with (Illini Head Coach Gary) Moller and he asked me if it were true that I blocked 20 kicks in high school. When I told him it was, he told Moller, 'Take this man, take this man.'"

So Moller took that man.

Warriors want to build on last year's success

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

The 1979 football season at Granite City South is beginning with an unusual air of optimism.

For the first time in recent years the Warriors will be trying to improve on a winning record. In 1978 the Warriors compiled a 5-4 record and, that improvement (from 2-7 in 1977) has sparked renewed interest in football at South.

Assuming a contract dispute between teachers and Granite City District 9 Board of Education is settled in time, South's first game will be Sept. 7 at Belleville East.

In the meantime, South head coach Stan Wojcik is busy preparing his Warriors for the upcoming season amid the air of excitement.

There are several reasons for the newly inspired optimism. South in 1978 will be a charter member of the Gateway Area Conference along with Althoff, Cahokia, Edwardsville, Granite City North, and Cahokia.

"I think joining the conference is definitely a plus," Wojcik said. "It will provide a few more goals to attain. It's a easier path to the state tournament."

Leon Urs will have thought his best-seller 'Exodus' was being acted out. Instead, what sounded like troops marching in was the sound of football coaches' footsteps leaving Granite City South at the end of last school year.

First, there's Leroy Beck. The offensive coordinator for the Warriors last season was named as the new head football coach at Civic

SOUTH

One aspect of the new conference doesn't particularly please Wojcik however. Because of the draw between the members of the conference, South will have to face its rival Granite City North twice.

"I'd really rather not have to play North twice," Wojcik said. "With the rivalry and all, there's already enough pressure on the players and coaches on both sides. But it's just the luck of the draw and there's nothing you can do about it."

But in addition to the advantages the berth in the Gateway offers, South's personnel looks promising. Wojcik is particularly excited about the returning players in the Warrior's backfield.

"Our strong suit is definitely our backfield," Wojcik said. "We'll have a lot of experience there. It's pretty unusual for us to have three players coming back from the year before."

These three players are probably the detail most responsible for the optimism in the South camp.

Quarterback Blake "Hondo" Ambuehl started three or four games last year for South, and this year he returned to the position. He will be joined by fullback Scott Polson, who Wojcik says is a very solid veteran. Jeff Bergrader is the third back who saw action last year returning.

Along with those three experienced running backs, Wall Striker, a flanker, and Dan Kerling are expected by Wojcik to see some action. Striker will join Ambuehl, Polson, and Bergrader to form the nucleus of the backfield squad. Kerling will give the Warriors some good speed, Wojcik said.

Although the Warriors' backfield looks firmly established, the same can't be said of the line. "We could have a fairly good-sized line if the right people continue to produce," Wojcik said.

One lineman who should produce for the Warriors is Mike Kanzen. A starter at center last year, Kanzen might be switched to tackle in 1979.

"We'll know more when we start hitting," Wojcik said. "We'll make up a depth chart and really see what we've got."

According to Wojcik, the Warriors' attack will be centered around the running game. "We'll pass, but we'll use the pass to set up the run," he said.

To implement those passing plans, the Warriors will use the services extensively of three receivers. Les Huebner, a 6-3, 180-pounder, will be one of the Warriors' tight ends. South will also rely on Kevin Greene and Kevin Smith to provide passing offense.

In the early part of the pre-season the Warriors concentrated on conditioning, but all along, bits of the offense were being thrown in.

As yet South hasn't worked much on defense. Wojcik said, however, he plans to use many of his best athletes in dual roles both on offense and defense.

"The trend in recent years has been to use two platoons," he said. "But I think we're getting away from that. I think now the idea is to use your best athletes the whole game."

That being the case, South's backs probably will see considerable action on both sides of the line. And if experience breeds success, the 1979 Warriors might, on the strength of their rungame, make last year's success seem like a small accomplishment.

Where have all the coaches gone?

GRANITE CITY — Leon Urs will have thought his best-seller 'Exodus' was being acted out. Instead, what sounded like troops marching in was the sound of football coaches' footsteps leaving Granite City South at the end of last school year.

First, there's Leroy Beck. The offensive coordinator for the Warriors last season was named as the new head football coach at Civic Memorial High in Bethalto earlier this summer. He did the bulk of the play-calling for South during games from his perch high in the press box.

Then there's Jerry McKeehan. He turned in his resignation from coaching at the end of the last school year. He will stay on at South as a teacher.

With the departure of Beck and McKeehan, Petrillo and Dave Carmody (last year's freshman coach) were moved up to fill the vacancies. Petrillo is a teacher at South, while Carmody works at Granite City Steel.

To fill the spots left by McKeehan and Carmody, Petrillo asked Andy Sullivan — who retired after last year — to come back and coach the sophomore team.

It may have resembled a game of musical chairs, but it's finished. At least for this season, it is.

Steptoe sees 1979 as a challenge to his Trojans

CHARLES STEPTOE (right) watches as he puts his Trojan team through pre-season drills last week at practice. Steptoe, in his first year as head coach at Madison will look to improve on the team's 2-7 record of last season.

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
Madison High School's Trojan football team finished with a 2-7 record last year as an independent in Class 3A.

In 1979 the Trojans have joined Breese Central, Columbia, Dupo, Assumption and Freeburg in the Quad-County Conference and will compete in the 2A division.

The change came about when the projected enrollment at Madison dropped to 556, allowing the Trojans to compete with the other smaller schools.

But while the decline in enrollment has allowed the Trojans the luxury of competing in the smaller division, four of the students whose graduation year limit of the enrollment drop also presents a real problem for the Trojans.

Madison's entire backfield, the backbone of the team last year, is gone.

Quarterback Carlyn Johnson, and running backs James Heard, Earnest Davenport, and Sylvester Collins provided Madison a running squad with explosive tendencies.

But the talent of the four is thing of the past, so Charles Steptoe, Madison's first-year head coach, will need to find some help from the mostly inexperienced players that will form the '79 Trojans.

"We're definitely in a building phase this year," Steptoe said. "We're coming along slowly, and I'd have to say I'm conservative about our team. But the new conference should help. I think we'll have an excellent chance to place well in our conference."

Key to Steptoe's success or failure in 1979 will be his ability to find replacements for the graduated backs.

And most important will be a replacement for Jackson at quarterback.

Steptoe has three players in mind for the position: Robert Johnson, Bill Pappa, and Dan Stern will compete for the job. Johnson probably has the edge in the pre-season. Steptoe said he was impressed by his moves and the fact that he is the only senior of the trio is an advantage.

Pappa will probably be the number two man at quarterback. Steptoe said he has also seen considerable practice time at the position.

Steptoe is also considering converting Stern from tight end to quarterback.

Of the remaining backfield positions one thing is certain — the contenders are lacking in experience.

Only one candidate for a starting position returns from last year. Sophomore Ken Briggs returns at wingback, but beyond that the situation is uncertain.

"We've been working with senior Troy Butler at halfback," Steptoe said. "He was on the state qualifying 880 relay team last year."

In addition to those two, Steptoe is considering freshmen Richard Butler and Brian Pappa. Keith Edwards and David Kominski also are being considered.

"Traditionally, Madison has generally had good fast backs," Steptoe said. "But we could have a good line this year. It looks like we have some pretty good sized players there."

Steptoe listed John Latham, Roy Campbell, Larry Martin, Lawrence Ship, Leo Tormino, Orlando Simms, Wayne McCaskill, and Ed Burns as the leading contenders for the line chokes.

Steptoe was especially impressed by Burns. But he will have to repress his enthusiasm for the moment. Burns, a senior, is due to undergo surgery on his shoulder and will be out of action for the first few games.

Mark Zarr, Bill Pappa, Alfonso Williams, Don Stern, and Shannon Mansen will make up the Trojan's corp of receivers. Mansen is a sophomore who returns from last year's team at the wide receiver spot.

But according to Steptoe, the pivotal ingredient of the Trojan's 1979 team is the backfield. "That's the crux of the thing," Steptoe said. "That's the primary thing. We'll start there and work forward."

If the pieces of what to now is a somewhat fragmented backfield come together Steptoe feels the Trojans should stand in good shape.

"The new conference makes things more competitive. It gives the kids more things to shoot for and creates added incentives," Steptoe said.

Quad Counties loop has balanced look this year

ASSUMPTION

Once your mind is made up, there is not very much anyone can say to change it. If you go out and say your going to win, you will come up the victor. But we didn't have to tell Jim Monken that, he already knew what he was going to do. Monken, head football coach at Assumption

High School has his mind made up to do it all.

Trying to improve on a 6-3 record, Monken has the team to complete the chore. "We're small in numbers," said Monken, "but what we got is pretty good." Monken's confidence is backed up. "Our good size and excellent speed in the backfield is better than anyone else in the conference," said Monken. "We will be a contender."

Monken feels that he has a good combination people and all the ingredients to go some place. "I've got a lot of good kids," said Monken. "We're a well-rounded team with the people we have."

DUPLO
When you've got it, you've got it. How can you improve on a good thing? There is always a way and leave it to Jerry Germain to find one. Germain is the head football coach at Duplo High School where his team compiled a 7-1 mark last season.

Germain will have an abundance of talent returning for his '79 team. "I have two backfield starters who I relied on heavily last year," said Germain, "and my returning quarterback is a first team All-County pick."

Dupo's offensive power is outstanding, averaging 40 points a game last year. It was ranked number one in the area. "I don't think we will be as productive as last year," said Germain, "but will be able to score."

FREEBURG
What can you do about a dismal season? For Freeburg's head football coach Mike Siemer the task is not an easy one. Coming off a disappointing 1-8 record of a year ago Siemer looks on the bright side for 1979.

"We've got one big strength for our team this year," said Siemer. "Our entire backfield will be returning." Siemer also noted that he will have experience in his quarterback who was a full time starter as a sophomore. In addition to their returning offensive backfield Siemer said that his 'Midgits' have a number of people to play the defense.

BREESE CENTRAL

When you're faced with a problem of too many kids to fill a limited number of spaces, what can be done? Maybe there really isn't a problem but rather a blessing in disguise. According to Breese Central's head football coach John Phillips there is definitely a problem. He has a number of offensive backs returning for his 1979 squad. "We've got five kids to fill two or three spots," said Phillips, "and they're all pretty good."

COLUMBIA
Once in every coach's career he has the job of starting anew. That is taking a young team and beginning from the ground up to make a team of respectability. Just what kind of task is that? For first hand knowledge Charles Wuerfell, head football coach of the Columbia Eagles is just the man to see.

Facing an improvement on last year's mark of 2-6-1 Coach Wuerfell will have to start at the drawing board. "I would say the characteristics of our team is young, small and inexperienced," said Wuerfell. "This is more or less a rebuilding year. Wuerfell noted that he has three or four veterans returning and some experience in the line, but generally a lot of young talent."

TED CANGE
Hoping Knights improve

Knights looking to improve on 2-6 mark

By JIM HEIDENREICH

Triad football coach Ted Cange must be very cautious when talking about Triad football teams. This year's edition is no exception.

After all, the Knights were only 2-6 against what was considered a much weaker schedule last year. In fact, Triad has won only three games in the three seasons Cange has coached, going 3-23.

So the fourth-year coach is not going to go out on the proverbial prediction limb. But in a roundabout way Cange said this year's team could be very good or very bad.

"I'm not going to make any predictions or say how good or bad we might be," says Cange. "But I will say we have more boys out this year and we're looking forward to the season."

"Let me say this, though. There are three teams we should beat, three teams that are a toss-up and two teams which are very good. Let's leave it at that. I don't want to really rate any of the teams."

THE BEST prediction for Triad is probably 4-4. And who are those 1979 Knights who must play to attain potential to give Triad the first non-losing season in over a decade?

Junior Tom Ladd is tabbed as the starting quarterback. And after playing very well as a sophomore, Ladd could be Triad's primary hope.

Then there's Junior running back Bob King. King was another sophomore standout last year and could complement Ladd in the Knights' backfield.

Other backs are Jon Kottkamp and Dave Cueto, while the probable starting center is Bucky Whittington. At the guard positions are Ernie Dorn and Bruce Fanning, with the offensive tackles being John Wise and Joe Estes.

Cange said juniors Mark Martz and Eric Walker would probably start at the end positions, and named Bob McNeil, Rich Lambert and Steve Wiggington as the key to the defense.

ALTHOUGH Triad's top man wouldn't categorize the eight teams on the Knights' schedule, he hinted at Triad's possibilities against each. The first opponent is Vandalia. The Vandals only beat the Knights 7-6 last year, and lost some personnel to graduation.

But the Vandalia game would have to be considered a toss-up since the Vandals have always handled Triad with ease prior to last season. In fact, Vandalia shut out Triad three years in a row with whopping scores, before a 29-6 win two years ago.

Then comes a newcomer to the schedule, Assumption of East St. Louis. Once again, probably a toss-up since the Pioneers have one of the area's super running backs returning from last year's 8-2 squad.

After Assumption comes Freeburg. The Middlets were only 1-8 last year, and Cange would say is that the Knights should "match up pretty well" with Freeburg. So that's a game the Knights should probably win.

MARQUETTE of Alton was 9-1 last year, but lost several players to graduation. Cange suggested that this one would also be a toss-up. After Marquette, the Knights play Breese-Mater Dei, a team that lost several players from last year's team.

The Triad coach then almost said there was no way the Knights could beat Highland.

So Triad's chances of having it's best season in six years is only fair. In fact, like Cange suggested, the Knights could go 6-2, but then again might end up 2-6.

Triad probably won't come close to beating Highland or Pinckneyville, and just might be surprised by the two teams from Breese and Freeburg. That means from Breese and Freeburg. That means from Breese and Freeburg.

But if all goes well and the Knights take all three toss-up games, 6-2 is not out of sight.

Practice, practice, practice, practice

Ah yes, the dawn of autumn. It also means the beginning of a new high school sports season. This area is no exception.

Just two weeks ago, the sound of grunting, running, panting and shouting began emitting from area football and soccer practices. In Collinsville, the Kahoks started in hopes of unseating Granite City South as the soccer power in the area, while the football team hopes to improve under El Eschman. In Granite City, North's Steelers and South's Warriors have begun their venture into the newly-formed Gateway East Conference. In Madison, the football Trojans hope to treat new head coach Charles Steptoe to a championship in the Quad Counties Conference — which they just joined. The soccer Trojans will begin play in the Mid-South Soccer Conference, as they grow in the sport.

Bones and muscles are weary. Leather and plastic pops. Gallons of water are guzzled down by thirsty football players. Soon, the weather will become cooler. The leaves will turn. Autumn will be here.

It already is to some.

State champion South wants one more title shot

Gateway kickers will take a back seat to Granite City teams

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

When the member schools of the Gateway East Conference decided to ban together, the football, basketball, and baseball teams must have been excited about the opportunity for increased competition. But the soccer coaches of Althoff, Edwardsville, and Cahokia probably were somewhat dubious about the chances of greater competition, considering the fact that the new conference also includes both Granite City South and Granite City North.

The South Warriors and North Steelers have dominated soccer in the area. In the last three years the Warriors have won the Illinois state championship three times.

South coach Gene Baker has been at the helm in each of those championship seasons and he owns each and every coaching record kept for the state tournament.

This year the teams in the Gateway will be shooting for South's crown, but it seems the only way the Warriors could find to advance on to the state tournament and a fourth shot consecutive shot at the state title is if the North Steelers could replace them.

In fact, about the only team in the area to even seriously challenge the Warriors has been the Steelers.

So the preparations for the rest of the Gateway conference has been aimed at stopping North and South.

Here's how they look.

GRANITE CITY SOUTH Gene Baker's Warriors lost two important contributors to last season's success. The top scorer, Fred Schuler is and goalie Andy Costillo both graduated.

One of the spots is filled already, Tony Pierce, last year goalie for North came over to South when his parents moved this summer.

South's Randy DeRousse was named to play on the National Junior Olympic team after he, Pierce, David Fernandez and Jack Burnett all participated in the National Sports Festival in Colorado Springs.

It seems the only thing standing in the way of South starting on the road to the Gateway title is a threatened teacher's strike that has already forced the postponement of early-season games.

That and the Granite City North Steelers will challenge South with a team-full of tested players. The entire squad from the past two seasons, with the exception of Pierce, returns in 1979.

With the likes of returning starters like Rob Batey,

Mike Robertson, Randy Schrenck, Mark Jones, Glenn Edwards, and John Kefalas, North seems a strong entry in the Gateway. In fact, South's Gene Baker feels North is the pre-season favorite in the conference.

ALTHOFF For the Althoff Crusaders and their coach Larry Mank, this is the year, hopefully, Althoff soccer comes of age.

This is the third year soccer has existed at Althoff and the players who were freshmen when the sport was instituted are now juniors.

In 1978 the Crusaders were 4-15-1, but Mank will return all but three starters from last year.

EDWARDSVILLE For Edwardsville, the trek has been a long one, but coach Bruna Gwardys is beginning to see the light at the end of the tunnel. Even though soccer is an institution in Edwardsville at Southern Illinois University, it is relatively new at Edwardsville High School.

CAHOKIA Bob Bresnahan is cautiously optimistic. After giving state champion South all it could handle in a regular season game last season, he hopes it wasn't a fluke.

Cahokia lost its star player from last season, striker Brian Sirtak, but Bresnahan feels he can fill the gap. With the schedule the Comanches face this season, he'd better.

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Can Granite City South do it again? That's a question every high school soccer coach in Illinois — save one — hopes the answer to is an unqualified "no."

That one coach, of course, is South's Gene Baker. What he hopes to do again is lead his team to the Illinois State Championship. He has done it the last three years in a row.

Unlike last season, when his team was not thought to have enough returning strength to win the title, Baker welcomes a large contingent of starters from last season's 25-4-1 squad. Back are standouts David Fernandez, Randy DeRousse and Jack Burnett, along with Jeff Tinsley, Greg White and David James, to name a few.

With the graduation of Andy Costillo and David Paz, South lost two outstanding goalies and the future of the team at that position this season appeared cloudy at best. But this summer, two things happened that have made Baker smile. First, Tony Pierce, who as an outstanding goalie for Granite North last season was a thorn in Baker's side, transferred to South. Second, last season's third-string goalie Greg Powderly improved greatly, setting South up as far as a goaltender was concerned.

"Tony is an extremely talented goalie," said Baker. "He could be one of the best to ever come out of Granite City. He has natural moves and inborn soccer sense. He's a tremendous athlete."

"Powderly went to a goalie's camp up in Chicago over the summer and has improved quite a bit. He'll help us down the road, that's for sure."

One of South's strengths last season was its bench depth. During the stretch drive that led to the state championship, the Warriors had to dig into their reserves because of injuries to several key players. The bench came through with flying colors. How does Baker see this season's depth?

"We've got a large turnout for the team this season," said Baker. "I think we'll be respectable on the bench again this season."

"We have an outstanding group of freshmen coming in who will be able to help us considerably in the future."

South's first game this season is tentatively scheduled for Sept. 6 at home against New Trier East. The first contest had been set for Aug. 31 at home against Springfield Southeast, but that had to be postponed because of on-going negotiations between the local teacher's union and the board of education.

Baker has scheduled 23 games plus the Parkway West Tournament, far more games than most other teams schedule during a season. "We feel the more quality teams we play, the better," he said. "We've added several very good teams to our schedule, plus we have home-and-home games with the teams in the new conference."

South, North, Belleville Althoff, Cahokia and Edwardsville have joined forces to form the new Gateway East Conference. Soccer will be one of several conference sports.

"I would rate North as the team to beat in the conference on the basis of the people they have returning," said Baker. "Not to take anything away from the other teams. Soccer is improving at a good pace in this area. But I think it'll be either us or North. But it really doesn't matter."

"What's important are the playoffs at the end of the season."

Among some of the teams Baker has scheduled this season are New Trier East, Vianney (St. Louis), Hinkley-Big Rock, McCluer North, St. Louis University High, and Rosary (St. Louis).

By the time the state playoffs roll around, South could be well-seasoned and ready to go — much to the dismay of 163 other high school soccer coaches in Illinois.

How does Gene Baker do it?

By PETE HAYES

GRANITE CITY — How does Gene Baker do it? Year after year, the critics say he doesn't have enough returns left and year after year he wins the state high school soccer championship in his Granite City South squad.

The answer is two-fold. Depth and the best youth soccer program in the state.

Baker's South squad has won the last three Illinois State titles. He hopes his squad can repeat. But as usual, he is cautious in spreading about his praise.

"We've got a couple big holes to fill," said Baker. "We lost top-scorer Fred Schuler and goalie Andy Costillo."

The goalkeeper's spot was filled the first day of practice when Tony Pierce showed up on Baker's doorstep. Pierce, one of the best prep goalies in the Midwest, transferred to South from Granite City North High. He is a senior and was a member of the Illinois Select Team and the Midwest squad at the National Sports Festival earlier this summer in Colorado Springs, along with three of his teammates at South.

David Fernandez, Jack Burnett and Randy DeRousse were also selected to take part in the national event. DeRousse's play was so outstanding that he was selected to be a member of the National Junior Olympic Team.

Does having all this talent make Baker contented or sit back and watch the trophies roll in? Not at all. In fact, he takes North as the pre-season favorite to take the marbles in this area.

Baker is an amazing soccer coach. In fact, he is the most successful in the state of Illinois high school soccer. He holds every single record for coaching in the IHSA State Tournament. Take a look:

MOST TITLES — 3 by Gene Baker, Granite City (South), 1976, 1977, 1978.

MOST CONSECUTIVE TITLES — 3 by Gene Baker, Granite City (South), 1976, 1977, 1978.

MOST TIMES COACHED, TITLE GAMES — 3 by Gene Baker, Granite City (South), 1976, 1977, 1978.

City (South), 1976, 1977, 1978.

MOST TIMES COACHED TEAM IN STATE TOURNAMENT — 5 by Gene Baker, Granite City (South), 1973, 1976, 1977, 1978.

MOST GAMES WON IN STATE FINAL TOURNAMENT — 10 by Gene Baker, Granite City (South), 1973 (1-1), 1975 (0-1), 1976 (2-0), 1977 (3-0), 1978 (3-0).

(From official IHSA 1979 State Soccer Tournament Records)

Baker's record at Granite City South is an amazing 10-0. His mark at St. Louis-based Riverview was before he left the program he started there to take the reins in Granite City.

Baker may have to wait a while before he gets his first victory in 1979. Teacher's contract negotiations have postponed the opening of school a week in Granite City, taking away the team's scheduled opening game at home Aug. 31 against Springfield Southeast. If the game cannot be rescheduled, South could have to forfeit. If the teachers do not reach agreement with the school board and a strike ensues, it is possible that the opening of soccer season in Granite City could be delayed longer.

The Top Ten

Surprise, surprise. It looks like it's going to be Granite City South this year in area soccer. At least that's the way it looks according to an informal poll of area soccer coaches.

According to the area kicking instructors, here's the way it'll be:

1. Granite South
2. Granite North
3. Collinsville
4. Belleville West
5. Alton
6. Cahokia
7. Lebanon
8. Belleville East
9. Edwardsville
10. O'Fallon

Collinsville kickers feature quickness and goalies

ENTHUSIASM—Collinsville Coach Jim Stranz is hoping that enthusiasm and "a winning attitude" can help his team improve on last year's 14-14-1 record.

By DARRELL DAY

Every year Collinsville High fields an excellent soccer team, but every year the same question must be asked: Can the Kahoks beat Granite City South? The answer is usually "no" since the Warriors have won the state championship the last three years in a row.

But Coach Jim Stranz' Kahoks will take to the turf again this year in hopes of ending South's dynasty, or at least denting it.

The Kahoks' biggest hope toward that goal lies in... well, their goal. Collinsville has what Stranz thinks are — not one — but TWO of the best goalies in the area in Jim Dalia Riva and Bob Beloradyic. Stranz says he's been to coaching clinics in St. Louis and seen the best goalies on both sides of the river. "And I think my two kids are as good, if not better, than any I've seen," Stranz says. "They're two of the best."

Beloradyic is a large, muscular kid who tends goal in the traditional standing style. The smaller Dalia Riva is more of an acrobat, and makes "more spectacular" saves.

With two goalies so good, what's a coach to do? Now that's a good question.

"I have two starting keepers," Stranz says. "That's all there is to it. I've got two starting keepers until one of them beats out the other. I'll probably rotate them game by game, depending on what the situation is."

Those two alternated at the starting slot last year, but are the only starters besides striker Todd Sachtleben who return. The team also lost a couple of would-be starters in Spencer Johnson, who left school, and Phil Koke, who decided to work instead of play.

IT'S A GOOD thing the Kahoks will have such strong goaltending. "Our best defense is going to be our offense," Stranz says. "We're going to have to control the ball."

At wing fullbacks for the Kahoks will be Mark Massa and Scott Geaschel, who Stranz calls "our only meat backer," pointing to the fact that the rest of the team is lacking in meat. The other fullbacks are Matt Praba and Mike Bartsch, who Stranz calls "our two beanpoles back there."

The lack of bulk is disturbing to the Kahok coach, but he says the team might have enough quickness to compensate for it. "We've got a lot of small, quick players," Stranz says. "I'd rather have a combination of strength and quickness, but we don't have the strong kids up the middle. Because of that, we'll want to have a lot of movement to our game, we'll want to be fluid."

Epitomizing that style of play will be the super-quick midfielders, team captain Joe O'Donnell and Boyd Hies. Both sat out last season — O'Donnell with a broken leg and Hies with mononucleosis.

Those two are quick enough to allow the Kahoks to play a 4-2-4 offense at times (with just two men in the middle), although they'll usually play either a 4-3-3 or a 4-4-2.

AT THOSE wing slots will probably be Jim Hayden and Bill Lane, a transfer student from St. Charles Mo. who Stranz calls "a pleasant surprise." At the striker spots will be Sachtleben, who scored a dozen goals last year, and Robbie Mann. "Sachtleben knows where the goal is and he goes after it," Stranz says. "He plays with reckless abandon and that's what I love. He gives himself up totally and throws his body into the game."

That spirit should characterize the Collinsville team, which had a 14-14-1 record last year, but was upset in the first round of the playoffs to a surprising O'Fallon team.

"I've got winners this year," Stranz says. "I've had better talent in other years, but I've got winners this year. And sometimes that's even more important."

SWC has only four soccer teams left in it

The once-mighty Southwestern Conference is tattered and torn from the loss of Edwardsville and Cahokia, and that fact is even more evident in soccer.

After Edwardsville and Cahokia left the SWC to join the newly-created Gateway Conference, East St. Louis disbanded its pitiful soccer program. That leaves a grand total of four schools to compete for the SEC soccer title, which Collinsville High won last year.

Still, three of the four schools still in the running should be pretty good — Collinsville, of course, plus Alton and Belleville West. Alton had a good team last year, but lost their super scorer, Brad Baker.

The Belleville schools started soccer only a couple of years ago, but have made enormous strides already.

KAHOKS

"I'll tell you, in the past you could just count the Belleville schools as four conference wins," said Collinsville Coach Jim Stranz. "But that's not true any more. They have really improved a lot."

In the absence of Cahokia — which was always a factor in the conference race — Belleville West should be the main threat to Collinsville's hope of winning the championship.

"Belleville West had a good JV last year that played right with our JV and (Granite City) South's JV," Stranz said. "Those young guys will probably be the nucleus of the team. It should be between us and West. And while Alton lost Baker, the rest of their team gave us fits."

Stranz rates the best team in the area this year to be Granite City North, despite South having won three straight state titles. "I'm looking for North to be the team to beat," Stranz said. "They have a lot of returnees back and they have the big, strong kids."

Collinsville products swell college soccer ranks

How do you measure the success of a prep sports program? By won't lost records? By state championships? By the values taught?

One way to measure success in high school is the number of athletes who advance to the college ranks. By that measuring stick, Collinsville High's soccer can't take a backseat to any of the school's other programs... even its highly touted basketball.

No less than 16 former Kahoks will be playing in various colleges throughout the Midwest this

A whole busload of them are attending Belleville Area College, or have moved on from BAC to four-year colleges. Rick Locandro of Collinsville smashed the Dutchmen's scoring records last year, and will play this season at the University of Milwaukee at Wisconsin. There he will join former Kahoks Terry Tennant and Mark Ambrosius, who was picked to the All-Wisconsin team last year.

Other Collinsville players who have gone on to BAC are Gary Wallace, Gregg Bohmstiel, Bob Sova, Joe Hayden, Jim Steinwagner, Brian Hess, Doug Giacometto and Marty Barnett.

BUT THE MOST notable Collinsville product is Craig Stahl, a junior at Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Mo. who was recently picked to represent the U.S. in the World University Games in Mexico.

Guelker has high hopes

EDWARDSVILLE — In the past 11 years since he inaugurated soccer as a varsity sport at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Coach Bob Guelker and his Cougar kickers have been respected and highly ranked.

The Cougars have never failed to be ranked in the nation's top ten every season since 1969 — a record that no other collegiate soccer power can boast.

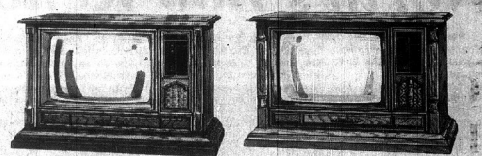

Even though Guelker will be facing the longest — and by far his toughest — schedule this year (19 games, including three defending national champions), he is very optimistic about how well his kickers are going to do.

Guelker prepped at McKinley High School in St. Louis and graduated from St. Louis University in 1949.

With a lifetime record of five national NCAA big school championships while coaching the St. Louis University Bills and a crown the NCAA Division II title in 1972) at SIUE, Guelker should never be afraid to predict how his teams will produce. Considering the possibilities of this season, he said, "This is one of my strongest teams. If we put it all together, avoid key injuries, and get that lucky bounce of the ball..."

Steelers hope this is finally their year to go

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — As the saying goes, "If they don't do it this year, they might not ever do it."

Things look like that this season for the Granite City North soccer team. The Steelers return practically their entire starting lineup from the past two seasons in their quest for the 1979
Illinois state championship.
To put things bluntly, North is loaded.

Among the returnees are Bob Batey, Mike Robertson,
Randy Schrenk, Mark Jones,
Glenn Edwards and John Kekulas. That's not all, either.

"I guess I always say this, but I'm cautiously optimistic," said North coach Bob Kehoe. "You know, it's still a little early, but we should be alright, but we're providing we fill a few holes."

The biggest hole Kehoe will have to fill will be in goal, where ace keeper Tony Pierce used to be. Pierce transferred to South over the summer and left a gaping hole in the North defense.

NORTH

Pierce made key save after key save last season for the Steelers and could be credited with handing South one of its only four defeats last season, when he stopped Warrior shots with Messing-like antics.

But Pierce is gone. Who will Kehoe use to fill the spot? "Probably Tracy Hickam," he said. "He was our backup goalie last season and is the logical choice."

Because of Tony leaving, people think we're automatically dead as far as a goalie is concerned. But that's far from the case.
Tracy has improved greatly and should do a good job for us."

The team's opening game at home Sept. 1 against Quincy has been postponed because the first day of school has been moved back a week to Sept. 4. Illinois High School Association rules do not allow schools to conduct games (besides football) before the first day of school. The team's first game, therefore, is now scheduled for Sept. 4 at home against Edwardsville — a conference rival.

What's that? A conference rival? Yup. North, along with South, Edwardsville, Cahokia and Belleville Althoff has joined together to form the new Gateway East Conference. But being in the conference isn't the most important thing in the world to Kehoe.

"Oh sure, it's nice," he said. "But whether we win it (the conference championship) or not isn't the most important thing to me.
In fact, I've always told my teams that what we do in any regular season game doesn't really matter."

"For us, the season really begins in the first game of the playoffs."

After the opening game with Edwardsville, North will face Cahokia before it faces its first tough test of the season Sept. 7 at home against powerful New Trier East. After that game, it's Althoff before the first showdown against South.

Does the fact that his team is now in a conference and has to play each team in the loop twice make Kehoe feel his schedule is diluted?

"Yes, to some extent," he said. "But we still have some pretty tough teams on the schedule."

There's Vianney (St.
Louis), Collinsville, South,
McCluer North, New Trier
East and Hazelwood Central.
And Belleville West is improving its program rapidly."

Life without Tony

North's Bob Kehoe looks for a new goal keeper

By PETE HAYES

For young Tony Pierce, the past three months have been busy.

Pierce, who was the starting goalie for Granite City High School North last season, will not be in that spot in this, his senior year.
Instead, he will start for his longtime cross-town rival
Granite City South.

Pierce, 16, transferred to South this year after his father put their home on the north side of town up for sale and bought one near the South campus. For North coach Bob Kehoe, Pierce's transfer means searching for a new goalie. For South coach Gene Baker, it means the answer to a problem he knew was coming since the last day of the season when he bid good bye to his two senior goal keepers, Dave Faz and Andy Cosillo.

For North fans who are crying "foul!" it just ain't so. Pierce was not talked to by Baker until the first day of practice two weeks ago. In fact, Baker didn't know for sure that Pierce was going to transfer until he saw him the day before practice began at South's physical examinations.

But what about Kehoe?

What is his reaction to Pierce's leaving? "I guess I have to say no comment," said Kehoe. "There's not a whole lot I can say about it.
It's a decision that has been made and we have to go on from here. There's nothing that can be done about it."

Kehoe said the most likely replacement in goal for Pierce will be last year's back-up goalie, Tracy Hickam. "Hickam has improved a lot since last season," he said. "Tony's leaving is not like the end of the world. We have too many excellent athletes on this team to think that."

Kehoe then spoke of Pierce, the person. "Tony's a good kid. He came over to my house before practice began and we talked the whole thing over. There aren't any hard feelings about this."

On the opening day of practice, Pierce was asked if he was nervous. "Not yet," he replied with a grin.

Moving from one school to another his senior year must be hard. But moving from one school PLUS one soccer team to another is probably twice as difficult. Especially when the two schools are arch-rivals. "I try and think of it in terms of having been traded," said Pierce. "I've just been traded from one team to another and I have to adjust."

What's the biggest change at South for Pierce? "The practices are a lot different here," he said. "At North, the goalies weren't involved
as much in every single drill.
We'd be in full-team scrimmages, but we'd have our own drills to do aside from the rest of the team."
"At South, we (the goalies) are involved in just about everything."

Perhaps the hardest part for Tony Pierce will come Sept. 11 and Oct. 4 when South's Warriors play against Pierce's old team — North's Steelers.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED since the time this picture was taken. Tony Pierce (right), playing in goal for Granite City North challenges South's Fred Schuler for the ball during the regular season meeting between the two schools.
Pierce almost single-handedly defeated South.

making several key saves. Now, Pierce has transferred to South and will be in the nets for the Warriors this season. Schuler has graduated and will be playing soccer at the University of Alabama-Huntsville.

Alongside Ambuhl South has running backs Scott
Polson at fullback, and Jeff Bergbrader at halfback.
Both are returning from last season.

The defense for South is less solid. Graduation left the defensive backfield and linebackers with some obvious rebuilding to do, and Wojcik said the situation, especially in the backfield, is up for grabs.

CAHOKIA

Life in the Southwestern conference was unkind to the Comanches in 1978. 4-5 overall, Cahokia finished with a 2-4 conference record.

That's why the Gateway
East looks so appealing.
Over 70 players turned out for the first day of pre-season practices in Cahokia, and head coach Jim McKay thinks that's the result of the new conference.

EDWARDSVILLE

The Tigers shared Cahokia's 2-4 Southwestern conference record in 1978, but were 5-4 overall. This year, like most at Edwardsville will be one of rebuilding.

"We lost a lot of seniors," Edwardsville head coach Dick Ford said. "But we seem to do that every year.
We like to go with our seniors."

ALTHOFF

Along with South, Althoff's Crusaders probably pose the strongest contenders for the Gateway East championship.

Althoff's 6-3 mark in 1978
was best among Gateway East schools. In addition the Crusaders were among the top defense in the area last year, allowing only 89 points to opposing teams.

But this year Althoff may have some difficulty equaling those achievements. Head coach Glenn Schott returns only seven players from last year, and admits that depth is a problem for his crusaders.

Kahoks' Stranz coaching instead of playing

By DARELL DAY

If it weren't for a broken bone, a broken bottle and a germ, Jim Stranz' life could be a lot different now. And if it weren't for Stranz learning to relax, his life could even have ended.

Stranz stands along the sidelines as he coaches his Collinsville High School team, although he'd much rather be playing the game than coaching it. But what possibly could have been a professional soccer career for Stranz ended abruptly.

And things got even worse . . . his life almost ended when he was stricken by a "terminal" disease that deteriorates the connective tissue surrounding the vital organs.

But Stranz recovered from that — obviously — and is alive and well on the Kahoks' soccer field.

STRANZ, NOW 29, was a top-flight goalie in his days at SIU-Edwardsville from 1968-72. He was the Cougars' starting keeper his first two years in college and had a 23-1 record. He even won SIUE's MVP award during his freshman year. At that point, it looked like Stranz' soccer career was taking off like a guided missile.

But there's just one thing about being on top of the world . . . there's nowhere to go but down.

During his junior year, Stranz' first misfortune was suffering a broken thumb. When he recovered from that he came down with mononucleosis. And he was hit with another setback (when it rains, it pours) when he stepped on a broken beer bottle.

All of a sudden, one entire year was down the tubes and Stranz' life was radically changed.

"Those injuries affected my college season," affected my amateur year and I just lost it," Stranz recalls. "I lost my confidence, my everything. It just destroyed me . . . I had my day, and then everything hit me at once and it was over."

STRANZ was replaced that year by his backup, Rick Benben, who then held onto the starting job the following year. During his senior year, Stranz was passed over when the North American Soccer League held its first professional draft of college players. Three of Stranz' SIUE classmates were drafted by the pros — remember, Stranz had been the Cougars' MVP — but he was passed over.

Coaching, not playing, then became his life. Stranz occasionally remembers those days when he was minding the nets for the Cougars, and he remembers his hopes. "I feel I had the potential to be a professional goalie," he says. "The U. of I-Chicago Circle coach voted me as his 'all-opponent keeper.'"

"MY SENIOR year (1972) was the first college draft, and the only guys who have really made it from American colleges have been goalkeepers. The best thing we produce are goalies, because all the sports in this country relate to that have coordination. It's the one skill in soccer where you don't have to grow up with a soccer ball."

"I think that without much trouble I could have been drafted professionally if I would have kept it up; had my success continued," Stranz (who But it didn't, so Stranz (who described himself as once being "an acrobatic . . . throw-cauliflower-to-the-wall" paces the sidelines during soccer games rather than leaping around the goal area.

Does he begrudge his new occupation? Of course.

Stranz says he would much rather play the game than coach. "If I could, I would. Since I can't, I teach," he says. And he coaches more to stay around the game than for any deep love of coaching.

IN FACT, he describes coaching as "stressful," which is especially true in a city like Collinsville that demands a winner.

Along with his new coaching job, he also had a new marriage, a new job and a new baby. With all those sudden changes in his life, Stranz said the stress almost killed him.

During his first and second years of coaching at Collinsville (1976 and 1977) Stranz said he suffered from systemic lupus erythematosus, with symptoms of arthritis and rheumatism. He described it as, "a terminal disease that eventually breaks down the connective tissue around the vital organs."

But Stranz finally found a doctor who prescribed a simvastatin for lupus. "He told me it was just stress," Stranz explained.

So Stranz set out on a program of relaxation, but not by sitting around. He began a jogging and weightlifting program, and even started playing soccer again. "I'm starting my comeback in the YMCA leagues in Belleville," he jokes. His workouts have even made the bearded Stranz slim and trim again.

He also separated from his wife and moved to Glen Carbon. And he quit coaching junior high basketball in Collinsville, where he said "every game was like NBA time."

THE RELAXING paid off: Stranz recovered from lupus.

He seems almost like a different person from a year ago. Instead of sitting nervously and fidgeting during an interview, Stranz sits calmly and talks about his life. He's still energetic and a little high-strung — his blue eyes are surrounded by red — but he's quite a bit calmer nowadays.

And his three-year coaching record at Collinsville is enough to make any mentor sit back and relax a little. His Kahoks went 14-4-1 last season, bringing his overall record to 44-14-4.

Of course, he still feels some pressure while coaching in a success-oriented town like Collinsville. The expectations are a lot different than at St. Paul High School, where he taught one year and started the soccer program before coming to Collinsville. "We won two games that year and they threw me in the shower both times," Stranz says. "Their fans were so appreciative of anything we did."

Collinsville fans are a little more demanding than that, so Stranz still feels stress now and then. And once in a while, he'll remember his fun days — not of coaching — but of playing.

"Yea, I look back," Stranz says. "But I hate to do it. All the old jokes look back and say, 'if, if, if.' If this and that would have happened I'd be signing autographs now."

Briggs wants .500 record for Madison kickers

By KEVIN ALLEN

of the Press-Record
MADISON — Gene Briggs is beginning his third year as the coach of Madison High School's soccer team. He has been the coach since the beginning of the sport at Madison.

This is the year Briggs has been working toward for the past two. He hopes that the juniors and seniors on the 1979 team — the players who were freshmen and sophomores when the program began — will begin to show the signs of growth with the sport.

Living in the shadow of the Illinois soccer champions is not the easiest way to begin a program, but being compared to the Granite City teams is, unfair as it may be, inevitable.

What Briggs is hoping for is improvement. "If we hit .500 this year I'd be elated. That's our goal. 500. I don't know if it's realistic, I always set my goals high."

Briggs is, by any standards, an optimist. He feels Madison's strongest asset is its enthusiasm. "I don't want to put any kind of a damper on that," he said. "The enthusiasm these kids have shown is double that of their size."

MADISON

Briggs explains the Trojans' continual improvement in the last two years, on that enthusiasm. "When we started we had only nine games. The next year we played 14. This year we've got 22 games scheduled. I think if we can keep the spirit the same as it has been we can start to compete with anybody in the future."

In addition to the expanded schedule, Madison will also be a member of the Mid-South Soccer Conference this year.

So far in preparation for the upcoming season, the Trojans have emphasized skills and conditioning in practice.

But numbers in practice have been a problem. "So far in the pre-season the response has been moderate as far as the number of people out is concerned," Briggs said. "We should have more people out though when the season starts because many of them have jobs right now."

Fortunately, those players participating in the pre-season are, for the most part, the experienced players Madison will rely heavily on when the season begins.

Among those players are three forwards, who Briggs thinks will form the heart of the Trojan's offense. Corey Silas, Percy Joyner, and Dave Noshagian, a transfer last year from Assumption, will be back as starters for the Trojans. Of the defensive players in practices, Briggs said Jim Woodson, a fullback, seems very strong, as does Buddy Hinson, who is also a fullback.

Briggs also expects once school officially begins to have goalies Jim Riskovski and Avery Crawford in camp, as well as defenders Carvel Klaggett and Ray Price.

One player whose services Briggs will sorely miss at the beginning of the season is Ed Forister. A pre-season injury which required surgery will keep the player who Briggs calls his best all-around from participating on the Trojan squad.

Despite the problems though, Briggs feels the Trojans will be an improved and improving team in 1979.

For that matter, the sport of soccer seems on the rise in Madison, a town that is traditionally basketball oriented.

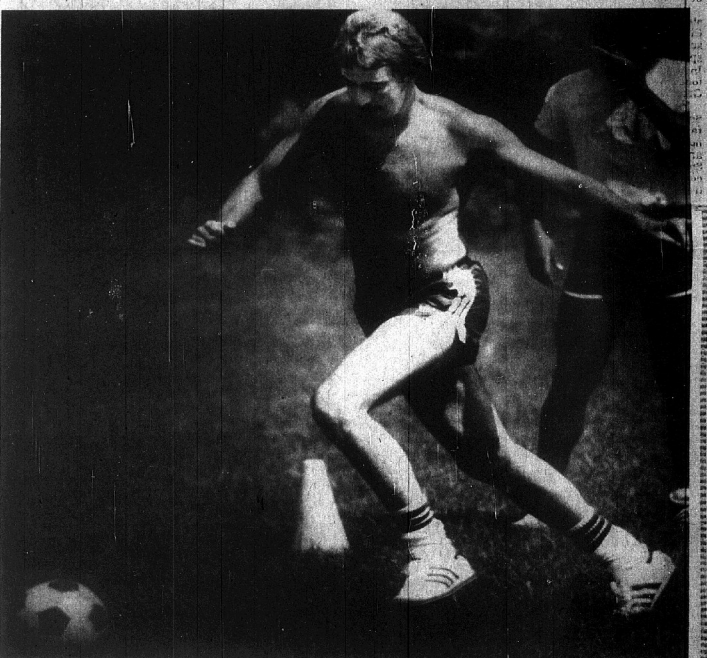

A feeder program is one step toward the growth of any sport, and Madison recently began a junior soccer program. "It'll take a few years before I see any results from that program," Briggs said. "But it's definitely a step in the right direction."

Currently Briggs is the only soccer coach at Madison. He is in charge of the 40-man program without the aid of an assistant. "Maybe in the future, that will change too," Briggs said. "A 40:1 ratio isn't the most effective way to coach."

But for now, Briggs is confident that the Trojans can overcome the obstacles facing a young program with the kind of beautiful enthusiasm the Trojan players possess.

"The thing that will win games for us the Kid's big hearts," he said. "The ball is there. It's up to me to keep it going."

LEBANON — A soccer standout from Cahokia High School has signed a letter of intent to attend McKendree College this fall.

Chris Sirtak, a 1979 graduate of Cahokia High School will join first-year coach John Casey and the Bearcat kickers for the 1979 stint, which opens September 8 at the UMSL tournament.

"He's got good size and versatility," noted Casey. "he can play many positions and possesses great leadership ability."

A 6'2", 170 pounder, he can play both the midfield and forward positions. Last season, he tallied 13 goals and assists for the Comanches and was named to the Metro-area honorable mention team both his junior and senior year.

Planning to major in communications and physical education, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sirtak of Cahokia.
